

FINDING THE HUMAN TOUCH IN POETRY

Rupert Brooke's Pen Is Still, but the Beauty of His Poetry Lives On and Becomes Classical in Its Truth as Its Fame Goes Marching On.

BY WALTER D. HICKMAN
Rupert Brooke sleeps the sleep of years in his grave in Scyros, but his fame goes marching on.
Thousands of us will never have a chance to visit that grave, but we can have his collected poems in our homes.
I have often been asked who publishes his complete works and I find that Dodd, Mead and Company have a beautiful edition of Brooke's poems.

I favor this edition because his poems are grouped between year periods which shows his human and artistic growth.

In the 1908-1911 group you will find "Day That I Have Love," "Wagner," "The Vision of the Archangels," "Failure," "Seaside" and many others of that period.

In the 1912-1914 group, you will find the sonnets, also "Dust," "Kindness," "Dining Room Tea," "Day and Night," "Dead Men's Love," "Town and Country" and others.

In the 1915 group, one encounters his thoughts on war, such as "Peace," "Safety," "The Dead," "The Soldier" and "The Treasure."

It remains for "The South Seas" division to give us "The Great Lover" which is a classic in its human charm and beauty.

Then under "Other Poems," we find "The Busy Heart," "Love," "Fortunate," "Home," "The Way That Lovers Use" and the beloved "The Funeral of Youth," which reminds one of "Everyman" in short verse.

This volume also includes "Grantchester," a biographical note and an introduction by George Edward Woodberry.

The Human Touch
Rupert Brooke lived such few years, but he craved so much life, beauty, thought and action into his

SAYS RHEUMATIC ACHES AND PAINS HAVE VANISHED

Konjola Gave Blessed Relief to Local Citizen; Cleansed Poison From System, He States.

"I developed an awful case of rheumatic trouble, which came to be so painful that I could hardly stand it, and yet, as bad as I had been, this Konjola compound seemed to cleanse all the poisons from my system and blessed relief came so quickly that I was surprised," said Mr. John W. Carver, well-known Indianapolis citizen, living at 515 North Delaware Street, this city, during a recent conversation with The Konjola Man, who is at Hook's Drug Store, Illinois and Washington St. where crowds are calling daily to learn more about this amazing new medical preparation.

"Yes, my rheumatic aches and pains have vanished," said Mr. Carver, "and I had no idea that such a short treatment of any medicine would so completely relieve my trouble."

"I had been affected mostly across my back and through my hips. When I would go to move a certain way, either when walking or turning sideways in bed, I would get a sharp, terrific pain that seemed to come suddenly like a shock, and it certainly was miserable. Of course, I ached continually, but when these sharp pains would grab me I felt like I just couldn't stand the suffering another minute. If I attempted to rise from a sitting position, I had to hold to something and be careful not to twist a certain way. At nights I was subject to these attacks, which broke up my rest so that I could seldom get a night's sleep. I would wake every morning feeling so terrible that I was misery to even dress myself. I couldn't even fire the furnace—and I tell you this rheumatism is awful."

"I began on this Konjola as soon as I learned what it was doing for so many Indianapolis people, and as I said, it relieved me very quick. I got up in the mornings and dress without a bit of pain now, and I sleep fine all night long and can bend and twist any way I care to. The pains in my back, hips and limbs are all relieved, and it's a blessing now that I have no fear of these awful attacks of pain and suffering as I experienced before. I've been helped in many other ways by Konjola, and my whole body has a new feeling of health all over. I can put in a good day's work now, and feel like doing lots of lifting and other things that require strength."

"After all this relief from rheumatism, I surely take pleasure in making a public indorsement of Konjola."

The Konjola Man is at the Hook Drug Store, Illinois and Washington Sts., Indianapolis, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Konjola is sold by every Hook store in this city and by all druggists throughout this section.—Advertisement.

life that his record reads like one wonderful power, touched here and there by the strains of a great sympathy.

Probably the blue waters near Scyros are keeping up that sympathy of his life as he sleeps the great sleep.

I notice in my volume of his poems, that my edition totals the eighty-sixth thousand and since then the record has gone up.

Brooke was born in Rugby on Aug. 3, 1897, and died on a French hospital ship at Scyros on Friday, April 23, 1915, and as Margaret Lavington writes, "died for England."

Brooke was beloved by all those who knew him—he knew the great and those just human. Even when he was in training camp he wrote seven sonnets which had more truth in them about war than hundreds of histories about war contain.

I became interested in the life of Brooke and his poetry through Dick Halliburton. Halliburton tells you about his visit to Brooke's grave in "The Glorious Adventure."

To me, Brooke is the most human and the most beautiful of all the modern poets.

You have missed great beauty and a wonderful friend if you are not acquainted with this glorious boy who now sleeps on and one, but whose poetry goes marching on.

Little Green Capsules Stop Rheumatic Agony

Hook's Dependable Drug Stores Offer 5-Day Trial on Money-Back Basis.

There's nothing in the world that brings such quick and complete relief from the pain and misery that makes life almost unbearable as those tiny green capsules known from coast to coast as Allenhu Number 2.

More than one man and woman whom horrible rheumatism has been carrying down to helplessness—suffering the torture of the damned can testify to this.

All you have to do is take one tiny capsule each hour for the first ten hours the next day one every two hours for 14 hours then take as directed.

In spite, however, of all the claims made for Allenhu Number 2—in spite of the remarkable results obtained by others these little green capsules must prove themselves in your particular case. For that reason Hook's Dependable Drug Stores and good druggists everywhere have been authorized to make this guarantee: If after taking one full bottle Allenhu Number 2 as directed you are not satisfied—go back and get your money.—Advertisement.

Broadcasts Good News

"I was rundown in health and was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I did so and in a short time was on the road to health and rid of all the unpleasant feelings. Since then when I notice any such symptoms I take one of these remedies, usually the 'Favorite Prescription,' and it soon puts me in good condition. Dr. Pierce's remedies are unlike most of the other remedies which I tried—with Dr. Pierce's you always obtain benefit."—Mrs. Carl Ernest, 138 Irving St., Peoria, Ill.

Every druggist has these medicines in both fluid and tablet form. Write Dr. Pierce, President of the Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., and send 10c for trial pkg. of tablets.—Advertisement.

Many Enter Small Foot Contest

Small feet—from the beginning of time the mark of aristocracy and high breeding—are just as frequently found in Indianapolis as in any other American city, as results in the Cinderella Contest are showing.

By Monday morning there was a stack of "small feet" outlines waiting on the Cinderella editor's desk of The Times, and every mail since then has been bringing in other entries.

The Cinderella contest is being held by Carrie of the team of Carrie and Eddie, featured dancers in the Petite Revue at B. F. Keith's this week, to determine whether there are women in Indianapolis who have feet as small or smaller than those of this dainty dancer.

If there are none as tiny as Carrie's, then the smallest in Indianapolis will be counted as the prize-winning pedal extremities, and will win, as the first prize, a pair of $18 1/2 Miller shoes.

In order to enter the contest it is only necessary to send to the Cinderella contest editor of The Times an outline of your foot without a
