

CONGRESS LEADERS SET MAY 19 AS ADJOURNING DATE

SENATE SPEEDS UP LEGISLATION IN RECORD TIME

Farm Bill, Then Boulder Dam Are Next Measures on Calendar.

POLITICS AGAIN TO FORE

Tax Reduction and Railway Consolidation Yet to Be Disposed Of.

BY PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, March 29.—Congressional leaders are making plans to adjourn May 19—seven weeks from next Saturday and three weeks before the Republican national convention.

The usually laggard Senate has run rapidly through its legislative program and to date has disposed of Muscle Shoals, alien property, radio, flood control and merchant marine issues.

Tomorrow or Monday the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill will be brought up, then Boulder dam, tax reduction and railroad consolidation in the order named. There will be no vital reason to remain in session after these matters are handled.

The only disturbing element in this unusually peaceful legislative arrangement is the fact that politics is scheduled to be the "unfinished business" of both Houses every moment after the farm bill is out of the way.

Politics to Fore
Numerous political demonstrations have been suppressed because Democrats wanted to get the flood control and farm bills through.

These demonstrations may cause matters to move more slowly hereafter, but leaders believe they will be able to adjourn May 19, anyway.

The situation upon the major legislative issues may be summarized now as follows:

Flood Control—Passed the Senate yesterday with only ninety minutes of discussion. Expected to pass in House within ten days.

Tax Cut Passed House
Tax Reduction—Already passed the House, will be taken up by Senate Finance Committee next Monday, to determine whether treasury finances will permit a cut as large as the $289,000,000 the House provided. Bitter dispute regarded us unavoidable, and measure may be the last to see action before adjournment.

Farm Relief—Senate will take up revised McNary-Haugen bill as soon as pending agriculture department appropriation bill is out of the way. Debate will last not more than a week, House leaders preparing for early action there as has already been reported by the House Agriculture Committee and is on the calendar.

Muscle Shoals—Senate has passed the Norris bill for operation of the Tennessee River plants as a power unit, with experiments in fertilizer production by extracting nitrogen from the air. House leaders oppose the bill and may hold it up indefinitely.

Radio Bill Approved
Radio—Bill extending life of the commission and providing reallocation of wave lengths has passed both houses and been signed by President.

Alien Property—Adjustment bill passed and signed; now a law.

Boulder Dam—Johnson bill will be taken up in Senate within a week, facing bitter opposition and perhaps a filibuster from Senator Ashurst (Dem.), Arizona. Expected to pass. Similar bill now on House calendar, but probably will not be taken up until Senate passes Johnson bill.

Railroad Consolidation—Fess bill for Interstate Commerce Commission supervision of consolidations to follow Boulder Dam in Senate. Not yet out of committee in House.

Opposed by Coolidge
Merchant Marine—Jones bill to stop sale of Government lands passed Senate, but may be held up indefinitely in House. Opposed by President Coolidge. Substitute measure being framed by House will be reported next week.

Appropriations—Only three Government supply bills remain to be acted upon. All save the second deficiency bill will be out of the way within two or three weeks. Deficiency measure will be held up until just before adjournment.

Stars of Air, Film to Wed

Alice White

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 29.—A star of the films and a star of the air will wed soon, according to rumor buzzing through the cinema colony today.

The pair whose springtime fancy lightly has turned to love are Alice White, one of the glittering lights of the silver screen, and Richard Grace, noted aviator.

Grace and Miss White worked together in the same studio, he as stunt flier, she as the heroine of the picture.

No date has been announced for the wedding.

PLAN FUNERAL FRIDAY FOR THOMAS E. MC'CORD

Life-Long Resident, Elevator Operator at Oaklandon.

Funeral services for Thomas E. McCord, 70, retired farmer and elevator operator of Oaklandon, will be held at the Oaklandon Universalist Church at 10 a. m. Friday. He died Wednesday at his home in Oaklandon, where he had lived throughout his life.

The Rev. Fred A. Line, pastor of Central Universalist Church, Indianapolis, will officiate. Burial will be in the I. O. O. F. Cemetery at Oaklandon.

Mr. McCord was an ardent community booster and a member of the Lawrence Community Brotherhood and the Independent Order of Red Men.

Surviving him are three brothers, Wallace McCord of near Oaklandon, and Frank and Lee McCord of Oaklandon.

STUDENTS FOR HOOVER

Indiana U. Straw Vote Shows Watson Lagging.

By United Press
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 29.—Casting 285 votes for Herbert C. Hoover, against 94 for Senator James E. Watson, Indiana University students administered a collegiate slap at Watson's "favorite son" candidacy in a presidential straw vote just completed at the university.

Al Smith, Governor of New York, was high among the Democratic presidential candidates with 140 votes; Evans Woollen, the Hoosier "favorite son" on the Democratic side being accorded only 56 votes.

The totals in Indiana University as sent to a national magazine compiling a straw vote among thirty universities, were:

Republicans: Hoover, 285; Watson, 94; Dawes, 93; Lowden, 43; Willis, 8; Curtis, 6.

Democrats: Smith, 140; Woollen, 56; Reed, 42; Walsh, 9; Donahey, 5; Ritchie, 5.

HOUSE LEADERS REACH PACT ON FLOOD CONTROL

Legislation Expected to Reach Floor Early Next Week.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, March 29.—A compromise on flood control legislation was worked out today, designed to bring it before the House for consideration early next week.

Under the compromise, agreed to by Republican leaders and Chairman Reid of the Flood Control Committee the Rules Committee will authorize a rule for consideration by the House, while the committee will draft a substitute measure embodying some features of the Jones bill passed Wednesday by the Senate. Reid will go before the Rules Committee today or Friday.

This represents a rapprochement between Republican leaders and others who favor the Jones bill and the members of the flood control committee, who have insisted upon the committee bill which was reported to the House today.

Criticize Jones Plan
Less than twenty-four hours after the Senate passed the Jones bill the House committee made its long delayed report, criticizing Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, Army engineer chief, for "usurping" authority in preparing his plan of Mississippi flood control.

It also criticizes the engineering plan itself, declaring that not a single non-Army engineer who appeared before the committee in its lengthy hearings approved the Jadwin project in its entirety and that many who criticize it "pointed out fatal defects, as may be seen in their testimony."

The report recommends the original (Reid) bill which was voted a favorable report by the committee several weeks ago and which provides for Federal payment of all flood control costs on the lower Mississippi, places jurisdiction in the hands of a commission of seven, of whom five must be civilian engineers, authorizes an appropriation of $473,000,000 and provides a survey looking toward flood control on tributaries.

A minority report submitted at the same time criticized failure of the committee bill to fix a definite engineering policy, which is left to the commission.

Survey Is Recommended
It recommended an economic survey to determine if levee districts can contribute and praised the Army engineers.

The majority report, referring to Jadwin, said that "instead of the law as enacted by Congress being carried out, the chief of engineers took it upon himself to prepare a flood control plan, spent a large sum of money never appropriated by Congress in doing so, called upon the Mississippi River commission to submit its plan to him, and when it was received suppressed it and transmitted his own plan to Congress through the Secretary of War and the President."

Chairman Reid of the committee submitted a bitter foreword against those who insist upon local contributions.

OIL EXILE QUILTS U. S. BUSINESS

Blackmer, Paris Fugitive, Leaves Company.

By United Press
DENVER, March 29.—Henry M. Blackmer, former head of the Midwest Refining Company here, and self-exiled key witness in the Teapot Dome investigation, has abandoned all business connections in the United States.

Thomas A. Dines, chairman of the board of directors of the Midwest Company, announced that Blackmer's resignation from the board, tendered in Paris, had been accepted.

Blackmer's resignation was offered because "of inability to keep in touch" with business affairs here, it was said.

Following closely the resignation of Myron Blackmer, the elder Blackmer's resignation has severed the Blackmer family from the oil company which they formerly presided over.

Blackmer fled to Paris just before he was to be summoned for questioning in the Senate Teapot Dome investigation.

POPE, MUSSOLINI BREACH WIDENS

Pius Rebukes Duce for Education Decree.

By United Press
ROME, March 29.—The breach between the church and state was widened today by the complaint of Pope Pius and an answer by Premier Mussolini on educating the youth of Italy.

Speaking to the cabinet, Mussolini characterized last Sunday's Fascist levy as an important phase in educating the young Italians in a "total degree" namely spiritually and physically. He said the Fascist revolution deems such an education the most fundamental task of the state.

The premier's words "total degree" seemed to clear answer to the Pope who advising the diocesan laymen Sunday, complained that the Italian state constantly was monopolizing both the moral and physical education of youth.

Mussolini in talking to the cabinet also said that the young men's organizations still existing outside of the Fascist educational systems shortly would be absorbed by the latter. This reference was considered to mean that the remainder of the Catholic boy scouts still maintaining a complexion distinct from the Fascist organization, must soon disband or merge in the Fascist national institution, more commonly called Balilla.

HALL STANDS FOR PARTY

Congressman Candidate Asserts Faith in G. O. P.

Professing freedom from any "interests or cliques," Archibald M. Hall, candidate for the Republican nomination for Seventh District congressman, told a gathering at the Denison Wednesday night he will stand, if nominated and elected, on the platform adopted by the party.

A Republican victory, he said, was the answer to the problem confronting the nation: "Will we serve the country best by turning the administration over to the Democrats with their microscopic economies and cyclonic extravagances or by regenerating the Republican temperament, by reinspiring party loyalty and re-enthroning party responsibility?"
