Lady Astor Needs Beer; View of Labor Member

LONDON, Oct. 12.—What Lady Astor "should do" before Parliament reconvenes in November and before she resumes her advocacy of prohibition for Great Britain is to take one good, tall, long stein of cool beer.

This at any rate is the conviction of Jack Jones, the outspoken Labor parliamentarian for Silvertown, who added that if Lady Astor would drink it, he, Jones, would gladly pay for it. Jones thinks the whole British government needs more beer "and the man who needs it most is Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the home secretary."

"Once I had an argument with Lady Astor about beer," said Jones reminiscently in an interview. "She said to me, 'Why do you drink beer?' And I replied, 'Because I like it.' She said, 'It does you a great deal of harm. It is ruining your constitution.'"

"I said, 'My dear lady, you know nothing about constitutions. You know nothing about the British constitution, and you know nothing about your own. You cannot even say 'British constitution' as clearly as I can, although you have been a life-long teetotaler. Moreover, you know nothing about beer because you have never tasted it.'"

"That's why I think she ought to have a drink this vacation, and that's why I'd be glad to pay for it if she would."

THOROUGHFARE PLAN HELD UP BY FUND LACK

Failure of Legislature to Authorize Bond Issuance Hampers Work.

Failure of the last Legislature to pass a law permitting the city plan commission to issue bonds to carry out its thoroughfare plan of widening and developing Indianapolis streets, for traffic of fifty years hence, is hindering the commission from pushing its program, according to Mackin Mack, city plan commission engineer.

The plan commission now has $175,000, the accumulation of funds raised by its tax levy in the last three years, to carry out its immediate work.

Widening of Forty-sixth St., between Boulevard Pl. and Sunset Ave., will take $16,000 of that amount. The city pays 75 per cent of that project and Butler University the remainder.

Widening is planned for the remainder of the fund will be spent to widen to sixty feet, Sixteenth St. from Illinois to Senate Ave. The city pays 60 per cent of that project and Butler University the remainder.

This project, however, Mack said, is being delayed until the job at moved.

The board of works is in charge of removing the job and has appointed appraisers to place estimates on the properties at the northwest and southeast corners of the intersection, which will be cut away to do away with the jog.

Paid by Special Fund

One of the things the commission should do as soon as possible, Mack believes, is to widen Tenth St. to serve as a through east and west thoroughfare. Tenth St., he believes, will be one of the main business streets in the future.

He suggests another subway through the track elevation for motor traffic only, to relieve congestion at E. Tenth and Massachusetts Ave.

FALL FESTIVAL OPENS

Event at Greensburg to Run Remainder of Week.

By Times Special

GREENSBURG, Ind., Oct. 12.—Decatur County's fall festival opened here today to continue the remainder of the week. Business houses are decorated for the festival and several have installed special lighting outfits. A separate tent houses "Made in Greensburg" products. Automobile exhibits occupy a block and a half of space.

One of the features Saturday will be a pet parade open to children of Decatur County.

'EYE' MEN GET $780

Authorities Believe Indiana Farmer Was Hypnotized.

By Times Special

BLUFFTON, Ind., Oct. 12.—Noah Johnson, farmer, east of here is out $780, which he declares he gave to two strangers who called at his home and pretended to test his eyes for spectacles. He asserts they put some instrument to his eyes which caused him to have a lapse of memory for four days. Authorities investigating the case express the belief that Johnson was hypnotized.

Asthma Made His Life a Burden

Found Way to Conquer Trouble. Has Been Well Ever Since.

Sufferers from asthma and stubborn bronchial coughs will find unusual interest in a letter written by Jos. Thompson, 935 Tibbs Ave., Indianapolis, Ind. He says:

"I had asthma for seven years and a severe bronchial cough for twelve years. My cough kept me awake most of the night and even kept my neighbors awake. I wheezed so bad my folks could hear me all over the house. I took one medicine after another without relief."

"Finally a relative who had been benefited by Nacor prevailed upon me to try it. I was confined to my bed at the time, but before I had finished the first bottle I was up and able to go downstairs. I kept on improving steadily and am now feeling fine. Have had no cough and no asthma for over a year. Am sleeping fine at night. My appetite and digestion are good and I am working every day at the Link-Belt. I am 67 years of age, but never felt better in all my life."

Amazing as Mr. Thompson's letter may be to those who have suffered from asthma and bronchitis and severe chronic coughs, there are many other such statements from former sufferers who never expected to be well again. Their letters and a book of valuable information about these stubborn diseases will be sent free by the Nacor Medicine Co., 413 State Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind. Call or write for it today. No matter how serious your case seems, this free information may be the means of showing you the real road to health.—Advertisement.

NEWS OF BUILDING IN INDIANAPOLIS

INSURANCE ON TITLES GROWING

"Most of the authorities on matters relating to real estate titles throughout the country believe the time not far distant when title insurance will be universal," and J. E. Morrison, director of sales promotion of the Union Title Company.

"We know that eventually it will become the only practical and permanent means of effecting the transfer of real estate and the making of real estate loans. In localities where title insurance is centered now the public understands and appreciates its merits and is rapidly taking advantage of the protection which it affords."

"If the public were as familiar with title insurance as the people are in these centers of population where the business now flourishes, the growth and extension and development of title insurance would be remarkable."

"Just as soon as a person becomes acquainted with the benefits, advantages, and protection which a title insurance policy affords he at once becomes a convert."

"The growth of this form of insurance and its permanency, which is now assured, is due to the merits and efficiency of the system itself. It furnishes, as does no other system, convenience, flexibility and safety in the transfer of titles to real estate. The business will grow and expand as the public becomes more familiar with the merits and advantages of this form of guaranty insurance."

BUILDING FIRM WINS RENOWN

Thoroughness in workmanship and the use of high-grade materials, coupled with experience in general construction work, have enabled the American Construction Company, 1200 E. Georgia St., to establish a good business reputation. The company is one of the best known in the city. Daniel Foley is president and Eugene Foley, vice president and general manager.

The firm has been engaged for years in street improvement work, but most recently the company has gone into the specialty of bank building. It also builds public schools, libraries and hospitals.

Every bank structure to be erected by the company will be completed in all details. The firm has decided to develop this field of its construction work perhaps more fully than any other line of building.

Many modern features of bank construction have been adopted by the firm and incorporated in all building specifications. Every effort to safeguard the funds and valuables of a banking institution are to be observed in recommendations of the firm.

This field of the company's business is in charge of E. E. Davenport, who formerly was connected with the St. Louis Bank Equipment Company, a widely known bank architect and construction engineer.

The firm has the contract for the construction of the First National Bank at Urbana, Ill., a contract which will result in approximately $125,000 expended in the building before it is completed next spring.

Striking Bungalow Built by Rice Is Pleasant Home

First of Six to Be Erected Near Fifty-Second St. and Carrollton Ave.

One of the most striking bungalows in the city has been completed recently by William Lowe Rice, Indianapolis builder, at Fifty-Second St. and Carrollton Ave., northeast corner. This house typifies the completeness and thorough workmanship embodied in a Rice-built home.

The house is of American bungalow lines, frame, roofed with a composition shingle. It has two entrances, one from Fifty-Second St. on the south and Carrollton Ave. on the west front.

The exterior is finished in a beautiful, two-tone gray, with white and black trim. The shutters are done in a pretty shade of green, which harmonizes with the landscape effects. Flower boxes adorn the street windows.

The large living room is beautifully finished in tapestry gray wall paper. The woodwork is done in American walnut, finished dark. The floors throughout are hardwood, except the kitchen, which is covered with linoleum, and the bathroom, which is done in tile. A large colonial fireplace with a heavy mahogany wood mantel is built into the living room. This room is cheerfully lighted with colonial electric fixtures.

The dining room also is finished in tapestry-toned wallpaper and the floor is hardwood, finished with a splendid luster to match the living room. Leading from the dining room is a charming doorway effect into the kitchen.

The feminine taste is evident in the kitchen with the roomy built-in cabinets, pot-closets, drainboard, sink, arched opening into the breakfast nook and the airy atmosphere. The two bedrooms are large and equipped with large closets. (What woman does not dote on spacious clothes closets?) The bedroom walls are papered in gay, floral designed paper. The rooms are well ventilated and lighted. The bathroom is located conveniently and well equipped with standard fixtures. It has a tiled base and a built-in tub. The house has a two-thirds basement. A Holland furnace is installed.

The house is the first of a group of six of similar design to be erected on Fifty-Second St. between Carrollton and Guilford Aves. by Rice.

MAYOS CLEAN WITH HOOVERS

The eyes of the world have been upon the work of the famous surgeons, Drs. Charles and W. J. Mayo, who have been dedicating their lives to the relief and cure of human suffering at Rochester, Minn., and these already world-noted physicians have been able to achieve their wonderful results by their attention to infinite number of details.

They have a genius for doing everything carefully and painstakingly, and as a result thousands of persons each year are sent on their way to health and happiness as the result of the accomplishments at the famous Mayo hospital—accomplishments which bespeak careful diagnosis, accurate judgment and precise work in operations when such are undertaken.

One of the factors of this famous hospital's success has been having equipment to meet every need that might arise in the battles to restore human health and efficiency. Cleanliness, naturally, has been absolutely essential. Dust has been eliminated insofar as the tiny specks that float everywhere on air can be eliminated.

Indianapolis housewives will appreciate the fact that in choosing the equipment for solving the dust and dirt problem, Hoover Vacuum cleaners and sweepers have been selected for use in the Mayo Hospital and the St. Mary's Hospital in Rochester, twenty-eight Hoovers being used at the latter hospital.

Many of these Hoovers have done duty daily for more than eight years and have contributed much to eliminating insanitary condition in the hospitals of Rochester.

Homes and hospitals, as well as other places, have found the Hoover a real, efficient health help, always convenient for immediate service. The Vonnegut Hardware Company is an Indianapolis dealer handling Hoovers, and the sales success is proof of the local appreciation of their value and serviceableness.

Konjola Highly Indorsed By Prominent Local Lady

Creator of Famous LaFrancis Beauty Products Tells of Amazing Work of the New Medicine.

How this remarkable new Konjola medicine will restore abundant health in cases of stomach, liver and kidney troubles is told by Mrs. Fannie Morgan (109 Cherry Grove, Indianapolis), who made a great name for herself in creating the famous LaFrancis beauty products. She is known to thousands everywhere, but is more personally acquainted here in the city of Indianapolis.

"My case was serious," said Mrs. Morgan. "I had the best medical attention, including specialists and chiropractic treatments. Everyone tried hard to help me, but all in vain. My blood pressure ran to 200. I had sharp pains in my back, limbs were swollen, and dreadful indigestion spells came over me. I had rheumatic pains, and was told that all these troubles were due to disordered liver and kidney. I took a full treatment of Konjola and now I am like another person entirely. My appearance shows it, and I feel like I never had a sick day in my life. Konjola is the only medicine that actually delivered me from my health troubles and I strongly indorse it."
