

SANTA MOVIES SPEEDING HERE BY AIRPLANE

Holly Berry's Pictures to Be Shown Indianapolis Boys and Girls.

Here is another story from Holly Berry, special Times correspondent accompanying the Times-Kleinenschmidt Polar expedition to find the home of Santa Claus and to see the arrival of the Christmas patrol in his home. Arctic Explorer Captain E. H. Kleinenschmidt is leading the expedition. The movies are on their way to Indianapolis by radio. to be shown to children here.

BY HOLLY BERRY

NORTH POLEVILLE, Eskimo-land, Dec. 1.—(By Radio)—While I am writing this story, in Santa Claus' palace, for Indianapolis children, the movies that we have taken of this remarkable trip are on their way to Indianapolis to be shown to boys and girls there.

A little Polar biplane, piloted by one of our best airmen, is bound for Alaska with the films where they will be picked up by another plane and taken to Indianapolis. As the films and this story are both flying to Indianapolis through the air—this story on radio waves—I wonder just where this story will pass our intrepid flyer who has instructions to fly at top speed all the way.

Will Return Soon

Captain Kleinenschmidt, leader of our party, gave instructions to all of us to rest today, because we have had a strenuous time lately. We must soon be getting into condition for the long, cold trip back to civilization.

Our most important work is done. We have found the home of Santa Claus and were cordially received. We have taken the movies we sought and in many other ways this trip has been more of a success than we dared hope—as all of you, who have been reading this series of stories, know.

I spent practically the entire day inside Santa's castle. Most of the day in that library of his I like so well, because in it are books containing the name and record of every boy and girl in the world.

Here are the names of some Indianapolis and Indiana boys and girls I copied out of Santa's books today:

Howe, Margaret Scott, Marjorie Ann Norris, Adeline Virginia Miller, Daisy Lynch, John McMasters, Earl Lawrence, Harry F. Eskimo Children Pay Santa Visit

This telephoto picture from Holly Berry, Times correspondent with the expedition in Eskimoland to find the home of Santa Claus, shows a group of fortunate Eskimo children, who visited the kindly old man, after breakfast yesterday morning. Holly Berry sent this message by radio with the picture: "Santa insisted on posing with Eskimo children. Said to tell Indianapolis boys and girls that he is sorry he cannot pose with them."

Bicknell Truck Driver Is Freed From Barbed Wire Trap.

By United Press

BICKNELL, Ind., Dec. 1.—The vigorous application of several large pairs of snips and a couple of crowbars by nearby farmers probably saved the life of Pete Scott of this city after he had completed a heretofore unsuccessful maneuver and become entangled in a barbed wire cage.

Roaring down a hill approaching a railroad crossing near Edwardsport about a mile-a-minute, Scott suddenly lost control of the truck he was driving. He made a shoot to the right side of the road into a farmer's fence, knocked down the fence, uprooted five posts, rolled about twenty-five yards of the barbed wire fence in a nice big ball and stopped within a few feet of a telephone pole.

Scott, working at a garage here, had taken the truck out to tow in another car which was stalled with a broken axle. Although he got in a hurry, Scott received only a few scratches and bruises.

WAKE UP WITH COLD GONE, SAY DOCTORS

Advise Hospital Tested Method That Brings Relief Overnight Is Ideal for Home Use!

Head colds, coughs and chest colds may now be ended almost overnight by an economical home method approved by doctors at the health clinic. And druggists say that hundreds of Indianapolis people, like Mrs. Arthur Price, have been surprised to find how quickly it brings results, even in severe cases where all other remedies used have failed.

Fearing pneumonia as her cold got worse, Mrs. Price called the clinic for advice. Her head and chest were congested; she felt "feverish" and the inflammation was spreading down into her bronchial tubes. The doctors then recommended Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a concentrated mixture of ingredients, which hospitals have found to be quickest, safest and surest to end colds.

With the first pleasant spoonful she felt the comforting, healing warmth—from her nose and you feel like a different person tomorrow. Hospital directions with each bottle. At all druggists, 60c; twice as much in $1.00 hospital size.

Doctors find that this hospital medicine does far more than stop coughing instantly. It goes straight to the seat of a stubborn head cold or chest cold. Absorbed through the skin and into the body system, it quickly checks began, heals inflammation and drives out the cold from the nose, passages, throat and chest.

Just a few spoonfuls of spoonful of Ayer's Pectoral now and you feel like a different person tomorrow. Hospital directions with each bottle. At all druggists, 60c; twice as much in $1.00 hospital size.
