

BEST SPELLERS WILL GET TOUR OF WASHINGTON

Final Date in National Bee
Set for May 22; $2,500 in Prizes.

The National Spelling Bee sponsored by The Indianapolis Times and the Louisville Courier-Journal will be held in Washington, D. C., Tuesday, May 22, it was learned today.

Contests will be held in the National History Bldg. of the National Museum. A total of $2,500 prize money will be distributed among contestants and all spellers will be the guest of sponsoring newspapers for a series of sightseeing trips and theater parties.

The Indiana champion will be the guest of The Indianapolis Times.

Honors for Finalists

Spellers from the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades always receive special honors in the Capital City during their five-day stay. Congressmen of their home district usually escort them through various Government buildings and extend them special courtesies which ordinary visitors seldom receive.

Sightseeing trips include a visit to Washington monument, the Lincoln memorial and Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington near Alexandria, Va. Another favorite trip with spellers is one that includes the Franciscan Monastery and the St. Albans Cathedral.

One of the earlier tours shows the spellers the homes of famous statesmen and ambassadors and buildings where famous historical events have occurred.

"Spellers who compete in the finals may expect to leave Washington with an increased knowledge of their national government and its history," says Miss Flora E. Drake, assistant superintendent of Indianapolis schools, who accompanied the Indiana champion on the Washington trip in 1927.

Parochial Schools Enter

Indianapolis parochial schools have entered the Marion County contest and will name four spellers to compete in the State finals May 4 in Indianapolis.

Although the parochial schools use different text books than the public schools, word lists in the State contest will be compiled from the public school standard text book through previous agreement between heads of both organizations.

Since words in both books practically are the same, there will be little or no difference noted.

Miss Drake reports all arrangements complete for the local contest. The Marion County and Boone County contests are being arranged under the direction of Lee V. Swails and C. O. Caplinger, county superintendents.

SCHORTEMEIER BOOMED

Petition Urges Secretary to Run for Governor.

Petitions bearing 1,000 names of Shelbyville voters and calling upon Frederick E. Schortemeier, Secretary of State, to announce himself as a Republican gubernatorial candidate were presented him today by T. E. Goodrich, editor of the Shelbyville Republican, and Mayor James Emmert.

Schortemeier thanked them for their expression of good will and pledge of hearty support and stated that he would in a few days have an announcement to make concerning his candidacy.

Work at Airport

By Times Special

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 6.—This city's airport located on the Edwardsburg road six miles north-east of here is being prepared for the arrival this week of the Stano-lind, giant plane owned by the Standard Oil Company. It is planned to have the port, which covers 240 acres, in readiness for dedication and formal opening May 20.

Two at Normal Write Book

By Times Special

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 6.—Two members of the English department of the Indiana State Normal here have published the Wisely-Gifford Standardized English Exercises for use in junior and senior high schools. Prof. J. B. Wisely and Prof. Edward M. Gifford are the authors.

(NEA London Bureau)
Miss M. B. Carstairs, pride of England's motor boat racers, plans to skim across the Atlantic from Ireland to the United States in ninety hours in a seventy-eight foot hydroplane now under construction at the Isle of Wight.

SUNNYSIDE WATER IMPROVEMENTS DELAYED

Second Engineer Asked to Make Sanatorium Survey.

Permanent remedy of the water shortage situation at Sunnyside Tuberculosis Sanatorium will be delayed pending investigation by another private engineer.

County commissioners and the sanatorium board of managers agreed Wednesday to ask E. J. T. Jeup, engineer of the Indianapolis Water Company, to survey the situation and corroborate or refute findings of Harry T. Best, private engineer, who has recommended an $8,000 sedimentation basin type of plan.

Irving Lemaux of the board of managers and Commissioner Cassius L. Hogle took the position that they want another engineer to approve of the Best plan before it is put into operation.

L. U. Democrats Set Dinner Date

By Times Press

BLOOMINGTON, March 6.—Indiana University's Democratic students will hold their annual spring banquet April 12, according to Ewing Wright of Versailles, president of the Jackson Club. Albert J. Stump and Walter Myers, candidates for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate, will speak. Frank E. Dailey and Samuel Wells, candidates for nomination for Governor, are expected to attend.
