

BITTER COLD GRIPS EAST; VESSELS REPORTED IN PERIL

MERCURY WILL FALL FURTHER; FOUR ARE DEAD

Thousands of Dollars' Loss Along Coast; Two Ships in Distress.

GALE WORST IN YEARS

Liner Captains Say Voyages Were Most Difficult of Their Lives.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The severe cold spell that gripped the East over a week-end, coming after a windstorm had lashed the coast, continued today, with prospects of even lower temperatures and possibly more snow.

Four deaths were attributed indirectly to the cold; shipping was imperiled, with more than twenty vessels seeking one last coast guard cutter and one freighter reported in danger; and acute suffering was felt in the tenement districts.

Coast guard cutter No. 107 has been reported officially missing since Saturday night, while the Norwegian freighter Arica last night radioed for assistance. The latter vessel was reported in danger owing to broken steering equipment.

Damage Is Heavy
The furious windstorm that whipped the East Friday, causing thousands of dollars damage, apparently swept out to sea and greatly endangered all shipping.

The French liner Rochambeau and the United States liner George Washington came into port yesterday and their commanders said the trips across had been terrible.

"It was the worst storm in my thirty-three years of sailing an Atlantic liner," Capt. L. Rollin of the French boat said. He said the storm lasted for six days. Capt. Harold Cunningham of the George Washington, who will take command of the Leviathan, succeeding Capt. Herbert Hartley, concurred in this statement.

It was feared that the coast guard cutter may have been caught in the fog end of the storm and whipped on the rocks. More than twenty coast guard vessels have been detailed to look for the cutter, which carries a crew of ten.

Will Aid Freighter

These relief vessels also probably will give aid to the Arica, reported about 170 miles off Cape May, bound from Norfolk to Bordeaux.

In the metropolitan area the suffering was acute. One man was found dead from the cold in New Jersey, another man slipped and fell to death, while two others were killed when their motor car plunged through a guard rail into the Gowanus canal. They had been blinded by flying snow.

All the relief organizations reported increased numbers of way-farers seeking relief from the cold. Mr. Zero's office accommodated more than 500 additional persons. Many of these were sent to work for the city to clean the streets of snow.

Thousands Clear Streets
More than 12,000 workers were used to clear the two and a half inch layer of snow that covered the city's streets.

While the cold and snow brought suffering to many, it brought joy to the youngsters, many of whom received sleds for Christmas and had no opportunity to use them until Sunday.

The snow was drifted by a hard wind and there were many slides made. Central Park was filled Sunday with sleds, many of whom were grown persons. Skating also was popular.

Washington Is Snowbound

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Washington continued today to dig itself out from its second worst snowstorm in twenty-five years. Near-zero temperatures hampered the hundreds of men employed at clearing away Saturday's snow, which in some cases was piled several feet deep by icy winds over the week-end.

Two deaths were traceable to the storm. Snow packed in by traffic brought out many horse-drawn sleighs, thousands of sleds and occasional skis. Skidding automobiles struck two boys on sleds and injured five pedestrians.

Countess Nobile Pio Macchi di Cellere, attaché at the Italian embassy, avoided arrest by claiming diplomatic immunity after his car passed out of control on an ice-coated street and struck down Charles E. Hall, 26.

Maj. Robert H. Taft, lecturer on Newfoundland, stalled his car in an eight-foot snowdrift near Perryville, Md., last night, found himself unable to proceed on horseback or on foot and disappointed a lecture audience here, including Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador.

Airman Repairs Craft and Proceeds on Dash to South America.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 30.—Capt. Joseph F. Donnellan planned to leave here today for Atlanta, Ga., on the second leg of his South American good will flight.

Leaving Chicago yesterday, Captain Donnellan was forced down at Paoli, Ind., with a broken oil line. Repairing this, he landed here two hours behind schedule.

From Atlanta he planned to go to Miami and then to Havana. An 800-mile jump to Tela, Honduras, will follow his Havana stop.

The flight is backed by W. W. Dwyer of Chicago, who said the purpose was to establish commercial contact with South America and prove that regular Latin-American air service was practical.

Donnellan planned to visit Managua, Nicaragua; Panama City, Buena Ventura, Colombia; Guayaquil, Ecuador, and cities in Peru and Chile. The return trip will take him through Mexico and Texas.

Attaches of the Indianapolis airport sighted a strange plane about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, flying approximately three miles west of the field, in the general direction of Louisville. They had no way of ascertaining definitely that it was the Donnellan plane.

Earlier in the day another craft passed over Schoon field. Soldiers who saw it had not been notified of the Donnellan flight and could not say whether the plane was that of the South American flier.

CASKET FIRM OPTION IS STUDIED BY JUDGE

Baltzell Hears Arguments on Richmond Company Case.

Arguments on a motion to set aside the report of Carl Wilde, referee in bankruptcy, holding an option on the Wayne Works Company plant at Richmond as part of the assets of the Richmond Casket Company were heard today by Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell.

The option, held by the casket company, was assigned to Frank H. Millikan, Indianapolis, by Joseph H. Mills, casket company president, as consideration for return of $10,000 stock of the Mills-Feltman Realty Company which Mills had sold Millikan with the promise to repurchase. Wilde, in his report, held the transaction was a personal matter between Mills and Millikan and the option should be considered among the casket company assets.

Baltzell will rule later.

WOMAN ADMITS DEATH THREATS

Writer of Extortion Letters Held at Frankfort.

FRANKFORT, Ind., Jan. 30.—Mrs. Faye Brinberry, 23, blonde writer of five extortion letters to business men here, threatening their wives with death unless she was given money, is suspected of being the writer of a sixth missive received after she was taken into custody.

The latest letter was addressed to A. M. Richards and found when he removed several days accumulation of his mail from a postoffice box.

The letter is said to be along the same lines as the other five. Authorities were consulting a handwriting expert in Indianapolis today on a theory that Mrs. Brinberry had an accomplice.

Desire for "easy money" prompted the letter writing, the woman told authorities. She is the estranged wife of Virgil Brinberry, who was a recipient of one of the menacing missives. Mrs. Brinberry has retained a lawyer for her defense. Her father is here from Rardin, Ill., to assist her.

Investigation of a supposedly incendiary fire at a rooming house at 303 N. East St. at 2 a. m. today was ordered by Police Sergeant Clifford Richter, who helped seven occupants to escape from the smoke-filled residence in their night clothing.

Three mattresses on beds on the first floor had been saturated with kerosene and two of them ignited, Richter said. Papers in the basement also had been ignited. Mr. and Mrs. George Jeandette, Apt. 1, were awakened by the smoke and sounded the alarm. Others who escaped were Sam Jones, William S. Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. William Hedspelt and A. J. Allison. Most of the persons lived on the second floor, and had the blaze gained any headway would have been unable to escape, Richter reported.

HAVANA CARNIVAL OPEN
Five-Week Celebration Starts With Parade of Masqueraders.

HAVANA, Jan. 30.—Havana's annual carnival season opened Sunday.

Pan-Americanism, which absorbed the interest of Havana here for the past two weeks at the sixth Pan-American conference, yielded place to the goddess of revelry as the entire city turned out to initiate the opening of the carnival, which will continue five weeks with public parades every Sunday.

From four until eight o'clock Sunday, thousands of decorated motor cars and floats filled with masqueraders rolled in a solid procession along the Prado and the Malecon, the two greatest boulevards of Havana.

PLAN NO TARIFF CHANGE
Administration Serves Notice on Agitators in House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The administration, through House Leader Tilton, served notice today upon western farm Republicans and Democrats who have been agitating tariff revision that there will be no revision at this session.

Political considerations make it impossible, Tilton said.

Democrats want downward revision on manufactured articles while farm leaders have put up many resolutions for an upward revision on farm products.

REMY SHOULD QUIT TONIGHT, SHOUTS CAREY

Lawyer's Demand Follows Tirade on Prosecutor by County Councilman.

Prosecutor William H. Remy should resign tonight in the opinion of Attorney Walter Carey, 708 Pidelity Bldg.

This challenge was made by Carey before the county council today. It followed on the heels of scathing denunciation of Remy by County Councilman Paul Dunn.

Dunn launched the tirade when he became irate on taking his seat for the council meeting. He found a slip of paper on the seat bearing the legend, "Coffin's Pocket Edition." It was placed there by some joker.

He denied that he was bossed by Republican County Chairman George V. Coffin and denounced Remy and the political investigations conducted here. Opening for the speech came when a bill for an additional $780 for corruption probe expenditures was before the council for approval.

Tired of Probe Bills
"Remy ought to give us $1,000 back out of his $7,500," Dunn declared. "All he does is sit around. I have talked to taxpayers and judges and they all say that they are tired of seeing these constant bills for political probe expenditures. It ought to be stopped. The county should not be made to pay for fostering Remy's political ambitions, just because he wants to be attorney general or something."

"I suppose Emile Johnson wants to be a Congressman, now that John Holtzman has been taken care of. He shouldn't depend on the county for funds."

Holtzman is now corporation controller. He and Johnson were aids of Remy in probing political corruption.

State's Laughing Stock
At this juncture Carey took the floor and talked so loud that a crowd gathered. He said $23,000 had been paid out for probing and the result thus far was two men found guilty of misdemeanors and paying small fines.

"Why should the county pay huge sums for carrying on a factional political fight," Carey continued. "The taxpayers are sick of it. Marion county has become the laughing stock of the State. I have written against Holtzman and Johnson, but if Remy and his army of deputies can't handle the prosecutor's office, let him resign tonight. There is no statute that provides for payment of these special funds for assistants."

BILL PROVIDES VETERANS' CARE

Permits Filing for Insurance at Any Time.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—An omnibus bill providing additional care for disabled war veterans was introduced today by Representative Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota, chairman of the House Disabled Veterans Committee.

The measure would effect 100,000 veterans and cost $10,000,000 the first year, with smaller sums thereafter.

It would do the following things: Permit World War veterans to file for converted Government insurance at any time.

Grant family allowances for permanently as well as temporary disabled veterans, a provision affecting 75,000 veterans and involving $4,365,000.

After remaining dark over Sunday, the Coliseum opened in a blaze of glory this morning and the 300 or more cars on display were ready for the close inspection of the thousands of critical motorists, who are well aware of the fact that this year's automobiles represent the greatest value the industry has ever known.

Talk of further reductions in prices, has diminished to a considerable extent, and automobile men are speaking in terms of "a battle of value" rather than a price war.
