By United Press
EVANSTON, Ill., March 20.—Ray Conger, Iowa star, and recent victor over Dr. Otto Peltzer and Joie Ray, former Olympic star, head a list of more than 200 athletes who will compete in the annual Central A. A. U. track and field championships here tonight.

Conger will race in the 1,000-yard run, but it was considered unlikely the record will be broken because of the handicap of bad turns and layout of the Northwestern University indoor track.

Ray, attempting a comeback after absence from competition for several years, is entered in the two-mile run, at which distance he was one of the outstanding stars between 1915 and 1924.

Harold Osborne, competing under the Illinois A. C. colors, will defend his world high-jump record of 6 feet 5 1/2 inches.

'Tis Ladies Day!

Not all the good ball players at Ft. Myer, Fla., where the Athletics are training, are the men under contract to Connie Mack. Joe Hauser and Jack Quinn brought their good-looking wives along to camp and NEA photographer Frank Merz on a recent visit caught them indulging in spring practice with all the finesse their husbands use. Mrs. Hauser, right, is shown spearing a sizzler like her hubby, while Mrs. Quinn, left, is winding up to whip over a last one.

State College Alumni Flare Up; Bombard Butler's 'Fast One'

ALUMNI athletic authorities and coaches of other Indiana colleges and universities today still were gasping at the "fast one" which Butler University athletic authorities put over on them at the State high school basketball finals Saturday.

The other coaches, out of courtesy to Butler in view of the fact the tourney was held at Butler's new field house, preserved a grim silence so far as direct quotation, but in private conversation they seethed.

The regulation barring coaches from radio broadcasting, a highly regarded form of school advertising, was traced to Butler authorities, it was learned.

For years the high school authorities have declared that they intended to do everything possible to keep the tournament from being regarded as a battleground where rival coaches selected material for their college teams. Nevertheless, coaches and their assistants have kept coming to the tournaments and all have had about an even break when it came to "cornering" the youthful stars and attempting to talk them into coming to "Dear Old Siwash" next year.

The State prep authorities took the tournament away from Indiana University, which originated and fostered it at considerable expense for several years, because it was felt Indiana got an overwhelmingly unfair chance to land star ball players.

Then, the authorities stopped holding regionals at Indiana and Purdue because the two big universities had a better chance to line up the boys than the smaller schools.

This year they went back to a college gym and here's what happened:

T. B. Cullinan, Previously Engaged to Pilot Koko, Will Ride Billy Barton, Report.

By United Press
LONDON, March 20.—T. B. Cullinan, Irish jockey who previously had been engaged to ride Koko in the Grand National, will ride Billy Barton, the publication Sporting Life said today.

Cullinan is available, it was said, because of the sale of F. Barbour's Easter Hero to the owner of Koko. It is believed W. Gurney will ride Koko.

Albert Ober was to have ridden Billy Barton but recently relinquished the mount because, he told Howard Bruce of Baltimore, the horse's owner, of Billy Barton's unsatisfactory performances while he was riding him.

Four horses, including one American-owned, were scratched today from the Grand National, bringing the number of American horses entered in the steeplechase classic to seventeen. The horses scratched were Jack Horner, Fair Richard, Red Splash and D. D. B.

What's False Pride Costing You?

TO pay more than you need for a cigar that gives you smoking satisfaction, humors false pride, but adds nothing to your enjoyment.

Money you spend on what somebody else might think of you will buy many an even, smooth, sweet smoking hour if invested in Wm. Penns.

Wm. Penn smokers—thousands and thousands of them—have learned that five cents secures a mild, mellow cigar of ingratiating fragrance—the equal of cigars of higher cost. They see no reason for paying more—and they are men of all incomes—from men to whom price means saving to men to whom it means value.

Lay down five cents independently for a Wm. Penn, sure that you are getting the quality of a cigar that costs more, and join the army of smokers who pay what they like for "a good cigar."
