

MAIL PILOT DISCREDITS PUBLIC'S FEAR FOR LINDBERGH

DERIDES RUMOR OF ACE TAKING NEEDLESS RISKS

Major Robertson Pleads That Admirers Allow 'Slim' Privacy.

DENIES FLIER IS TIRED

Says 'Lone Eagle' Careful, but Would Be Heart Broken If Landbound.

BY FOSTER EATON
ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 7.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh wants the public to have confidence in his ability to fly without taking unnecessary risks, Maj. William B. Robertson, a friend and former air mail employer, said today.

"The public in general knows so little about flying—and he knows so much," Robertson told the United Press, "that criticism of his flights seems ridiculous to him. He goes safely or he doesn't go."

Robertson, a veteran pilot himself, contributed his bit of confidence in the "Lone Eagle" by saying:

"If 'Slim' thought conditions were right, I would never hesitate a minute to go with him, even though I personally might doubt the wisdom of a given flight. He uses his head."

Lindbergh has dedicated his life to the advancement of aeronautics, Robertson pointed out.

"It would break his heart now to be landbound by a lot of well-meaning but misinformed persons who fear for his personal safety—in which he has the keenest interest of any one alive."

"He uses excellent judgment. He takes to the air only after careful analysis of conditions he will meet on each flight."

Robertson was asked about the Colonel's recent night flight to Washington.

"I didn't particularly like the idea, but the moon was as bright as a dim sun and actually cast shadows. It was light enough to find any field."

Robertson scoffed into the background the rumor that Lindbergh was "all tired out" and going to a hospital for a complete rest.

"The idea is ridiculous," he said. "I flew with him from here to Boston and back since Washington's birthday, and I know it was a real vacation for him. He is in the best of health."

"He is tired of only one thing, and that is being met as a leading citizen everywhere he goes now. He

DANGER

Your tongue is the best barometer of your physical condition. Look at it every morning before breakfast. If it is coated with white, yellow or brown coloring, and does not have a clean red appearance, you are constipated and not well.

Heed Its Warning

Constipation causes more ailments than all other diseases, and is the result of not having a daily bowel movement. Sick-headache, indigestion, biliousness and sallow complexion follow. Ask your druggist for a 25c red paper package of CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS "Safe Laxative". Take a dose to-night and continue one pill after each meal. Don't stop—until your tongue is clean.

You will be surprised at the tonic effect this doctor's formula will have on you.

HEADACHE DROVE MAN FROM WORK

Kentuckian Tells How Taking Black-Draught Occasionally Relieved His Pains; Now Able to Put In Full Time.

How a few doses of Thedford's Black-Draught brought relief to a man who had been suffering from frequent spells of severe headaches, is told below in the statement of Mr. Charles F. Todd of Estesburg, near Waynesburg, Ky.

"I was suffering with nervous headaches. About once a week I would have these headaches, and have to quit work and go to bed for about twenty-four hours. I would have pains in my neck and right behind my right ear.

"A merchant of Estesburg saw me one day when I was suffering, and told me to try taking Black-Draught, which I did.

"I took a package home that night and took a few doses. It relieved me. From that time on I would take Black-Draught as soon as I felt like I was going to have one of those headaches—and they wouldn't come on.

"Every few weeks I take three or four doses of Black-Draught, and I feel so well and do my work, and don't lose any more time with headache.

"I haven't had a headache in six months, and, when I think of the time I have lost, and the pain I have suffered, I regret that I didn't hear of Black-Draught sooner. But I am feeling fine now."

Velma West Starts Her Journey to Woman's Reformatory for Life Term

By United Press
PAINESVILLE, Ohio, March 7.—A pretty and vivacious young woman who rebelled against the confinements of small-town life to such an extent that she killed her husband, today prepared to start paying for the rebellion behind the walls of a State prison.

And Velma West, former East Cleveland society girl, the woman smiled. The 21-year-old Perry (Ohio) housewife today was taken to Marysville (Ohio) Reformatory to begin serving a life sentence for the murder of her husband, T. Edward West, young nurseryman. Mrs. West, accompanied by deputy sheriffs, left by automobile for the State institution shortly before 7:30 a. m.

Tuesday she was in court garbed in somber black, with her cheeks highly rouged, and pleaded guilty. The plea was accepted and she was sentenced to life imprisonment in Marysville asylum.

"I am so happy," she said subsequently. "It is awful to think of prison, but my friends and relatives will be saved the ordeal of a long trial."

The sentence also saved her from the possibility of going to the electric chair—the punishment for first degree murder in Ohio. Then, too, there is possibility of parole, after ten years, from a second degree murder charge.

BURGLARS STEAL GUNS

Entire Home Is Ransacked, But Only Firearms Are Taken.

Burglars entered the home of Seth C. Klein, 4020 Central Ave., through a side door which had been left unlocked late Tuesday night and stole a revolver and two double-barreled shot guns. The entire house was ransacked, but the fire arms were the only loot the burglars got, Mrs. Klein told police.

The bill will allege Kiplinger aided Miss Mildred Meade, former confidante of D. C. Stephenson, one-time grand dragon of the Klan and L. G. Julian of Evansville, former business associate of the Klan leader, with removing subpoenas as grand jury witness, it is understood. Miss Meade returned to the city after being absent for more than two weeks and Julian walked into Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom's office after being gone about the same length of time. It is to be alleged Kiplinger paid the traveling expenses of the absent witnesses and directed them where to go.

Julian was heard of again recently when he was in Kokomo at the time Stephenson testified before the Howard County grand jury. Stephenson presented many documents to the jury on the same day that Julian was in conference with Olin R. Holt, attorney for Stephenson.

The three admitted they were transporting the liquor from Peoria to Columbus, Ohio. When the officers forced the car to the curb, Cropic drew a gun, but was disarmed by Bell.

The prisoners were to be given a hearing this afternoon before John W. Kern, United States commissioner, on Federal liquor charges.

FEUD IN G. O. P. RANKS SEEN AS EDITORS MEET

Committee's Indorsement of Governor Jackson Threatens Party Peace.

The recent indorsement of Governor Ed Jackson's administration by the Republican State committee in the face of State-wide editorial demands for his resignation, today threatened to inject discord into the two-day Golden Jubilee meeting of the Republican Editorial Association, Thursday and Friday, at the Columbia Club.

This was the admission of the vanguard of editors.

The resolutions committee, appointed by President James J. Patchell at the outset of the meeting, probably would be the center of the feud, if one arose.

Committee Hits Snag

Many Republican editors, it was understood, rankled under the action of the State committee a short time ago when in one breath it lauded E. Faye Kitselman, the new chairman, as an evidence of a "new deal" and then adopted unanimously a resolution indorsing Jackson's administration.

The resolution had been presented by Schuyler Haas, Seventh district chairman, and erstwhile corporation counsel and right-hand man to the convicted Mayor John L. Duvall.

The committee, the same day, held it to be "beyond its province" to set in accordance with requests from Thomas H. Adams, Vincennes publisher, and Arthur K. Remmel, editor of the Ft. Wayne News-Sentinel, asking Jackson's resignation be demanded by the committee.

Seek Peaceful Agreement

Similar requests probably would engulf the assembled editors in a pro and con Jackson feud, it was admitted. A peaceful "way around" may be found by a gentleman's agreement that no indorsement of Jackson's administration be asked of the convention in return for the promise of no attacks against him, editors believed.

"We were just celebrating my birthday," the wife explained and pointed to a cake covered with candles, which was on the table. A note written by Carmichael to his sister was also found. It read:

"Me and Pearl had a little trouble today. It is her birthday and she cut me."

The woman was taken to city prison and held on charges of assault and battery. The husband was taken to a doctor and the birthday party ended.

Published problems are to en-

gross the attention of the newspaper men at their business meeting that political candidates the length and breadth of the State, will be a favorite topic for corridor and private room discussion.

Registration Thursday

Registration will open at the club Thursday at 11 a. m. Everett E. Neal of Noblesville, Ind., will preside at the luncheon, when W. A. Moxley of the Goshen News-Times, will contrast "Newspapers in 1878 and 1928."

At the afternoon meeting, President James J. Patchell will make an address, announce committees and receive reports. Addresses on publishing problems will be followed by discussions.

Editors and their wives will be guests of the Republican State committee at dinner Thursday evening.

State Chairman E. Faye Kitselman, of Muncie, will preside. M. W. Pershing will relate the history of the association.

Secretary of State Frederick E. Schortemeyer will award the Lindsey loving cup for the best first page of a daily newspaper in the State outside of Indianapolis; the Schortemeyer cup for the best first page of a weekly newspaper; and the Willis cup for the best weekly editorial page.

LINDY STILL PLAYS 'MAN OF MYSTERY'

By United Press
WASHINGTON, March 7.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh continued to day to be a "man of mystery."

The airman, who returned to Washington suddenly Tuesday after making a flight to Belleville, Ill., the day before, immediately had his motor tuned up and his gas tanks filled at Bolling Field, but the plane supposedly was still there this morning.

At the Racquet Club, where Lindbergh slept a good part of Tuesday, the inference was given that the flier was still a guest, though this could not be verified early today.

J. Barr Peat, business associate of Lester J. Hendershot of Pittsburgh, Pa., inventor of the "fuelless" airplane motor, called at the Racquet Club Tuesday to keep an "appointment" with Lindbergh.

Mal. Thomas G. Lanphier of Sbridge, Mich., personal friend of Lindbergh and interested in the invention, also was reported to be at the club.

Hendershot and Peat have been here since Sunday, staying at one hotel and having their mail addressed to another in an attempt to keep their whereabouts secret.

In this they were aided by Lindbergh, who denied himself to reporters.

Rumors that the flying colonel intended to enter Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, for a rest were denied at the institution.

HASKETT WILL FILED

Estate Left to Widow and Daughter.

Estate of Orlando D. Haskett, president of the O. D. Haskett Lumber Company, who killed himself in his office Sunday by swallowing poison, is left to his widow, Mrs. Elma T. Haskett, and daughter, Mrs. Reba E. Miers, by will filed in Probate Court.

The Fletcher Savings and Trust Company is named executor and trustee.

At the deaths of the widow and daughter and their survivors charity organizations will benefit.

At such deaths the trustee is directed to pay $1,000 to the Masonic Grand Lodge for the Masonic Home at Franklin; $1,000 to the Fairview Presbyterian Church, Indianapolis; $1,000 to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children and $500 to the Hinckle Cemetery Association of Hamilton County.

The Indianapolis Foundation will get income of the estate in the event Mrs. Miers dies without heirs.

JIM REED ASKS PARTY PEACE, HONEST RULE

Senator Gives Campaign Message; Stresses State Rights.

Following is another of the series of interviews with presidential candidates, obtained by the United Press for The Times.

BY PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The campaign message of Senator James A. Reed of Missouri is an appeal for peace in Democratic ranks, coupled with the old Jacksonian cry against the Republicans: "Chase the rascals out."

An interview with the United Press before he left on his tour of the West, Reed propounded the following doctrine for Democracy:

"If the people are to remain free, local self-government and the sovereignty of the States must be preserved."

"The march of centralization must be arrested."

"Government by boards and bureaus must cease."

"The white-haired but tall and dignified of typically American theories and beliefs then laid down its seven demands for corrective changes which he intimated would be brought about if he were elected President."

"The first is for the honest administration of government," he said. Others are:

"The swift and sure punishment of all public plunderers, bribe-mongers and other malefactors;

"Equalization of the burden of taxation;

"Repeal of all laws creating special privileges;

"Dismissal of an army of spies, snoops, sneaks and informers;

"Liberation of honest business from oppressive interference by Government agents."
