

FLIERS' BODIES FOUND PINNED BENEATH PLANE

Missing U. S. Army Privates' Flight Ended in Disaster.

By United Press
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 28.—Lieutenant Eugene A. Bayley, commander of Burgess field, here, located the wreckage of the airplane and bodies of Privates B. R. Emory and William D. Zollman, missing army fliers, a few miles from Uniontown, today.

Bayley found the wreckage soon after he had started an airplane search of Chestnut Ridge, between Uniontown and Somerset, Pa. He returned to Burgess field and with Corporal S. A. Balzhz went back to the scene of the crash in an automobile.

Bayley said the plane was completely wrecked and bodies of the two men pinned under the wreckage. Zollman and Emory had left Washington Friday morning for Columbus, Ohio.

Bayley said he sighted the wrecked plane in a densely wooded section of the mountain and flew near the tree tops to make identification positive. He said he could find no place to land, so returned to Uniontown.

Army planes from Bolling field, Washington, searched for the fliers Saturday and Sunday, when they failed to reach their destination and no word was received from them.

They were to have dropped messages at Cumberland, Md., and Uniontown.

M. F. Byrne, a traveling salesman, reported today that an Army plane had landed along the highway near Somerset Friday and he had directed the two fliers to Burgess field. After they took off he lost trace of them.

MANY END COLDS BY NOVEL METHOD

Relieved Overnight by Using Quick Remedy Endorsed for Home Use by Clinic

Head colds and chest colds can now be ended quickly—often overnight—by the unique double action of a home remedy now recommended by doctors at the health clinic. And druggists here say that vast numbers of Indianapolis people, like Mrs. Edna Muse, have found that it quickly drives out a stubborn cold, even in severe cases where every well known remedy used had failed.

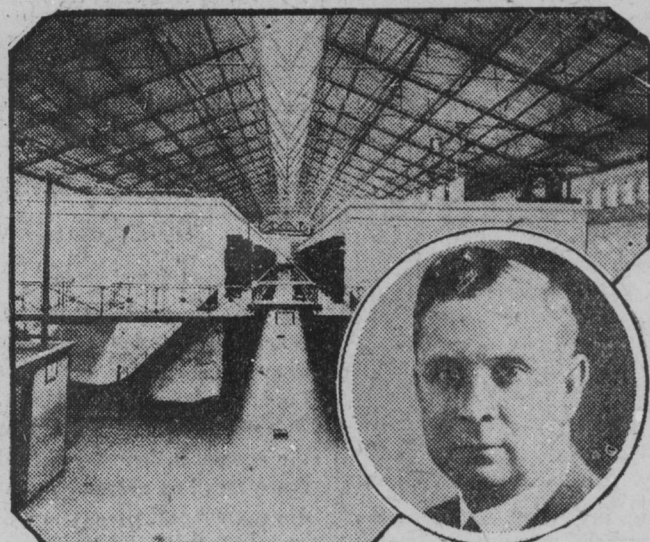

Doctors at the clinic were called for advice when Mrs. Muse's cold grew worse, causing fever of pneumonia. They immediately advised Cherry Pectoral—a concentrated mixture of ingredients which hospitals have found to be the quickest, safest and most dependable to end a cold. Almost instantly she felt the comforting, healing warmth—from her nose passages deep down into her chest. In a few hours she was greatly relieved and in another day or so was entirely rid of her cold.

Note: Other cases reported daily—certified to this paper by a member of the hospital clinic.

Where 9 Died in Mutiny of Convicts

Here is Folsom State prison, California, where 1200 convicts mutinied on Thanksgiving Day, and where nine men were killed and twenty-two were wounded in the battle that followed. Many of the prisoners had obtained rifles from an unknown source and for hours defied police, deputies, penitentiary guards and militiamen.

The cell room in Folsom State prison, California, turned into an armed fort by hundreds of convicts in a Thanksgiving day mutiny is pictured above. Warden Court Smith, who was held a prisoner in his office for hours, finally escaped. He is shown in the inset.

ROB THEATER, OIL STATION

More Than $300 Taken in Two Hold-Ups.

Bandits who timed their work so that they were seen by no one but their victims, Sunday night held up the cashier of the Uptown Theater, College Ave. and Forty-Second St., and a Standard Oil filling station at Pleasant Run Blvd. and Madison Ave. Loot of more than $300 was taken in the two robberies.

Miss Josephine Day, Uptown cashier, said a man walked up to the cashier's window, pointed a gun at her and demanded money. She handed him $250.

Walter Van Arsdale, 1137 Olive St., filling station attendant, said that three men forced him to take $110 from the safe and escaped in an automobile.

WANT AUTO TAX KILLED

Half Cut in Excise Not Suitable to Manufacturers.

By Times Special
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Action of the House Ways and Means Committee in cutting automobile excise tax from three to one and one-half per cent is not satisfactory to manufacturers. They want the entire tax wiped out.

Pressure is being applied from all sections of the country upon members of Congress to have the committee's decision changed on the floor of the House. If the fight falls there it will be carried to the Senate. Democratic Congressmen, plus a sizeable group of Republicans, are prepared to fight for abolition of the tax on new automobiles, which costs motorists nearly $100,000,000 a year.

Brushes By!

Beauty Exits in Haste, and Leaves Customers All Set for Shave.

E. WASHINGTON ST. gentry will present a smooth-shaven appearance the next few days, if proper brushing equipment has anything to do with it.

A pretty miss, with a beguiling smile and a petite pounce, left a string of stiff-bristled shaving brushes in her wake Friday as she canvassed the district, taking 35 cents out of every dollar that came her way.

"Punches don't run more than 35 cents," she smiled at her admiring customers, "and you win something with each punch."

Gentlemen hesitated only long enough to draw another cooing smile from the shaving brush siren before punching out a 35-cent number. It was not until the vision had wrapped her coat tightly about her lissome figure and tripped on to new field of tontorial assistance that big-hearted fellows who "really did need a new brush" reflected that, singularly, none of them had chanced to get one of the punches under the maximum figure of 35 cents.

"Painless extraction," they agree, is not purely a dental phrase.

RACES TOLD TO HOLD CREEDS

Author Condemns Practice of Sending Missionaries.

Great religions of the world have a common thread of truth, variously expressed by the Golden Rule. Let each race live up to the truths expressed in their particular creed and all will rise to a higher spiritual level.

Such was the advice of Lewis Browne, author, in a talk on "This Believing World" at the open forum at Kirschbaum Community Center Sunday night. Browne has written a best seller bearing this title, and, although not yet in his thirties, has two other popular volumes to his credit. They are "This Man Henry" and "Stranger Than Fiction." The latter is a story of the Jewish race, written in popular style.

Origins of the great religions of the world were traced by the speaker, and he pointed out how in each country books have been written proving that their particular brand is the only true one.

Since each has its own truth and is adapted to the particular country and race where it has successfully served, Browne condemns the practice of sending religious missionaries as impertinent.

The sermon on the Mount, he declared, was an expression of highest ethical truth, but many of its tenets had been uttered by other great teachers before the time of Christ.

Evangelism of the Almee Semple McPherson variety was roundly condemned as being "opium for the downtrodden."

Indiana Anti-Saloon Leader Speaks at Richmond.

By United Press
RICHMOND, Ind., Nov. 28.—Benefits of prohibition were listed by E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, Sunday, in an address at the West Richmond Friends Church.

"Before prohibition," Shumaker said, "there were 15,000,000 drinking people. Since passage of the Eighteenth amendment, steady drinkers number only 1,000,000, and occasional drinkers 3,000,000."

Dr. Shumaker said that prohibition had closed 236 distilleries and 1,002 breweries. He expressed the opinion that no one need fear prohibition would not be continued.

RENOUNCE OLD WEDDING PACT AS COMPANIONS

Haldeman-Julius and His Wife to Rewed; Assail Church Ceremony.

By United Press
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 28.—While the clergy of Kansas City Sunday was decrying the so-called companionate marriage of Aubrey Roselle and Josephine Haldeman-Julius of Girard, Kan., E. Haldeman-Julius, father of the bride, announced that he and his wife, galled by religion, would rewed as companions.

Haldeman-Julius declared that for many years he had felt the "humiliation of our wedding ceremony, loaded as it is with spooks and choice specimens of hypocrisy and hokum, leaving me with the conviction that our married life had been forced to carry a stain which can be removed only by a new marriage. Mrs. Haldeman-Julius and I, therefore, shall remarry at an early date."

Repudiate Old Wedding

The publisher said he and his wife would repudiate the old church wedding with "its barbarisms and its insults to intelligence."

The editor termed his action a gesture of revolt against clerical presumptuousness.

"The Holy Ghost," said Haldeman-Julius, "had nothing to do with my marriage."

The Girard publisher and his wife planned to be remarried by the Rev. L. M. Birkhead, pastor of the Unitarian Church of Kansas City. Birkhead read the service at the marriage of Roselle and Josephine.

Dr. Birkhead, when questioned on the subject of companionate marriage, said candidates for matrimony should not be made to promise to live together until "death do us part." Also, he said the question, "who gives this woman away?" should be stricken from civilized marriage ceremony.

Branded Publicity Stunt

The Rev. J. W. Bradbury, pastor of a Baptist church here, declared in his pulpit Sunday that a companionate marriage was a return to the primitive. Another pastor said Roselle-Haldeman-Julius marriage should not be recognized by law or sanctioned by society.

Dr. W. W. Tetley, Methodist pastor, charged advocates of companionate marriage with seeking to give dignity to adultery and divorce.

Many pastors in their pulpits branded the companionate wedding of the Girard residents as a "publicity stunt."

Once More the Prince Lands Full Tilt in Mud

Here's the Prince of Wales, in a brand new picture of last week, just as he arrived for the famous Quorn hunt. Yes, he fell off his horse today.

By United Press
MELTON MOWBRAY, England, Nov. 28.—The Prince of Wales was thrown from his horse again today when the horse's legs caught on a rail while the prince was fox hunting with the Quorn hounds.

Wales, unhurt, mounted another horse and resumed the hunt.

Wales' horse caught its hind legs in the top rail of a fence, and the prince went head first into the mud. He lay so quietly for a moment that riders near him feared he was seriously injured—particularly remembering the death Saturday from fox hunting injuries of Lady Victoria Bullock, only daughter of the Earl of Derby.

But as his companions ran to help him, Wales scrambled to his feet, splattered with mud.
