

tions of the United States has become a waste of broken houses, uprooted trees and washed out roads and railways. Hundreds of head of cattle have been drowned. In many places drowned cattle lie in heaps where the waters left them in rearing.

In nearby Barre, seven persons, including Lieutenant Governor Hollister Jackson, were drowned. At Waterbury the Red Cross reported that nineteen persons had lost their lives and that three were missing.

WEEK-END CAR TOLL IS THREE DEAD, SIX HURT

Man and Crippled Daughter Killed as Interurban Strikes Auto.

Three persons are dead and six injured as a result of week-end traffic accidents in and near Indianapolis.

The dead: JOHN SANDERS, 58, of 1507 S. Pershing Ave. RUTH SANDERS, 22, his daughter, a cripple. NADINE REED, 6, Negro, 1408 Shepherd St.

Sanders and his daughter were killed instantly Sunday night when their automobile was struck by an inbound Indianapolis & Cincinnati interurban at the Emerson Ave. crossing.

Three Are Arrested

Price Giles of Greensburg, motorist, told deputy sheriffs that he did not know that the automobile had turned at the crossing until his car struck it.

Giles, Lewis Leffler, St. Paul, conductor, and Fred Courtney, Shelbyville, conductor of the trailer, were ordered held on involuntary manslaughter charges by Deputy Coroner O. H. Bakemeier.

Sanders was employed by the Gibraltar Cement Products Company, 1441 S. Harding St. His daughter had been a cripple since birth. Both were born near Franklin and had lived here for more than ten years.

Sanders' brother, Daniel Sanders, Indianapolis, is the only survivor.

Nadine Reed, 6, Negro, 408 Shepherd St., died at city hospital Sunday afternoon of injuries received Saturday night when she was struck by an automobile driven by Fred Harris, 21, Negro, 1358 S. Pershing Ave., near her home.

Harris is being held on an involuntary manslaughter charge.

Mother and Son Hurt

Mrs. Mildred Fisher, 28, of 2130 Eastern Ave., and her son, Glenn, 8, were injured in a three-way accident in the 1400 block on Massachusetts Ave., Saturday night.

A truck, driven by Levi Watkins, 32, Negro, 322 E. Louisiana St., struck an automobile driven by Clyde Fisher, 23, and overturned the car. Fisher's car was hurled into an automobile driven by William Dyke 19, of 2139 Avondale Pl.

Watkins was arrested for being drunk, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and assault and battery. Hays Cushmanberry, 54, Negro, 321 E. Louisiana St., who was riding with Watkins, was arrested on a drunk charge.

Others injured are Jeff Hoover, 18, of 2340 Central Ave., broken leg; Oramel Musgrave, 45, of 5916 Evanson St., lacerations; Miss Anna Freiberg, 42, same address, cuts and Edward Meadows, 30, of 633 N. Jefferson Ave., lacerations.

Food Supplies Ruined

Food and supplies have been ruined by the water which flooded basements and crept up into the second floors of buildings in centers of both cities.

Troopers patrol the streets here. Food is being rationed out at appointed canteens. Because of the favorable position, on higher ground, the capitol building escaped.

The business sections of both Barre and Montpelier were wrecked. Hardly an unbroken piece of plate glass remained along the main street of either city.

Montpelier is virtually under martial law. Troops patrol the streets and food is only given out at appointed canteens to those possessing proper ration cards.

SLEET AND SNOW FALL OVER PARTS OF INDIANA

Washington, Mt. Vernon and Ft. Wayne feel winter's touch.

WASHINGTON, Ind., Nov. 7.—The first sleet of the year fell here today. With the thermometer hovering about the freezing mark and slowly descending, the sleet was expected to turn to snow. Sunday the mercury went down to 21 degrees, lowest of the season here.

MT. VERNON, Ind., Nov. 7.—Mt. Vernon, southernmost Indiana county seat, was in the grip of a blizzard this morning. Sleet and rain were falling, but the temperatures were ten degrees above the mark of 24 degrees recorded Sunday morning.

FT. WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 7.—The first snow of the season occurred here Sunday. The Weather Bureau reported a fall of three-fourths of an inch. Sunday night's temperature was 26 degrees.

BANDIT VICTIM BURIED

Services for slain Grocer Are Held at Wabash.

Funeral services were held at Wabash Sunday for Charles Conrad, 55, of 858 W. Twenty-Eighth St., who was slain by four Negro bandits in a hold-up at the Standard Grocery, 2814 Clifton St., Wednesday. Six brothers and two sisters survive.

CLINIC FINDS QUICK WAY TO END COLDS

Advise Hospital Tested Method; Is Ideal for Home Use And Brings Relief in Few Hours

A great many Indianapolis people—like James H. Springer, have learned that it is no longer necessary to let a cold make a person feel miserable or cause fear of pneumonia. For doctors at the hospital clinic are recommending a simple home treatment that brings quick, sure relief—often in a few hours.

A severe cold had kept Mr. Springer from business several days. When nothing seemed to help him he called the clinic for advice. Doctors then recommended a double strength dose of Cherry Pectoral—a highly concentrated mixture of ingredients which hospitals have found to be the quickest, safest and most dependable to end colds. With the first swallow he felt the soothing, comforting, healing warmth. From his nose passages deep down into his chest. In a few hours he felt lots better and in a day or so the cold was completely gone.

Doctors find that this hospital medicine does far more than stop coughing instantly. It is absorbed by the whole system. This quickly checks phlegm, heats irritation and drives out the cold from the nose, passages, throat and chest.

Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Cherry Pectoral now and you'll feel like a different person tomorrow. At all drug stores, 60c; twice as much in $1.00 hospital size.

FIRING SQUAD ENDS REVOLT

Gomez Funeral Closes Violent Mexican Chapter.

By G. F. FINE United Press Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7.—The recent Mexican revolution virtually passed into history today with funeral services for Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, one of the leaders of the revolt, who was captured and executed Friday by the government.

Several thousand persons visited the home of Alessio Robles yesterday to dance at their clubhouse Thursday night, were marooned on the second floor of the building until Saturday and forced to live on bananas salvaged from a nearby fruit store.

Mayor Edward H. Deabitt was forced to remain in the telephone company building until taken off by a boat.

Miss M. A. MacAvoy rescued a coachman employed in the stables of her exclusive boarding establishment by lassoing him and dragging him onto the piazza roof.

Mrs. Paul Lacross ran across a dam of jammed lumber and debris from her endangered house to the safety of that of a neighbor. Shortly afterward the wreckage broke up and was swept away.

In the race for high land, it was impossible to save the cattle in many places and they perished in their stalls.

At Waterbury State Hospital the entire herd of registered Holstein cattle was drowned.

At one point along the Winoski, the bodies of cattle were seen to go over the falls at the rate of one a minute for almost an hour.

A Central Vermont train had been marooned near Roxbury since Thursday noon. Passengers were eating in the express car and killed stray cows, which were butchered in the dining car.

Three families, totaling nineteen persons, have been living in a one-family house at Richmond for two nights and a day on an island with three horses, four pigs and 200 chickens.

URGES CAREFUL DEFENSE PLAN

Burton Condemns Extreme Pacifism Policy.

Disarmament and a means for peaceful conciliation were declared to be the requisites for international peace by Theodore E. Burton, Ohio Congressman, at the Armistice memorial program in Caleb Mills Hall, Sunday afternoon.

"We should avoid a bloated or unnecessarily expensive navy and should give far more careful study to foreign affairs and the place which we should assume among nations," he said. "Every effort should be exerted for the establishment of principles of international law and the maintenance of a policy of justice and generosity toward all nations, great and small."

"On the other hand, there must be condemnation of extreme pacifism and a policy of non-resistance. While the world is full of the din and threat of war, we must maintain reasonable preparedness, or what George Washington termed 'a respectfully defensive posture.'"

Col. John T. Axton Speaks to City Ministers.

Col. John T. Axton, Washington, chief of Army chaplains, spoke this morning before the Indianapolis Ministers Association at the New Jersey Street Methodist Episcopal Church.

He was the guest of honor at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce Sunday morning. Col. Axton addressed cadets at Culver Military Academy. At night he spoke at a religious service at Ft. Benjamin Harrison on prevention of war through development of good-will.

Others on the program at the conference of chaplains were Dr. K. Palmer Miller, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Franklin; the Rev. Paul H. Maurer, Evangelical Church, Vincennes; and the Rev. W. Edward Roberts, Bethel M. E. Church, Bethel.

INDIANA FARMER SLAIN

Wound Suffered During Hold-Up Near Paoli Causes Death.

By Times Special PAOLI, Ind., Nov. 7.—Hiram B. Lindley, 79, is dead today at his farm home near here, and James Hill, Paoli, is held as his slayer. It is charged the aged man was shot while Hill was attempting to rob him.

Authorities say that Lindley did not raise his hands quickly enough at the command of Hill, who fired a shotgun, shattering one of Lindley's arms. Amputation was necessary, and the wounded man was unable to survive the shock.

Wound Aftermath Fatal

By Times Special LYONS, Ind., Nov. 7.—Roscoe Russell is dead here today of peritonitis which developed following a bullet wound suffered at the homecoming celebration here Sept. 15. The shot was fired by Frank Borden while resisting arrest by a deputy sheriff. Borden has been in custody here since the shooting.

Dressed Up

By Times Special WATERLOO, Ind., Nov. 7.—When Charles Butler, 25, of Spencer, appeared in Circuit Court here on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, he was attired in a tuxedo suit. Butler pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to forty days at the penal farm and forbidden the privilege of driving an automobile for one year.

Bravery, Tragedy, and Comedy Bared in Flood

MONTEPELIER, Nov. 7.—Many stories of tragedy, of comedy and of daring today were told of the worst disaster this State ever has known.

Fifty-one members of the Avolo Club in Montpelier, gathered to dance at their clubhouse Thursday night, were marooned on the second floor of the building until Saturday and forced to live on bananas salvaged from a nearby fruit store.

Mayor Edward H. Deabitt was forced to remain in the telephone company building until taken off by a boat.

Miss M. A. MacAvoy rescued a coachman employed in the stables of her exclusive boarding establishment by lassoing him and dragging him onto the piazza roof.

REMUS FIGHT IN COURT OPENED

Asks Judge to Admit Depositions in Case.

By United Press CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—George Remus, former bootleg king, started today his fight to free himself of a first degree murder charge in the slaying of his wife, Imogene, Oct. 6.

Remus, with his attorney, Charles H. Elston, went before Judge Chester H. Shook, in Criminal Court, arguing with State's attorneys on the admissibility of evidence in depositions, taken in eight cities.

Remus charges the depositions show the association of his wife and Franklin L. Dodge, former Justice Department agent, in a conspiracy plot to rob him, cause his imprisonment, deportation and institute divorce proceedings.

Judge Shook ordered the depositions gone over before the trial next Monday.

Asthma So Bad He Couldn't Work

Now Works in Smoke and Steam Without Cough or Wheeze

Railroad men and others whose asthma or bronchitis is aggravated by smoke-filled air, will be glad to read this letter from Frank Paul, 947 S. Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind. He writes:

"I suffered with asthma and severe bronchial cough for 3 years. I gasped and choked until I could hardly breathe and had to stay away from work for weeks at a time. I was in a desperate condition when I started taking Klor, and I really believe it saved my life. I gave me prompt relief, and now I am feeling fine. I am a machinist in a round house. The smoke and steam do not bother me a bit now. I don't wheeze or even breathe hard, and I am working every day."

This remarkable letter is only one of hundreds written by former sufferers from asthma, bronchitis and severe chronic coughs, telling how their trouble left and never returned. Their letters and booklet full of vital information about these stubborn diseases will be sent free by Naxor Medicine Co., 413 State Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind. The more serious your case seems, the more important this free information may be to you. Call or write for it today.—Advertisement.

END FREE LOVE WITH CHILDREN, WARNS AUTHOR

Marriage Gets Stuffy, Needs Emotion Outlet, Says Bertrand Russell.

BY GLADYS CRAIG

"Marriage is apt to become stuffy, like a closed room, after we become accustomed to each other. A strange person furnishes new stimulus to the imagination. It is not a good thing to close up the imagination," declared Bertrand Russell, English author, whose writings about love and marriage have startled two continents.

He was in Indianapolis, Sunday, to talk at the Kirschbaum community center. Earlier in the day he discussed freely his views with a reporter at the Columbia Club.

Discusses Free Love

Recently the press described the distinguished English author and educator as "tall, with iron gray hair, and piercing black eyes." Except for the iron gray hair, the description is inaccurate.

His iconoclastic ideas stand out in strange contrast with the gentle simplicity of his personality. Asked whether we dare practice free love in the face of present social pressure, he said:

"Just in so far as it is compatible with not starving to death. Economic reasons force us to lead scrupulous lives. But we should be bolder and bolder, and talk the matter over with our personal friends. This will help to spread enlightenment. It took a long time to build sex morality into the race, and it will take a long time to get it out again."

The cure of jealousy, Russell said, was a very difficult matter, and he admitted that he had not been able to eradicate it from his own life.

"Jealousy comes from a feeling of outraged rights. We must realize that we have no rights whatever in any other person. The economic independence of women will help to control jealousy. Unless man supports her, he can't help what she does. He will have to put up with it."

Regrets Lindsey Ouster

Russell said that he is in thorough accord with Judge Ben Lindsey's plan of companionate marriage. "I think that it would be a very good thing for America to adopt," he said. "I was sorry to see Lindsey ousted."

The creation of children, Russell thinks, is a different matter altogether. As soon as a child is on the way, the parents ought to marry, for if they do not the child will resent it. And where children are involved, the union should be permanent, if possible, though not necessarily exclusive of other affairs.

"The constant shuffling of parents is very bad for children," Russell spoke a good word for nursery schools, and said that the responsibility for children should be divided between parents and experts. "Parents have such silly emotions about their children. They overestimate them and make them nervous. Parents exist to see that their children come to no harm, but other than that they should let them alone. Children need the society of other children."

Too Many Women Teachers

In regard to turning over the care of children to the State, he said that at present the State is worse than the worst parents. "The State brings its sons and daughters up to fight each other. I can conceive of a State in the future which could care for children more intelligently than parents. But not now."

Russell said that we have too

Notable Here

Bertrand Russell, famed English scholar, who spoke here Sunday.

many women school teachers in America. "No virgin, unless she is very young, should have the care of a child. She demands too much from him and is prone to make of him an outlet for her own repressed emotions. Emotional response should not be expected from children. That belongs to sex."

Likes Elmer Gantry

The social order in America also is controlled by women, and this one reason for the mental inferiority of America, Russell said. "However, Americans underestimate your intelligence. Some of your writers, such as Theodore Dreiser, Sherwood Anderson and Sinclair Lewis are more appreciated in Europe than at home. 'Elmer Gantry' is such screaming fun. At first I thought that it was overdrawn, but since my last trip over, I have decided that it is not."

Will Durant has said that we need our wisest and not our slickest men in office, but Bertrand Russell thinks that running the Government is too soft a job for a first-rate man. "The best men should be left free for the more important work of the world, such as music, writing and science. In times of crisis the Government needs a good man of course. And in time of crisis, America has always had a good man."

WANTS SECOND ARSON HEARING

Prosecutor Would Try Former Klan Official.

By Times Special ROCKVILLE, Ind., Nov. 7.—Samuel F. Withrow, former klighr of the Ku-Klux Klan of Parke County, will face a second trial on a charge of arson at the term of the Parke Circuit Court to begin here Nov. 21. Prosecuting Attorney Benjamin P. Stephenson announced.

The prosecutor is indignant over a jury disagreement in the first trial of Withrow which ended a few weeks ago. He announces that Fred King, State fire marshal's attorney, will aid the prosecution in the second trial, and J. M. Johns, local lawyer, may also be retained.

Incident of Withrow resulted from burning of two school buildings at Bridgeton during the 1924 election in Parke County, when Klan and anti-Klan forces were in a bitter struggle.

INDIANA TOWN RESIDENTS TO VOTE TUESDAY

Women Ballot for First Time at Ingalls; Berne Faces Dispute.

Elections will be held throughout Indiana Tuesday by incorporated towns for naming town board members, clerks and treasurers. In some instances the voters will not go to the polls, as no tickets are in the field and present officials will remain in office until the date of the next election.

Democrats at Berne have placed a ticket in the running against the Republicans, but a doubt exists as to whether or not any Democrat could hold office if elected, due to failure of the party to comply with the law requiring that fifteen days before an election a petition be filed with the town clerk for a place on the ballot.

Contest at Lewisville

There is only one ticket at Lewisville, but candidates are without opposition, there being a contest for every office. Both Democrats and Republicans are on a Citizens' ticket.

No election will be held at Knightstown. Only the Republicans nominated candidates for town offices last spring and these men will assume office without further contest at the first council meeting next January.

For the first time in the history, women are candidates at Ingalls. A campaign by supporters of Republican and Citizens' tickets has aroused interest to such an extent that it is believed practically every voter will go to the polls.

Two Towns Voting

There is no contest at Lefontaine, which has a bi-partisan Citizens' ticket. North Manchester will vote on Republican and Democratic candidates. Both parties also have tickets at Lagro.

Danville is the only place in Hendricks County where there are two tickets. Other towns have non-partisan tickets.

Litigation is in prospect after voters at Shoals cast their ballots. Supporters of a Citizens' ticket assert two town board members are to be named this year and have nominated two, but backers of a Republican ticket say only one is to be chosen. Regardless of the outcome of the election, it appears certain the dispute will be carried into court.
