

EUROPE'S KINGS FIND THRONE IS PLACE OF TOIL

Monarchs Are Hard-Working Lot, With Little Time to Fritter Away.

By C. P. WILLIAMSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 3.—While Americans read of the pleasures and play-grounds of Europe's crowned and uncrowned kings, those same monarchs, are in reality a hard working lot, most of them striving to prove that the king business is necessary in this twentieth century world.

One European king who has little in the way of affairs of state to bother him is the five-year-old King Michael of Roumania and even he has troubles of his own with tutors and instructors.

The only other crowned head who takes little interest in his country or people is King Boris of Bulgaria. He is touring central Europe incognito perfectly willing to leave the affairs of the kingdom in the hands of a cabinet.

England's King Is Toller

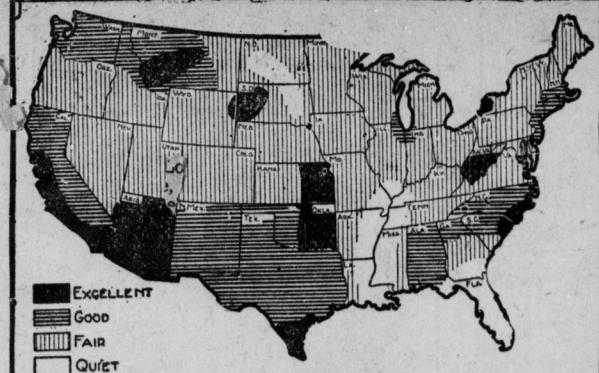

Perhaps the hardest working king in the world is King George of England. Many foreigners reading of the king's visits to the Derby, the Ascot race meetings, or the launching of a new battleship, little realize that these are by no means pleasures though they might outwardly seem so. These things are a part of the king's daily work.

The recent death of King Ferdinand of Roumania is a fitting example of the tireless efforts of most of Europe's present kings. Despite physician's orders Ferdinand insisted when on the point of death on calling members of the opposition party to his bedside in a final effort to secure conciliation with other parties before he died.

Albert Works Hard

Another hard-worked king, the strain of office upon whom probably almost equals that upon King George, is King Albert of the Belgians. Not only does he take an active interest in affairs of state, but but also devotes much of his time to his army of which he is field marshal.

Another hard-worked royal head of a European state, in this case a woman, is Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands. So occupied is Queen Wilhelmina with affairs of state that she seldom finds time for more of a holiday than a brief trip around her own country.

King Haakon of Norway is another hard-working monarch and, although he does not exert his power to the extent of being an absolute monarch, he is considered the active head of his country and is highly popular with even the radical elements.

Swedish King Active

His neighbor, King Gustav of Sweden, is equally as strong in the rule of his country and takes an active part in both the direction of state and military affairs.

King Alfonso of Spain, however, is somewhat differently situated in his country, for the dictatorship of General Primo de Rivero has lightened some of the routine burdens which normally fall on the shoulders of the Spanish king.

Another king whose work has been considerably lightened by a dictatorship within his country is King Emanuel of Italy. Much of the work has been taken over by Mussolini, although final royal consent in all matters of national interest are still imposed on the king.

Directs Army Navy

King Christian of Denmark is another of the remaining royal workers of Europe. Like his other Scandinavian royal neighbors, he is a hard worker. Not only is he the actual director of the Danish navy and army, but he also takes a part in state affairs.

King Alexander of Jugoslavia is probably the most important of the royal workers, for he not only takes an interest in his country, but actually directs the affairs of state.

NATION WILL OBSERVE 'SWEETEST DAY' OCT. 8

Harvest Moon Christmas' Winning Country-Wide Favor.

By United Press CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Oct. 8 will be Sweetest day.

Sweetest day first took its place on the national calendar in 1920 and has its origin with a group of Cleveland business men. This year's celebration will be seventh in the nation's history.

Sweetest day, according to the ideas on which it was conceived, is a day set aside for making others happy, remembering with gifts home folks and friends as well as the poor and unfortunate.

It is, in a way, a harvest moon Christmas. Candy is the symbol of this day as holly and the yule log are the symbols of the December festivity.

Elaborate plans have been made by a special committee of business men for the celebration of Sweetest day throughout the United States.

173 LANDING FIELDS IN WEST FOR SKY RIDERS

Great Advance Shows in Aviation By New Directory.

By Times Special SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—The West has now contributed 173 landing fields to the safety of aviation, according to the newest edition of the landing field directory of the Pacific Coast issued to aviators by the Standard Oil Company of California.

An encouraging note for air passenger, mail and express services dependent on the landing-field movement is revealed in an increase of thirty-nine new fields since the first directory was published last June.

For the benefit of the fliers of the air mail, army, navy and commercial services, the directory gives a full description of every field listed for Washington, Oregon, Nevada, California and Arizona.

Predicts 250,000 for Gary

By Times Special GARY, Ind., Oct. 3.—Gary's population will be 250,000 in 1927, is the prediction made by Charles S. Witwer, New York lawyer, during a business visit here. He based the figure on the growth in the last six years, which had intervened since a prior visit.

REMUS DIVORCE JAM AGAIN UP

Much-Tangled Case May Be Heard This Week.

By United Press CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 3.—After being delayed for more than two years by almost every conceivable legal tangle, the domestic difficulties of George Remus, former Cincinnati millionaire bootleg king, and his wife, Mrs. Imogene Remus, may be aired Oct. 6 before Judge Charles W. Hoffman in Hamilton County domestic relations court.

The Remus marital affairs first were brought into the divorce courts when Mrs. Remus, on Aug. 31, 1925, filed with the Hamilton County clerk of courts a petition for divorce. Two days later Remus was to be released from Atlanta penitentiary at the expiration of a two-year term.

In her suit Mrs. Remus asked for restoration of her maiden name, Imogene B. Holmes, and custody of her daughter, Ruth, 17. She also requested "fair and equitable alimony."

She charged that Remus threatened her and displayed a "terrible temper, often shouting and yelling at her in the presence of others."

When she visited Remus at the penitentiary he used vile and unmentionable language, threatened bodily harm and advised her to seek a divorce, Mrs. Remus alleged. She obtained an injunction preventing him, on his release from the penitentiary, from molesting her.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creemulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creemulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creemulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creemulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Advertisement.

CUBAN SUGAR PROGRAM TO COST U. S. MILLIONS

Restrictions to Force Price of Product Sky High.

Copyright, 1927, Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—American consumers of sugar will have to pay $56,000,000 more each year for their supply if restrictions on production by the Cuban government are adopted, it was learned today.

The increased cost would fall on both large and small consumers at the approximate rate of half a cent a pound.

This new move in the growing trade war on the United States has caused considerable concern to Department of Commerce officials, who are closely watching the campaign for passage of legislation permitting a reduction of the crop destined for export to the United States.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL BUS ISSUE MAY BE TESTED

Friendly Suit Likely at Fowler in Catholics' Behalf.

By Times Special FOWLER, Ind., Oct. 3.—A friendly suit will probably be filed in Benton Circuit court here to determine whether or not township trustees can be compelled to transport Catholic children to parochial schools in public school busses.

While it is understood here the question has never been passed upon by a court, Lee Gunnels, one township trustee, says he was informed by the State board of accounts that parochial pupils could not be transported, declaring he could not expend public funds to bring pupils to private or parochial schools.
