

KITSELMAN IS PICKED TO HEAL G. O. P. BREACH

Agreement Between Watson and Goodrich Factions Is Predicted.

By ROBERT BEARD
Republican State committeemen were back in their thirteen districts today interpreting for district and county organizations the significance of the election late Thursday of Edwin Fay Kitzelman, wealthy Muncie manufacturer, to the State chairmanship.

Kitzelman's election was a relief to bickering committeemen and party leaders after a day and a night of conferences and arguments that threatened embarrassment for Senator James E. Watson and his State organization.

The Muncie man's name was brought before the committee by his close friend, Jesse T. Moorman of Winchester, committee treasurer, when closed-door debates over the chairmanship grew dangerously intense.

Kitzelman's election was regarded as a healing of differences within the party.

Although it may not bring factional leaders together, it was regarded likely that the committee's action would bring agreement between Watson and Goodrich-Hays-New factions on a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor.

Elected Unanimously

The way was paved for Kitzelman's election when the committee finally agreed the successor to the post resigned by Clyde A. Walb of La Grange should be filled by a man outside the committee.

Moorman hastily called Kitzelman in New York, and overcoming Kitzelman's reluctance, prevailed on him to accept the post with assurance that another chairman would be chosen at the regular meeting in May.

Committeemen filed back into the meeting room at the Severin Hotel and elected the Muncie man unanimously.

He was nominated by Lawrence Cartwright of Portland, Eighth district chairman. The nomination was seconded by Clarence Brown of Richmond, Sixth district chairman.

Mary Sleeth Is Elected

Miss Mary Sleeth, who directed the woman's division in the last campaign and is Sixth district vice chairman, was nominated by Jesse L. Murden of Peru, Eleventh district chairman, to succeed Mrs. Vivian T. Wheatcraft as State vice chairman, and was elected without opposition.

May 23 and 24 were selected as dates for the State convention in Tomlinson Hall.

Resolutions in memory of the late Albert J. Beveridge and Joseph B. Keating were adopted; the $10,000,000 corn borer appropriation measure before Congress was approved and indorsement given a report of the business record of Republican State officials.

Kitzelman is 56, is secretary-treasurer and general manager of Kitzelman Brothers, manufacturers of wire fence and wire products; secretary of the Indiana Steel and Wire Company, and vice president of the Muncie Oil and Engine Company, all Muncie industries.

Ex-Goodrich Associate

Although Kitzelman has been a heavy contributor to Republican campaign funds for a number of years, he has not sought public office nor been closely identified with the party organization. His only official connection was as Eighth district delegate to the Republican national convention in 1920, and in 1926 when he was active in Watson's primary organization.

While managing the Rock Oil Gas Company at Winchester for several years, Kitzelman was associated with James P. Goodrich.

CANADA KILLER DIES BY NOOSE

'Strangler' Charged With Score of Murders.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 13.—Earle Nelson, "Gorilla Strangler," ascended the thirteen steps of the gallows here shortly after 7:30 a. m., on this Friday, the thirteenth, and paid with his life for the murder of Mrs. Emily Patterson.

The trap was sprung at 7:41. Nelson was charged with more than a score of strangulation murders in the United States and Canada.

Nelson maintained his composure to the last. He continued to declare he was innocent until his weak protests were muffled by the black hood pulled over his head.

Nelson was the 13th man hanged on the Manitoba scaffold.

The murders attributed to the "Strangler" all took place under similar circumstances. In each case the victim was strangled with a towel and her body stuffed under a bed.

COOLIDGE WILL BOARD SPECIAL FOR KEY WEST

Train Awaits Presidential Party for Start of Havana Trip.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—A special train awaited President and Mrs. Coolidge here today, ready to transport them on a thirty-one-hour run to Key West, Fla., where, in company with an official delegation, they will sail for Havana to attend the sixth International Conference of Pan-American States.

While the President attended to a last-minute rush of business, Mrs. Coolidge sought a brief rest after a hurried trip to Northampton, Mass., where she visited her sick mother.

Departure of the presidential train was scheduled for early afternoon. The American delegation to the conference, headed by Charles Evans Hughes, former Secretary of State, were to accompany the Coolidges.

A majority of the party of eighty-six, the largest ever to accompany a President, were newspaper correspondents and photographers.

Except for a stop in Miami, Fla., last Saturday, the train was to have noninterrupted passage, enabling the Coolidge party to board the battleship Texas at Key West, early Sunday.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge will be entertained by President Machado in Havana. Mr. Coolidge will address the conference at its opening session Monday. In the evening he and Mrs. Coolidge, their immediate party and the American delegation, will be entertained at dinner by the Cuban executive.

The return trip will start early Tuesday with only one stop scheduled, except brief pauses incident to train operation. The Coolidges will be in Jacksonville, Fla., for about an hour early Wednesday, and will arrive here the next day.
