

Votes: Fifth precinct, 44 out of 500; Eighth precinct, 29 out of 450 and Sixth precinct, 2 out of 184.

The Sixth ward total vote at 11 told the same story. The Sixth precinct had voted 53 out of 311 normal votes.

At 11 74 votes out of a normal 500 had been cast in the Third precinct, Sixth ward. In the Second precinct, Sixth ward, 56 voters of 300 had visited the polls.

The morning balloting was heavy in parts of the First ward. In the Eighteenth precinct 203 of the 350 normal votes were in by 11:30 a. m.

Half of Vote In

Indication of the trend in the Fourth Ward was contained in noon figures from the Eighth Precinct, where 275 votes, more than half the total normal vote, were in. Numerous others of the forty-nine precincts of this ward showed the same ratio. This ward is practically twice as large as any other in the city.

Both precincts in Irvington, the Twenty-Third and Twenty-Fourth of the Ninth Ward, voted heavily all morning.

The Seventh Ward, not regarded as strongly favorable to the manager plan, was the only one of this complexion, which appeared to be voting near normal. By 10 a. m. the Third Precinct had 125 of the 350 normal votes in; the Fourth, 130 out of 350, and the Eighth, 80 out of 350.

Except in Irvington, there appeared to be general apathy south of Washington St.

Only Tenth Ballot

Only 23 out of a normal 200 had voted in the Third precinct, Twelfth ward at noon.

Thirty-six out of a normal 300 had voted in the Fourth precinct, Twelfth ward.

At noon 53 of a normal 300 had voted in the Tenth precinct, Eighth ward.

In the First precinct, Eighth ward, only 53 out of 300 had voted.

In the Thirty-Seventh precinct, Fourth ward, 132 out of 300 had voted at Forty-Sixth St. and Capitol Ave., at noon.

In the Thirty-Eighth precinct, Fourth ward, 290 of the 500 voters had voted at noon.

Rookies Pass Through Three Stages, Become Civilian Soldiers

Rookies at the Citizens' Military Training camp at Ft. Benjamin Harrison pass through three stages before they emerge as real civilian soldiers. First, there's the lunch, at which all applicants qualify without trouble. Then there's the examination, so irritatingly familiar to the veterans of the A. E. F. Then there's the blossoming out in uniform, with all the equipment that goes with it, including the drill, with all the barking of drill masters. The three

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 21.—Awaiting official orders from Washington, Lieut. Lester J. Maitland, army aviator and Lieut. A. F. Hegenberger, navigator, said today they would be ready to fly to Hawaii in their tri-motored Fokker plane by July 15 or sooner.

The fliers landed at Rockwell Field at 4:23 p. m. yesterday, from El Paso, Texas, after a flight of about eight hours. Two passengers, B. Jones, aeronautical engineer at McCook Field and E. J. Rivers, chief mechanic at McCook Field, came with the Hawaiian fliers to help in preparing the plane for the long ocean trip.

Maitland will put the craft through a series of tests on which the success or failure of the expedition depends, he said.

When fully loaded for the flight, the plane will carry 1,040 gallons of gasoline and will weigh a total of 13,500 pounds. It has a wing spread of seventy-two feet and a cruising radius of more than 3,000 miles. The distance from San Francisco to Honolulu is 2,418 miles.

Three Wright whirlwind motors, the same type that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh used in his Ryan monoplane "Spirit of St. Louis," furnish power.
