

CHIEF STARTS PROBE OF 'BULLET DRIVE' AGAINST POLICE

SECOND COP ATTACK STIRS WORLEY'S IRE

Passenger With Patrolman Shot Through Head From Ambush.

HAT ADDS TO MYSTERY

Doubts That Shooting Has Close Connection With Schoen Killing.

The second ambushing of Indianapolis policemen within a week today commanded the personal attention of Police Chief Claude M. Worley.

Patrolman Norman Schoen was killed in Irvington Tuesday night. An automobile in which Patrolman Martin Fahey, partner of Schoen, was riding in E. Minnesota St. was fired at, Sunday morning. Harry Trumble, 34, of the Emily Apts., Senate Ave. and Vermont Sts., a passenger in the car, was wounded dangerously in the head. The car was driven by Patrolman Muri Pollock, who owns it.

Negro Is Accused

One of three Negroes hiding behind trees did the shooting, Fahey declared. The two policemen took Trumble to city hospital, where his condition is serious.

One of the mysterious circumstances of the shooting was the finding of a bullet-pierced and blood-stained hat at Massachusetts and Cornell Aves., four miles from the scene of the shooting. Trumble identified the hat, but gave no explanation as to how it got where it was found.

Worley declared he believes one of the Negroes connected with the shooting affair is a man now under arrest.

Following "Scarface" Tip

Fahey told him he was following a tip which he thought might lead to the capture of the "Scarface" bandit who has staged several hold-ups here recently. Worley said.

Worley declared he did not believe the shooting had any connection with the fatal shooting of Patrolman Schoen.

Fahey and Schoen had been working a "beat" together. March 1 they arrested a Negro in the 600 block, W. Washington St. They said they caught the Negro trying to get in a parked car. Another Negro fled.

The captured Negro attempted to pull a knife from his pocket and the arresting officers beat him with their maces.

Negro Is Held

The Negro's wounds were dressed at city hospital and he still is held in city prison on charges of carrying and drawing deadly weapons and resisting an officer.

Chief Worley, however, said he had information which caused him to discount the possibility that the bullet which hit Trumble was fired by someone seeking revenge for the arrest of the alleged Negro car thief.

FORDS CONSIDER MAKING BLIMPS

Edsel Admits Investigation for Ocean Trips.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 12.—Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, is investigating metal dirigibles and their availability for trans-oceanic service, according to an interview with Ford in the Atlanta Journal.

The Journal story said that although Ford was reluctant to discuss the investigation, he let it be known that he and his father were considering larger dirigibles, which would eliminate fire hazards.

"I am told that the efficiency of dirigibles is increased as their size is increased, while the opposite holds true of airplanes," Ford was quoted as saying.

He made it plain, the story said, that the Fords were making the investigation rather than the Ford Motor Company.

Young Ford also said that the Ford Motor Company never had considered going into mass production of "flying" airplanes. He said there were too few people who knew how to fly.

Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford are visiting at Warm Springs, Ga.

SUPERINTENDENT TALKS

Urges Teaching Children to Be Law Abiding Citizens.

"Educators must realize their responsibility in providing better citizens in the future," Charles F. Miller, school superintendent, said at the Central Christian Church Bible school Sunday.

Miller said children must be taught to be law abiding citizens in the home as well as in the school.

"You cannot make them respect the law if parents do not set a good example by leading upright, law abiding lives," he said.

To have real law enforcement, every one must exercise his right as a citizen and take upon himself the individual responsibility of preserving the laws.

BACK HOOVER AS 'NEW DEAL' IN STATE RACE

'Opportunity for Indiana' to Be Campaign Slogan; Name Managers.

Herbert Hoover's presidential candidacy was given a "new deal" aspect for Indiana when it was announced that the motto for Hoover-for-President clubs throughout the State would be: "Hoover, not merely a candidate; but an opportunity for Indiana."

Plans for Hoover's Indiana campaign against Senator James E. Watson were being formulated at conferences at the Claypool called by Oscar G. Foellinger, publisher of the Ft. Wayne News-Sentinel and State manager for Hoover.

See State Opportunity

Foellinger, who filed Hoover's name for the presidential preference vote of the State last Thursday, said he had received a sheaf of congratulatory letters and telegrams from throughout the State, endorsing Hoover's entry and regarding it as an opportunity to wrest Indiana from the control of Watson and the much criticized Republican-organization control.

Foellinger announced Will Willmar, Auburn, Ind., banker, had accepted management of Hoover's campaign in the Twelfth district, and George Eberhardt, former circuit court judge of Huntington, the Eleventh district manager.

Lloyd Hartzler, Ft. Wayne attorney, abandoned aspirations for the Republican nomination for Allen County prosecutor and accepted the Hoover management post for Allen County, declaring he believed he could be of greater service devoting his time to Hoover's cause than in his own behalf, Foellinger said.

Hoover Club Formed

The Allen County chapter of the Indiana Hoover-for-President Club, was organized at Ft. Wayne, Saturday night, with Arthur Hall, president of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company, and prominent civic leader, accepting the presidency.

Attorneys, business men and farm and labor leaders accepted posts on the executive board, Foellinger said.

Watson forces today buckled down to organizing the senior Senator's campaign against Hoover.

M. Bert Thurman, Watson's national manager, announced the appointment of a woman's State manager and three district managers.

Mrs. Eleanor Barker Snodgrass, Indianapolis attorney, was named woman's State manager. A woman manager will be named in each district and county.

Charles B. Enloe of Evansville will act as First District Watson chairman.

State Senator Edward J. O'Rourke of Ft. Wayne is Twelfth District chairman.

Thurman aims to rebuild Watson's primary organization of 1926.

Plan Huge Machine

"That organization was so thorough that our task involves, for the most part, simply a re-checking of the old organization," he said.

"In each of Indiana's 3,600 precincts we will have a man's captain with ten workers and a woman's captain with an equal number, giving us twenty-two organized workers in each precinct—or about 80,000 precinct workers throughout the State."

Senator Watson and Tenth District Congressman Will R. Wood turned to Washington Saturday night.

'COME BACK,' IS PLEA TO MISSING HUSBAND

"I Cannot Live Without You," Mrs. Simon J. Ryder's Message.

"Come back, I cannot live without you," Mrs. Simon J. Ryder, staying here with her son, Arthur Moore, 1704 N. Delaware St., appealed today to her husband, missing since March 1.

Ryder and his wife came here from Marion, where he had managed a chain credit clothing store branch, to arrange to go to Greensburg as manager of a store there.

He has not been seen since he left Indianapolis to bring here some of their effects. A note mailed from Greensburg a few days later suggested no change in his plans.

She does not believe his disappearance was voluntary, his wife, mother of five children by a former marriage, declared.

"But he left because he thought my children did not love him, he was mistaken. They're nearly frantic with worry about him, too."

GIRL, ESCORT ROBBED

Auto Bandits Take Money, Ring and Watch.

Two bandits used a red flashlight as a ruse to stop Fred Riccardi, 23, of Clinton, Ind., in the 4500 block W. Washington St., as he was driving toward the city with a girl friend late Sunday.

When Riccardi stopped the bandits pointed a shotgun and pistol at the machine and ordered him out of the machine, he said. They took $21 and a $17 wrist watch from him and a diamond ring from the girl, he said.

Wisdom and Jilson both said they were sitting on tables in the boiler room, resting after lunch when Jilson jumped up and pulled the gun from his pocket. Jilson said it discharged accidentally.

600 TO STUDY MANAGER PLAN

Civic Leaders Will Discuss Municipal Government.

Attendance of about 600 Indiana civic leaders is expected at the city manager plan State-wide conference Friday at the Claypool, according to Chairman John W. Esterline.

Esterline said large representative delegations of business and professional men, women's club leaders and city officials from several cities had reservations.

The Indianapolis City Manager League called the conference as a service to other Indiana cities desiring information on the business-like form of municipal government. The manager plan becomes effective here in 1930.

Evansville and New Albany, both of which attempted city manager campaigns, will be well represented. Esterline will preside at the business sessions and Fred Hoke, of the Indianapolis City Manager League, at the luncheon. Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, is to speak at the luncheon on "The Future of America is in the Keeping of Her Cities."

Reservations for the public meeting and luncheon may be made at the league office, 711 Illinois Bldg.

The conference is in cooperation with the Indiana League of Women Voters, which has turned over the last day of its convention to the city manager meeting.

Speakers include: Dr. Leonard D. White, University of Chicago political science professor; Mrs. H. R. Misener, Michigan City, where the manager plan is in operation; L. W. Clapp, president First Trust Company, Wichita, Kan.; Claude H. Anderson, league executive secretary, and Winfield Miller, local attorney.

Wheeler Rescue Workers Seek $100,000 Building.

The Wheeler City Rescue Mission April 10 will open a campaign to raise $100,000 to build and equip a new building to replace its present structure, it was announced today. The Community Fund has authorized the campaign.

W. T. Cannon, Railroadmen's Buildings and Saving Association president, has been chosen general manager of the campaign by the Mission directors. He has been a supporter of the Mission for a number of years.

GERMANY IRKED BY ARRESTS IN RUSSIAN PLOT

Demands Release of Engineers Blamed for Plotting Mine Blast.

By United Press

BERLIN, March 12.—Russian-German relations were clouded today by the arrest of six German engineers as alleged accomplices in a conspiracy to destroy mines in the Donetz Basin of Russia.

The government has instructed its ambassador at Moscow to protest against the arrest, including that of the chief engineer of the German General Electric Company.

Newspapers declare that unless Russia releases the men, Germany will send no more engineers there. It was even charged that Russians had engineered the "conspiracy" revelation so foreigners could be blamed for inefficiency of Russian engineers that had brought trouble to industry.

Russian secret service men claim that the conspiracy was linked up with a recent espionage affair in which foreign agents were found at a deserted spot sending military information abroad from powerful wireless sets mounted on two automobiles.

Fear Similar Plots

MOSCOW, March 12.—Secret service statements that a conspiracy had been discovered to sabotage Donetz Basin mines has aroused apprehension that other industries may be affected by similar plots.

Factory meetings have been held at Leningrad and elsewhere to discuss the disclosures.

Soviet leaders, fearing technical experts may be subjected to attack, have warned workers not to maltreat innocent men.

LAUDS COURAGE OF MINERS IN COAL STRIKE

Senate Sub-Committee Scores Company Policies; Urges Severe Action.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The courage of striking Pennsylvania miners and their families in fighting for "an American wage and an American standard of living" was praised by the Senate Coal Investigating sub-committee in its report to the full committee today.

"Your committee was impressed with the courage and determination of the miners to stand up for what they believed was their due," the report stated. "We found little complaint about living conditions the miners have been forced to attempt. The splendid courage of the women was especially noticeable."

Condemn Coal Police

The report condemned activities of the coal and iron police hired by mine operators and the actions of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Relief Society, which it said was "preaching a doctrine of disloyalty" to the United Mine Workers and to the Government.

"Everywhere your committee visited it found victims of the coal and iron police, who had been beaten up and were well scared on their faces and heads from the rough treatment they had received," the report said. "We found more or less evidence of bootlegging and in one community especially it seemed as if the morals had been broken down completely."

"The slimy trail of an organization known as the Ohio and Pennsylvania Relief Society was everywhere evident. The more suffering and distress we found the more certain we were to find the society active offering food and clothing to the miners, breaking the injunctions by mass picketing and preaching disloyalty."

Believe Conditions Serious

The report set forth in detail the activities of the sub-committee from the time it arrived in Pittsburgh on Feb. 23, until its return to Washington on Feb. 28. No effort was made, it explained, to investigate economic aspects of the situation, the sub-committee confining itself to the human side of the problem.

"Your committee believes conditions existing in the Pittsburgh district and other coal fields are of the most serious nature and dangerous to the best interests of our citizenship," it concluded.

"The urge that the investigation of the full committee be searching and severe, looking forward to some legislation that will put the coal industry on a reasonably profitable basis."

The full committee continued hearings today, with mine operators, subpoenaed at request of the United Mine Workers, on the witness stand.
