

GILLIOM URGES STATE, CHURCH KEEP SEPARATE

Assails Anti-Saloon League
for "Super-Government" Tactics in Indiana.

By Times Special
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 13.—Plea for strict adherence to the American principle of separation of church and State and condemnation of the Anti-Saloon League as "ecclesiastical super-government" was voiced by Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom in a Discovery Day address before the local Knights of Columbus here Wednesday night.

The speaker expressed his "personal and official endorsement of honest prohibition," but asserted that it was a State and not a church matter.

"If it is proper for the clergy to undertake to control elections, it is proper for the politicians to interfere in business of the church," Gilliom declared.

Uses Columbus Comparison
Using the Navigator Columbus and his ships as a comparison for the ship of State, the attorney general expounded his doctrine.

"History taught the world that a ship of State sailing in ecclesiastical waters could not endure," he pointed out. "Likewise, that the ship of church sailing in governmental seas would meet with disaster."

"The wisdom of centuries, born from bitter experiences under union of church and State, caused our fathers to decree separation on the basis of their inherent differences, recognizing supremacy of each in its respective natural sphere."

Terminology prohibition "an exclusively governmental question," and enforcement a "State function," he directed attention to the attempt to take over this business by the "ecclesiastical hegemony known as the Anti-Saloon League."

Hits at Shumaker
That Superintendent E. S. Shumaker sought to influence the Supreme Court in his contempt case on the grounds that he was a clergyman also was pointed out. The record in the case was cited where Shumaker tells of his twenty years in the ministry and how he had during that time occupied pulpits "for the purpose of arousing the people to political action in furtherance of the purposes of the Anti-Saloon League in the matter of electing men of dry sentiment to office."

"There is no more warrant for the church to undertake such supervisory assumption of the governmental policy on the subject of prohibition than there would be for it to assume supervisory control of governmental policies relating to narcotics, firearms, motion pictures, automobiles or any other non-ecclesiastical subject," Gilliom contended.

"If 120,000,000 citizens want or do not want prohibition as a governmental policy, they will or will not have it, without regard to the will of the church."

BURY VICTIM OF BURNS

Girl Died Because of Love for Pet Chicken.

Funeral services for Helen Schatz, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schatz, 1322 N. Emerson Ave., who died at city hospital Tuesday morning of burns suffered three weeks ago, were held at 2 this afternoon at the home. Burial was in Crown Hill Cemetery.

She was burned on the night of Sept. 16, when she went with a box of matches to see if her pet chicken was safe in the shed. Her dress caught on fire and before her parents, attracted by her screams, could beat out the flames she was injured seriously.

Besides the parents, she is survived by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Reed.

AGED CITY WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Phebe Thomas, 91, Believed Victim of Apoplexy.

Funeral services will be held at 7:30 p. m. today at the home of Mrs. Ada B. Parker, 4210 Audubon Rd., for her mother, Mrs. Phebe Thomas, 91, an Indianapolis resident for two years, who was found dead in bed at the daughter's home Wednesday. Death was believed due to apoplexy. Burial will be in Lafontaine, Ind., Friday, following additional services at the Lafontaine Methodist church Friday morning.

They Called Her Scrawny But Not for Long

Is your face drawn and pinched? Your skin flabby? Are your cheeks sunken with great hollows under the eyes? Does your figure show unbecoming angles instead of the softly rounded slimness of youth?

All these conditions rob you of attractiveness and make you look old. But worst of all, these may actually be the symptoms of simple anemia—that dread ailment so often suffered by women.

There's nothing so good as McCoy's Tablets to put on firm flesh, round out face and figure and build up rich, red blood.

So if you need a few pounds of flesh to round out the hollows, if you want to get back old-time energy and health, get a box of McCoy's Tablets today. Just a short treatment will make you look and feel like a new person.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee: If after taking four 60-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or two $1 boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at Hook's Dependable Drug Stores or any drug store in America.—Advertisement.

Proper Nourishment Given Pupils at Minimum Cost in Cafeteria.

A three-course luncheon for 15 cents!
Soup, meat and salad for the ordinary cost of a sandwich.

This is what pupils enjoy in the Washington High School cafeteria. School authorities have scaled the food prices at cafeterias to the lowest possible point, to insure proper nourishment for students, regardless of the size of their allowances.

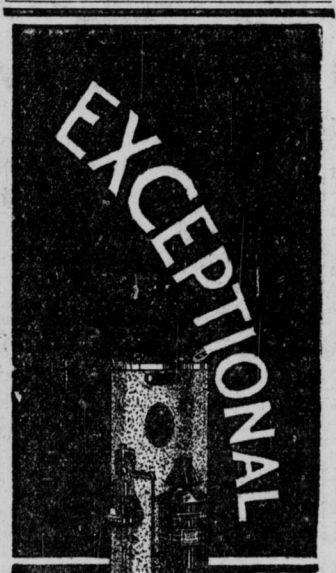

The highest priced dish at Washington is 6 cents. The lowest is 1 cent. But the best bargain for the hungry pupil is the famous 15-cent plate luncheon, which is as well balanced as Miss Mary E. Camack, head of the cafeteria, can make it.

All sandwiches, salads and vegetables at Washington are only 5 cents. A generous serving of baked ham, meat pie, salmon croquets, or swiss steak can be bought for 6 cents.

At Manual Training High School all meats and fish are 10 cents. Meats are 6 cents at Arsenal Technical High School.

OTHER STATES WATCH INDIANA PLAN OF PARKS

Lieber, Conservation Chief,
Tells of Interest at Roachdale Meeting.

By United Press
ROACHDALE, Ind., Oct. 13.—Indiana's revolutionary idea of making its State parks self-supporting has been studied with interest in the past year, by representatives from more than a dozen states.

Richard Lieber, State conservation department director, addressing a meeting here Wednesday night, explained to the Home Economic Club how his department endeavors to underwrite the future prosperity of the State and at the same time build up a structural and land estate for the commonwealth.

Lieber is widely recognized by his work in State parks. His subject was "The Value of the Public Estate," and he pointed out that since becoming director of the conservation department upon its creation by the Legislature in 1919, he constantly added to lands and public properties under his management, and until now more than 23,000 acres in parks, forest reserves, game preserves, State fish hatcheries, historical spots and the like are controlled by the department.

The department consists of the six divisions—economic geology, entomology, forestry, fish and game, lands and waters including State parks and engineering.

Speaking of the public estate, Lieber pointed out that in the past two years, surplus earnings of the fish and game division which derives its revenue solely from sale of hunting and fishing licenses, were invested in 11,000 acres of land in Brown County, which serves the two purposes of furthering reforestation and providing a reproductive ground for small wild game life.

At most of the State parks an admission fee is charged and this is the sole upkeep of the present parks.

A petition for voluntary bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court Wednesday by Thomas O. Hoover, Muncie restaurant proprietor, listing liabilities of $2,616 and assets of $444.

NIGHT CLUBS TO BE DRY TARGET

Sources of Supply Will Be Traced From Cabarets.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Prohibition officials today considered starting a campaign to end liquor drinking at night clubs and cabarets.

Heretofore, Federal dry agents have paid little attention to such places, concentrating on central sources of supply in trying to end the flow of liquor to bootleggers.

Dry authorities believe that through "spotters" in cabarets and night clubs, Government detectives can trace patrons' liquor back to the original distributing point.

Federal agents will not arrest every flask totter, but plan to question enough law violators to gain desired evidence. Field administrators have been ordered to organize "padlock squads" and this corps is expected to be assigned to investi-

DEBATE ON GINGER

Marion Druggist Case Before Supreme Court.

Jamaica ginger's status under the Eighteenth Amendment and the Wright Bone-Dry law was debated before the Indiana Supreme Court in oral argument on the appeal of Henry Ellwanger, Marion, Ind., druggist, from judgment of the Grant Circuit Court.

In the Circuit Court, Ellwanger was found guilty of selling Jamaica ginger to Ferris Jay, Federal prohibition officer, fined $125 and given a thirty-five-day jail sentence.

Defense Attorney John Kersey of Marion, contended Jamaica ginger is specifically exempted by the Volstead Act and that State laws relative to the sale of alcoholic preparations must conform with the Federal statutes. On this ground, he said provisions of the Wright Bone Dry law were unconstitutional.

Assistant Attorney General Edward J. Lennon Jr., argued it was within the State's right to strengthen provisions of the Federal statutes in this respect.

Above appear the six keys to the popularity of Coca-Cola. These keys were given by thousands of people in a national survey as the reasons for drinking Coca-Cola and formed the basis of the recent $30,000 contest conducted during the summer just past.

Above are the names of the winners of the contest prizes (exclusive of the $10 winners) who submitted the best answers from every standpoint required by the rules, namely: (1) The correct keys and where found; (2) Best paragraph on why the key that appeals most to the individual contestant is a good reason for the popularity of Coca-Cola; and (3) The best answer to the question, "Other than magazine and newspaper advertisements, what Coca-Cola advertisement best illustrates or presents to you one or more of the six keys? Tell why, and also where you saw the advertisement."

Checks have already been mailed to all of the 635 whose entries were selected by the judges.
