

Canzoneri 8 to 5 Favorite to Beat Benny Bass at New York Tonight

Bud's Claim of Foul Blow Is Disallowed

Sangor Awarded Technical K. O.; Hoosier Is Carried Out of Ring.

By United Press
CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Joey Sangor, Milwaukee featherweight, victor over Bud Taylor by a technical knockout Thursday night, appeared today as the outstanding Western contender for the featherweight crown at stake tonight in the Canzoneri-Bass fight in New York.

Sangor was awarded a technical knockout over Taylor, world's bantamweight champion. Taylor's claim of foul, raised when he was unable to answer the bell for the eighth round, was not recognized. Taylor went down from a body blow. He failed to recover, or did not choose to, in a five-minute period, allotted by physicians and boxing commissioners, and the decision was given Sangor.

The five-minute rest period granted Taylor after his disallowed claim of foul was permitted under the rules of the Illinois boxing commission.

Taylor was carried to his dressing room. It was understood today he had recovered from effects of the blow. Thursday night's decision was Sangor's third victory in four fights with the Terre Haute man.

Up to the seventh round, the fight had been about even, Sangor's five-pound weight advantage apparently having little effect.

At weighing-in time, 3 p. m. Thursday, Sangor weighed 128 and Taylor 121. Taylor's bantam title was not at stake.

Midgits to Battle Fifteen Rounds for Featherweight Championship.

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Two midgits of the ring tonight will fight for the featherweight championship at Madison Square Garden, while the one-time master of that division, Johnny Dundee, looks on with praise.

Tony Canzoneri, the good-looking Italian from Brooklyn and the recognized champion in New York State, will mix-it for fifteen rounds with Benny Bass of Philadelphia, recognized champion by the National Boxing Association.

They are the recognized best of the East in this division. Canzoneri goes into the fight an 8 to 5 favorite. But there is plenty of Bass money and there are those inclined to believe that the vicious blows of the Philadelphia will batter down the little Italian. It must be remembered, however, that Canzoneri combines a powerful right with his fast, shifty attack.

The featherweight division has been without a full-fledged champion since Louis (Kid) Kaplan vacated his title in 1925.
