Democratic Candidate Tries to Connect Financiers
With Politics.

By Times Special
ANDERSON, Ind., Jan. 11.—Instead of investigating "international bankers" at Republican State Chairman Clyde A. Walb's request, Senator James Reed's committee might well have probed the contract between banks and politics in Indiana, said Walter Myers, Indianapolis attorney, at the Jackson day banquet here Tuesday night.

A large turnout of Madison County Democrats heard Myers' fiery arraignment of political corruption.

"In the campaign of 1926, Clyde Walb, as State chairman of the Republican party," said Myers, "charged that international bankers were committing offenses in Indiana in support of the Democratic party; and he was so sure about it that he telegraphed to Senator Reed of Missouri to come here and investigate."

"Senator Reed came. Not a word of evidence was presented against any international bankers. But there was a world of evidence about the false politicians who already had misled the honest Republican voters and were trying to mislead the honest Democrats, too."

"Within the last couple of weeks, an indictment against Mr. Walb shows that there was enough evidence to convince the Federal grand jury that not international bankers, but local bankers in Indiana are charged with offenses."

"The regrettable thing is that now the banking system is smeared with the same stuff that has besmirched politics."

Frank C. Dalley, Democratic candidate for nomination for Governor, said Indiana's political situation today is the result of "a system that must be uprooted in its entirety." He blamed present Republican leadership.

TOOK DOCTOR'S ADVICE —COLD GONE NEXT DAY

Any Here Find Way to End
Colds Overnight at Home
by Hospital Tested Method

By taking the advice of her doctor and using a method that has relieved even the most extreme hospital cases, Miss Agnes L. White, like numbers of Indianapolis people, found the quickest way to get rid of a stuffy cold.

Miss White, for example, had neglected her cold several days in the hope that it would clear up of its own accord. Instead, it started settling in her nose passages and chest. She began to feel feverish, and finally called the clinic for advice, when her mother feared pneumonia.

Relief began almost immediately when doctors gave her double doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a concentrated mixture of wild cherry, terpin-hydrate and other ingredients used in treating even the most extreme hospital cases. She felt its comforting warmth instantly—from her nose passages deep down into her chest. In a few hours the redness of her eyes was gone; her nose passages began to clear up and in another day or so, doctors report, the cold was completely gone.

Marry Young, Advice of Golden Wedding Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund P. Thompson

Edmund P. Thompson, Wife to Receive Friends on Anniversary.

Mary young and grow up together. That is the advice of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund P. Thompson, 506 E. Nineteenth St., who will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were married when she was 17 and he 20, at the home of Mrs. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harbard Fansler, who were early settlers in Jopla, Ind. Mr. Thompson's family home was at Lebanon, Ind.

According to Mr. Thompson, the theory that opposites are best mated has proved successful in his marriage.

"Laura, my wife, has a nature diametrically opposed to mine. She is vivacious and talkative, while I am reserved and somewhat studious," said Thompson.

Mrs. Thompson believes that a pleasant home, punctual meals and the practice of compromising in slight disagreements are good suggestions to have a long, happy married life.

"Above all," Mrs. Thompson warned young couples, "marry only for love, for you soon will realize that money or position will not be compensation for a loveless match."

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will receive relatives and friends Friday afternoon and night. They will be assisted by three of their children who reside in Indianapolis, Ray and Farrell Thompson, and Mrs. Edith Hedge. The couple has four other children and ten grandchildren.

All Space Assigned for Spring Automobile Show

Seventeenth Annual Exhibit
at Fairground Will Open
Feb. 13.

The seventeenth annual spring automobile show to be held in the auto building of the Indiana State Fairground, Feb. 13-18, is off to a good start, in the opinion of John Orman, active manager.

Every inch of passenger car space has been assigned to the various local dealers, who will display thirty-three different makes of cars.

All the new models announced by the different manufacturers will be on display when the door of the building are thrown open, Monday night, Feb. 13, at 7 o'clock. The show will be held under the auspices of the Indianapolis Automobile Trade Association.

In order to provide for the overflow of cars, the trade association was compelled to reduce the space given over to accessory display by more than one-half. For the same reason, truck and commercial car space was curtailed, although a good showing of this type of vehicle is assured.

The approaching show will mark the twentieth anniversary of the incorporation of the association which took out incorporation papers in 1908. It will be the thirty-second auto show managed by Orman. Decorations for the auto building will be decided upon some time this week.

Officers of the association are: R. H. Losey, president; T. E. Byrne, vice president; Harry A. Sharp, treasurer, and O. M. Jones, secretary. Directors include Robert S. Armacost, William H. Ehrlich, Walter W. Kuhn, T. A. Bell and R. V. Law.

DELAY SEEN IN SELECTION OF COLISEUM SITE

Slack Apparently Against Action Until He Can Study Matter.

Selection of the site for the proposed municipal coliseum may be delayed by Mayor L. Ed Slack, it was believed at City Hall today.

President J. Edward Krause has called the next meeting of the coliseum board for Jan. 24 to consider site selection. Mayor Slack, who attended his first meeting Tuesday, announced some business wanted to appear before the board on "general coliseum matters." Slack said he promised them an audience at the next meeting.

Krause said he did not understand how anyone in the community could be uninformed on the coliseum subject, since it had been discussed for twenty-five years.

Doubts Their Substance
"It is impossible for me to believe that anyone who has had a part in shaping the city's affairs still could be asking 'Why a coliseum?' Mr. Mayor, I'll not ask their names, but are they substantial citizens?" Krause inquired.

"I thought they were substantial or I would not have suggested they appear before this body," Slack retorted.

Slack's platform for Indianapolis contained this plank: "Advance our reputation as a convention city and build an adequate coliseum on a carefully selected site," but Slack has not promised to erect the municipal building during his administration.

The present board, named by John L. Daryl, former mayor, worked harmoniously for several months, finally narrowing the sites to three possible locations. The board personnel frequently has changed with the numerous city hall shakeups.

Would Study Further
It is believed Slack will not approve selection of the site at the next meeting, but will insist on further study of possible locations in accordance with his own ideas.

Realtors argued for the three remaining sites, bounded by: Alabama, New Jersey, Ohio and Market Sts.; Vermont, New York, Alabama and New Jersey Sts.; Pennsylvania, Delaware, North and Walnut Sts., facing the Indiana World War Memorial Plaza.

At last a good use has been found for playing that lonely card game was told by Dr. W. B. Needles of Chicago at the Indiana Association of Optometrists convention at the Severn Tuesday.

Eye strain, he said, is caused by a hampering of the blood flow because of extended contraction of muscles. Exercise stimulates the circulation by alternate contraction and relaxation.

"The amount of our energy is relative to the size of the back of the head," he said.

VIOLENT DEATH INCREASE LAID TO HOME LIFE

50 Per Cent More Murders
Committed Last Year,
Coroner Reports.

Lack of old-fashioned home training and the fast paces of modern life were blamed for large increase in murders and suicides in Marion County in 1927, in the annual report of Coroner Charles H. Keever today.

An increase of almost 50 per cent in murders last year over 1926 was shown. There were forty-two murders in 1927 to twenty-eight in the preceding year. Suicides for 1927 jumped from fifty-three to eighty-six. Three children were murdered in 1927, while one child committed suicide, the report showed.

Home Life Blamed
Keever said that the increase in murders and suicides was not only a local affair, but was noticeable through the country.

"The social condition of many of the homes and the almost nerve-racking pace people are living in is responsible for the increase," Keever said. "In many cases there is no child home life and this also tends to make crime increase."

Seven hundred fifty-six persons met violent death, the report shows. The coroner interviewed 4,218 persons in an effort to place responsibility for the deaths. In 1926 2,434 witnesses were heard in 714 cases.

During the year, 156 persons, including 124 adults and thirty-two children, met violent death, classified as "miscellaneous deaths" in the report. The Graystone Hotel fire, Nov. 13, when eight adults and one child lost their lives, was the greatest contributor to this classification, the report said.

Fifty-One Pedestrians Die
Twenty-four persons were killed in interurban-automobile accidents during 1927. Of this number twenty were killed in the Sahara Grotto accident at Emerson Ave. and the Union Traction Company line. Five persons were killed in interurban crashes, six persons in street car accidents and one person in a street car-automobile accident.

Automobile accidents were responsible for the deaths of eighty-one, of whom fifty-one were pedestrians and thirty passengers. Twenty-four persons met death in railroad accidents, while five were killed in automobile-train crashes.

Keever's report shows that there were 107 automobiles held in 1927 compared with ninety-eight the previous year. The report shows that 129 more cases were taken care of in the last six months than in the first of 1927. Keever was appointed coroner in July taking the place of Dr. Paul F. Robinson, who was fatally injured in a automobile accident in June.

Assisting the coroner are Dr. Otto H. Bakemeier and Lawrence A. Lewis, deputy coroners; Edward Schubert, bailiff, and Miss Carrie L. Johnson, office clerk.

Supreme Court Holds Case
Against Alleged Liquor
Maker Insufficient.

Because John Baugh's 82-year-old mother claimed ten quarts of peach brandy found in his father's farmhouse in Monroe County belonged to her and because officers were unable to prove white mule parts of a still and mash found 200 yards of the house belonged to him, Baugh won a reversal of his Monroe Circuit Court liquor conviction in the Supreme Court.

Baugh was convicted on three counts, possession, manufacture and operation of a still. He was fined $30 and sentenced to thirty days imprisonment on the first two counts and given a sentence from one to five years on the third count.

According to evidence of officers who raided the farm, they found the brandy and a gallon glass jug holding about a spoonful of mule in the house. A 50-gallon barrel of what appeared to be dry cracked corn, a barrel of mash and five gallons of mule were found about 200 yards from the house with parts of a still.

Baugh sells milk and meat and is the sole support of his parents, he set forth.

Judge Clarence R. Martin wrote the decision which held there was insufficient evidence to prove Baugh owned or operated the still or owned the liquor.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all cough drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu.
