

WIDOW TO BE RETURNED TO CRIME SCENE

Discovery of Guns in Home of Woman's Friend Is Seen as Clue.

By United Press
HAMMONTON, N. J., Sept. 26.—The 43-year-old widow of Dr. William Lillendahl, 75-year-old murdered physician, will be taken today to the lonely wood lane off Indian Hill Rd., where the murder was committed a week and a half ago.

There she will be asked to reenact her part in the alleged hold-up in which her husband was shot. It is her story that two Negroes killed the physician. Mrs. Lillendahl is held in $25,000 bond as a material witness.

Gun experts were engaged today in trying to determine if the bullet which entered Dr. Lillendahl's body was fired from a .32-caliber revolver found in the home of Willis Beach, 47-year-old poultryman, who lives at Vineland, N. J.

On searching his home yesterday police found two revolvers, an automatic, thirty shotguns and rifles, and considerable ammunition. All of the weapons and ammunition were claimed by Beach's son, Ray.

The son said all the weapons were for the purpose of protecting the home against intruders. He pointed a gun at photographers and threatened to pull the trigger if they took a picture. The photographers retreated.

Detectives found some sealing wax and a fountain pen in the home, which they took with them. They hoped to be able to prove that the sealing wax was the same as that used on envelopes sent by Beach to Mrs. Lillendahl.

They took the fountain pen for the purpose of comparing its writing with the pen used in writing letters to Mrs. Lillendahl.

Beach was calm during the search.

BOTTLE BRINGS ARREST

Police See Signs of Drinking in Car, Arrest Pair.

Sight of an up-turned bottle through a coupe window early Sunday caused the arrest of John Anderson, 27, and Ernest Thompson, 28, both of Shelbyville.

Anderson was charged with carrying concealed weapons, operating a blind tiger and vagrancy. Thompson was charged with vagrancy and operating a blind tiger. Both are held under $1,000 bonds.

Immediately after his arrest following his son's death, Seipert declared he shot because he mistook his son for an officer trying to raid his home for liquor. In court, however, the defendant said he shot to frighten William, declaring he had been "beaten" and otherwise mistreated by his three sons and his wife.

Registration for 1927-1928 May Go Over 32,000

By United Press
NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—With registration for Columbia University open in all departments today, officials planned the largest year in the history of the school.

Although Columbia, during its winter and summer sessions, had a larger enrollment than any other school in the country in 1926, this year's figure is expected to surpass all others.

Already the summer session number of 13,857 students is 638 higher than the summer figure for 1926.

If these numbers indicate the trend for the year, the total for 1927-28 will be well over 32,000, which will set a new high mark for enrollment in any American educational institution for one year.

Plaza on Huge Scale

REMEMORATE THE VALOR AND SACRIFICE OF ALL WHO

Everything about the War Memorial Plaza, under construction between Meridian and Pennsylvania from New York St. to St. Clair St., is big. Here is a ten-foot, fifteen-ton section of a forty-foot Indiana limestone column being set in place seventy-five feet above the ground to do its bit in making the plaza's central shrine one of the most beautiful memorial structures in the country.

There will be twenty-four massive columns in all decorating the facades of the shrine, or ninety-six sections like that shown in the picture. With a sharp pencil and a plentiful supply of ciphers one finds that 2,880,000 pounds of selected limestone will be lifted by the four giant cranes at the top of the shrine, 200 feet above the ground, before the final section of the final pillar is set in place.

QUILLIN STRIKES AT GILLIOM FOR PARLEY SPEECH

'Husting Hundred' Chief Say He is Misrepresented.

State Senator William T. Quillin, president of the Englewood Hustling Hundred, under fire of Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom at the closing session of the law enforcement conference at the Statehouse Saturday, today accused Gilliom of "deliberate misrepresentation."

A special meeting of the organization may be called to discuss the Attorney General's speech, he declared.

Gilliom attacked the Hustling Hundred, mentioning Quillin by name, for a resolution passed by the conference, "an empty gesture," before it was held. His speech was applauded by the 150 county prosecutors, police chiefs and sheriffs who attended.

Branded Conference Futile
"The resolution passed by the Hustling Hundred did not condemn the law enforcement conference, as such," Quillin declared. "It merely pointed out that if the Attorney General continued to attack Indiana dry laws in speeches throughout the State, such a conference would be futile."

The resolution closed by terming these talks "vocal emanations of the genus equus asinus."

Gilliom brought it to the attention of the conference as an example of super-governmental interference, which he roundly condemned. He urged the officers to submit to no dictation or intimidation in carrying out their oaths as constituted authorities. He cited the last eleven or twelve months in Marion County as an example of how a prosecutor's efforts could be interfered with. Then he dwelt on the Hustling Hundred resolution as follows:

"It turns out that the leader of this group is a State Senator, William T. Quillin. He is the head of that organization that is large, if not altogether, Ku-Klux Klan, whose members belonged to that group that corruptly entered into a deal with the mayor of this city in the last campaign, in which he promised to give them 85 per cent of the public appointments of the city government."

'Villify and Falsify'
"They hide under the cloak of a church organization, belonging at the same time to a most vicious and corrupt force, and they saw fit, because you have been called here to consider practical questions of law enforcement, to pass a resolution
