Thirty-Eighth Division Will Be Kept Busy at Drill and Recreation.

By VERNON STEWART
Times Staff Correspondent
CAMP KNOX, Ky., Aug. 4.—Guardsmen of the 38th Division went into active field training Wednesday, and most of the men will spend the rest of this week and the first part of next on the target range.

Programs are being mapped out for all the boys, which will give them entertainment and recreation, in addition to the hard work which they will have to put in during drill hours. Gene Martin, captain of the Indianapolis Armory baseball team, has organized a league and the State capital team will play all the clubs in camp.

Monday was spent by the different companies putting everything in its place.

Unload Big Guns

Artillery outfits cleaned their equipment and unloaded their big guns and beginners were given preliminary instruction. Signal companies strung wires to insure communication for all units.

The C. M. T. O's were a little late in getting out of camp, which delayed the guardsmen for a day.

Moving pictures are to be taken of each unit of the division at work. The engineers will dynamite a bridge and build a pontoon bridge across Salt River in twenty minutes. Each component of the Army will be well represented and will have the opportunity to do its stuff.

A twenty-four-hour tactical problem will be worked out Thursday and Friday next week. It will start Thursday morning and continue until Friday morning. Every unit in the division will take part.

Review to Be Held

This will be followed up by a review at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. In the reviewing stand will be Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, commander of the Fifth Corps area, and probably Governors Jackson of Indiana, Fields of Kentucky, Gore of West Virginia and Adjutants General Kershner of Indiana, Kehoe of Kentucky and Cornwell of West Virginia. This will be open to the public.

MEN'S & WOMEN'S CLOTHING

Why Should Gentlemen Prefer 'Em?

Merry War of Beauties Rages While Pastors Smile and Hair Dyers Get Rich.

SOME say they are and some say they're not! Chicago ministers have been adding to the gaseous reputation of that city by engaging in a heated controversy upon the question, "Are blondes dumb?"

The Rev. F. W. Loos, who says he has married 4,500 couples, draws indignant fire from the fair-haired ones by saying that of the feminine portion of the newlyweds, "blondes make the dumbest brides."

Other Chicago ministers rushed to controvert this impolite opinion and local ministers also fall in with the statement of the Rev. John Delacy, pastor of Chicago's largest church, who said: "It's not the color of the hair, but the coloring of the gray matter that counts."

The Rev. A. Bash Arford, 1516 Olney St., pastor of the Brookside Park United Brethren Church, not only spoke kindly of the fair-haired fraternity's brains, but of their disposition.

"In my twenty years' experience at officiating at weddings, I have repeatedly noticed the calmer, sweeter, better natured mental attitude of the blonde-haired brides," he said. "Dark complexioned brides often give way to moods. They're more introspective and less good natured."

"Tut, tut!" Say Some

"The question is absurd," declared the Rev. J. B. Rosemurgy, 37 S. Johnson Ave., pastor of the Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church. "How can we make any decision in the few minutes' observation while marrying a couple? Maybe a psychologist, having devoted particular thought to judging by contour, may be able to judge also by coloring, but I'll confess that if blonde brides are dumber than brunettes, I don't know it."

"The Rev. W. H. Zimmerman, 626 Somerset Ave., pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, also confessed himself somewhat at sea.

"As one of the younger ministers, my opinion has perhaps not had time to properly congeal," he laughed. "I really don't see that coloring could possibly enter into the question. With the Rev. Delacy of Chicago, I should say dumbness is not affected by the hairs of the head. It's ridiculous."

Beauty Experts Speak

But Mrs. Viva H. Fulton, proprietor of the Rainbow Academy of Beauty Culture, who deals with blondes and brunettes heads from another standpoint disagreed.

"Certainly the coloring indicates temperament," she said, emphatically. "Blondes are phlegmatic. They may therefore be better natured, but for snappy, intelligent action, always look to the brunettes."

Four of the girls in the academy, two blondes and two brunettes, were consulted. The "blondest" blonde, Miss Margaret Lynch, 21 W. Sixteenth St., was sure that brunettes were away behind in brain action.

"If you don't believe it, look how much quicker blondes can get married," she challenged.

Her sister blonde, Miss Eva Witz, 1304 N. Pennsylvania St., nodded assent, but the brunettes, Miss Marie Eggleton, 1815 Roosevelt Ave., and Miss Ruth Blessing, 1641 Central Ave., laughed derisively. "But look how many more brunettes actually do!" they said.

TELEVISION TO SPAN SEA NEXT

Scotch Inventor Coming to Make Ocean Tests.

By United Press
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The next great link of scientific communication binding America to Europe, transmission of human faces and other moving images by radio across the Atlantic, may be welded during August following arrival here of John L. Baird, young Scotch inventor and developer of television.

Announcement of Baird's plans for the first transatlantic tests, made by Popular Science Monthly, is accompanied by his expression of confidence that television service between the old and new worlds "will be established on a commercial basis in the near future."

Baird, who recently transmitted distinguished moving faces by wire from London to Glasgow, a distance of 438 miles, surpassing the American record of 200 miles made between Washington and New York, is one of the most romantic figures in the history of invention.

Less than five years ago he was impoverished, working in a London attic room to create his first crude electrical vision apparatus out of old bicycle parts and other discarded materials.

Today he is backed by a $625,000 company, has already established the world's television station, licensed by the British postoffice, and it is reported, plans the establishment of a series of stations in America and Europe.

Tracy said the city manager form of municipal government, which becomes effective in January, 1930, is the logical type of government for cities.

"A city is more a business than a political proposition. However, the city manager form brings with it a grave danger—that of developing a new type of bossism in the city manager."

"An alert public is the only guarantee of efficient and clean government," he said.

Tracy spoke to the Indianapolis Advertising Club at luncheon today at the Spink-Arms. Kiwanis Club members were guests.

He will address the Optimist Club Friday at the Claypool.

Studies Conditions Here

He left New York July 8 on a tour of Eastern and Middle-Western States to study conditions. He has been in Terre Haute and Evansville this week and will remain here until Saturday.

Tracy first obtained fame while writing for the Houston Chronicle, and later became an editorial writer for the Houston Press.

In his daily column on current events he has had considerable to say about Indiana politics. He will study conditions first hand while in Indianapolis.

Opinion Syndicated

Tracy's opinion is syndicated daily to the twenty-five newspapers of the Scripps-Howard chain.

Tracy, a native of Maine, became blind when an infant. An operation partially restored his sight at the age of 8 months. He received his education at the Perkins institute for the blind. He was able to read an ordinary book at 18.

He was scheduled to speak before Kiwanis Club members Wednesday at the Claypool, but was unable to reach Indianapolis in time. Boyd Gurley, The Indianapolis Times editor, spoke in place of Tracy. Gurley compared the newspaper of old with the modern product.

DROWSY PUBLIC HELPED STEVE, TRACY ASSERTS

Alert Voters Only Guarantee of Efficient, Clean Government.

"The rest of the country is expecting Indiana to clean house politically," M. E. Tracy, Scripps-Howard columnist, said today.

"Indiana has always been looked on as a foremost State in education and literature and it is somewhat of a shock to see the Hoosier State make such a record as it has in the last six years," Tracy declared.

Steve More Ambitious

"The issue is somewhat similar in other States where the Klan was in power. The situation in Texas five years ago resulted in the election of 'Ma' Ferguson as Governor to clean out the Klan. Then it was necessary to clean up her to finish the thing."

"Indiana conditions are a little worse because David C. Stephenson as head of the Klan was a little more ambitious and clever and more unscrupulous. Public indifference to politics can be blamed. An organized minority could not do what it does if the citizenship was awake."

Cats may have nine lives, but curly-coated Mack, a French poodle, owned by Mrs. Adolph Whitehead, 1613 Kelly St., has it all over them.
