

DOHENY FUTURE MAY HINGE ON SINCLAIR TRIAL

Sentiment May Veer Against Oil King When He Goes Before Court Again.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Although Edward L. Doheny, Los Angeles oil millionaire, is not a defendant in the trial of the naval oil conspiracy case that opens here Monday, its outcome vitally may affect his future freedom.

Doheny is not free of all criminal charges growing out of the oil scandals and within the next few months must go to on trial again with Albert B. Fall on a charge of bribery.

When Doheny was acquitted on the conspiracy charge a year ago there was some feeling manifested that the second oil millionaire, Harry F. Sinclair, should not be punished if Doheny was to escape.

Since then the court have determined Doheny must stand trial on bribery charges. This makes it possible for public opinion, by way of a jury, to mete out punishment to the two men alike, if it finds them deserving of punishment.

If Sinclair is found guilty, the same feeling which was unwilling to punish him after Doheny was acquitted probably will incline toward conviction and punishment for Doheny when he again stands before the bar.

After a District of Columbia jury had expressed its belief that the $100,000 little black bag transaction between Fall and Doheny was an innocent one, the Supreme Court of the United States said of this same transaction:

"The facts and circumstances disclosed by the record show clearly that the interest and influence of Fall, as well as his official action, were secured corruptly by Doheny for the making of the contracts and leases . . . and that the consummation of the transaction was brought about by means of collusion and corrupt conspiracy between Fall and Doheny."

Hits "Loan" Transaction
The court amplified by saying of the $100,000 "loan" from Doheny to Fall: "No entry of the advance was made in the accounts of Doheny or the petitioners. Nothing has been paid on account of principal or interest."

"At that time it was understood between Doheny and Fall that the latter need not repay it in kind. A few weeks after it was given, Doheny tore Fall's signature off the note, so that it would not be enforceable in the hands of others." Doheny comes in for a share of attention again in the scorching opinion just handed down by the Supreme Court, canceling Teapot Dome lease as fraudulent.

Corner Stone Will Be Placed Sunday for Lucy Rowland Hall at DePauw

Drawing of Lucy Rowland Hall, new women's dormitory at DePauw University, Greencastle. Insets, the late Edward Rector, and his widow, Mrs. Lucy Rowland Rector.

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes Will Deliver Principal Address.

By Times Special

GREENCASTLE, Ind., Oct. 15.—Ceremonies in connection with laying the corner stone of Lucy Rowland hall, new dormitory for women students at DePauw University, will be held Sunday afternoon at 4:30. Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, who will give the annual Mendenhall lectures at the university next week, will deliver the chief address.

Miss Helen Hester, formerly of Indianapolis, and Miss Virginia Hayward, Terre Haute, students, will speak for the women of the university. President Lemuel Herbert Murlin will speak, paying tribute to DePauw University's benefactor, the late Edward Rector and his wife, in whose honor the new building is named, Mrs. Lucy Rowland Rector. The University Women's Chorus will respond to the hymn of dedication as the corner stone is put in place.

Ready Next Fall
Work on the building is progressing rapidly, but it will not be ready for occupancy before next fall. Practically all the frame work of the entire three floors is completed. The new hall is located on the site of the Music Building which was moved this summer, across the street, next to Bowman Memorial gymnasium. It completes a quadrangle of women's residences and is joined to Rector Hall by a sun parlor. The general type of architecture is such that it will harmonize with Rector Hall; the brick and stone will be similar and the interior decoration will contain many of the same features. Robert Frost Daggett, Indianapolis, is the architect, and Leslie Colvin, builder.

Three Stories High
The building will be three stories high except for the central part of the structure which will be four stories. The entrance will be in this section of the building, and will open upon a brick terrace. On the first floor will be rooms for the social director, a large living room, several small parlors, an office, and several other rooms. The dining room will be in the basement and will be supplied from the Rector Hall kitchen. There will be student rooms on all four floors and all excepting fifteen of them will be single rooms. One hundred girls will be accommodated in the new residence.

Rules of Indiana School 111 Years Ago Carried Lashes as Penalties.

By United Press

DANVILLE, Ind., Oct. 15.—Those who mourn for the "good old days" should study carefully a list of rules used in governing the Robin Smith School years ago.

The list, bearing date of 1816, is now in the possession of Mrs. A. J. Wilson, who vouches for its authenticity. As you come to school, take your seat and keep it.

For swearing, you shall have ten lashes. For lying, ten lashes.

For stealing, ten lashes.

For tearing books, ten lashes.

For misspelling, eight lashes.

For nicknaming, eight lashes.

For telling tales without proof, five lashes.

For loitering to and from school, five lashes.

For not washing and combing and for having long nails, five lashes.

For laughing while in school, six lashes.

For fighting, fifteen or more lashes.

Mrs. Wilson says the Robin Smith School was one of the most notoriously "hard boiled" in southern Indiana, and that new teachers were sent there to test their stamina and the strength of their good right arms.
