

RADIO BOARD IS VOTED ANOTHER YEAR OF LIFE

Speed Still Necessary to Push Bill Through for Coolidge.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, March 13.—The House won its race against time Monday and passed the radio bill, extending the life of the Federal Radio Commission for another year.

Additional speed still is necessary, as the Senate and House must get together on differences in the bill and it must be signed by President Coolidge before Thursday midnight, or radio dictatorship will revert to Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

Indiana's delegation divided in the House vote late yesterday on the amendment to the radio bill which would compel the radio commission to give equal treatment to all States and territories in the allocation of power, broadcasting license and wave lengths.

Representatives Canfield, Gardner, Green, Hall and Hogg voted for the amendment and Representatives Rowbottom, Johnson, Elliott, Purcell, Hickey, Vestal and Wood against it. Representative Updike did not vote being in Indiana.

During the debate Representative White of Maine, chairman of the merchant marine committee, which reported out the bill, said that Indiana, with 500,000 more population than Iowa, had seven fewer stations and only one-fourth the power.

He inserted a table showing that Indiana has only eighteen stations, with slightly more than 6,000 watts power, against seventy stations and 83,000 watts for Illinois and thirty-one stations with 27,000 watts for Ohio.

Both companies hold important contracts for carburetors with various automobile companies. The Marvel company is estimated to be a $6,500,000 concern, its 90,000 shares of $10 par stock selling on the Chicago Stock Exchange for nearly $70 a share.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts.

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.—Advertisement.

Life's Been a 20-Year Funeral for Gatemen

Gateman Bert Middleton and George Neat

Middleton and Neat Haven't Minded the Long Parade of Dead to Burial.

Waiting for the next funeral is the job of George Neat, 63, of 1453 W. Thirty-Fourth St.

Dressed in a grayish-blue uniform, Neat sits in a swivel chair at the west entrance of Crown Hill cemetery looking for the hearse.

He holds a schedule of the day's burials in his hand, looking out from a tower on the two monuments yards across Boulevard Pl. On the right is a greenhouse.

When the funeral procession makes its appearance, Neat turns to an electric switchboard which rings a bell in the section where the next burial is to take place.

As the funeral coach reaches the huge stone arch he checks the burial permit with the cemetery records to insure a legal burial. If the permit is not correct Neat orients the funeral party held up until the tangle is straightened out by the undertakers.

Delays Are Few

"It is seldom we have to delay a funeral procession. But once in a while we have trouble with burial permits issued on a steamship," he said.

Neat who started working at the cemetery as a laborer twenty-four years ago had "teamed" with Gateman Bert Middleton, 1029 W. Thirty-Fifth St., for twenty years. Middleton has worked for the cemetery twenty-eight years.

"I've got to have a job and I never believed much in changing around. After a fellow works here a while he doesn't want to die," said Neat.

"In winter it is dark when we come to work and dark when we go home. There is seldom a funeral without someone I know. There are 82,000 persons buried here and that brings lots of folks to Crown Hill. We bury about 2,000 a year."

Not So Sad

"Since I started on this job I have been late three times and off five days because of illness in my family. And I've never been called down.

"It's not so sad working at a place of this kind. We often go out to get a burial permit with a song on our lips. There is no use taking everyone's troubles seriously. If you did, it would drive you to bed.

"Yes, I believe in immortality. I reckon there is a life after death. We don't know, but they say there is. When you die your spirit goes above," Neat said.

Burial of loved ones—once the duty of neighbors—today is as highly systematized as modern industry.

TEST CROSSING GATES

New Safety Device to Be Given Trial Wednesday.

A new type of railroad crossing warning will be tested Wednesday morning at the County Line road on the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction Company line.

John A. Shafer, Indianapolis attorney, owns half interest in the patent rights of the device, which if successful will lessen materially the grade crossing hazard.

Several rail safety experts will watch the demonstration. Propelled by oil pump compression, gates lower when the train is within 1,500 feet of the crossing. Enough room is left on each side of the track for an automobile to be safe although caught between the gates.

A gong rings simultaneously with the lowering of the gates.

TRIPLE SLAYER IS HIDDEN; FEAR MOB VIOLENCE

Grand Jury Called Today to Indict Chauffeur in Texas.

By United Press
SAN ANGELO, Texas, March 13.—The Tom Green County grand jury will meet in special session here today to consider indictment of Newton Byrnes, 24, chauffeur, charged with the murders of Mrs. J. W. Juergens, her daughter, Myrna, 12, and Mrs. Juergens' mother, Mrs. Ross Schirra.

The special session was called last night after Byrnes, who was arrested Sunday night in Sulphur Springs, confessed to murdering the three women in the home here March 3.

San Angelo authorities, fearing possible mob action, transferred Byrnes to Ft. Worth.

The bodies of the three slain women, found Sunday, were placed aboard an eastbound train here at 10 p. m. Monday to be sent to Mrs. Joseph Ryan, 4613 Second Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa. J. W. Juergens' father and husband, did not accompany the bodies. He will appear before the grand jury today.

Byrnes, who was employed as the family chauffeur and came here with Juergens from Pittsburgh four years ago, confessed he killed Mrs. Juergens after they quarreled over a check to which Byrnes had signed the name of one of the Juergens family.

Mrs. Juergens was killed with a hatchet and her daughter and her mother were slain a short time later, the chauffeur confessed.

Although the women were killed March 3, their bodies were not found until Sunday.

The home had been ransacked. Mrs. Juergens and Mrs. Schirra were scarcely clad.

The girl had been stabbed more than a dozen times with an ice pick

FIGHTS JUDGE LAW

Attorney Questions Legality of Appointments.

A Criminal Court jury in a sealed verdict returned today freed Elbert Johnson, 22, of 1122 Woodlawn Ave., of a manslaughter charge arising from the death of James Daugherty, Aug. 2, 1926.

Daugherty, 69, was killed when Johnson's auto struck him as he was standing in a safety zone at Delaware and Washington Sts.

Johnson's defense attacked the city safety zone ordinance.

The ordinance, passed by council June 14, 1922, was never published and therefore is illegal. Defense Attorney Frederick E. Bonfield contended. Howard E. Robertson, safety board secretary, testified that there is no record of publication on safety board records.

The defense also contended that the accident occurred after 7 p. m. and that the ordinance, if it were legal, only prohibits motorists from driving through safety zones between 6 a. m. and 7 p. m.
