Richmond Man Dead in Mystery Murder.

Police are holding five persons who are investigating the case. They are Florence Marsh, 37, the dead man's wife of three weeks; her son by a former marriage, Carl Breese, 12; Erma Dill, 26; Eva Hilling, 19, and Karl Holliday, 52. All lived at the house occupied by Marsh and his wife.

Marsh and his wife, despite the short span of their married life, had quarreled, police say. It is believed Marsh was shot by a person standing on the steps at the rear of his home. There were no powder marks on his forehead, indicating, according to police, that the shot was not fired at very close range.

None of the persons held so far have given the police any information that would lead to identifying the slayer. Mrs. Marsh declares she knows nothing of the circumstances of her husband's death.

Collier Dog Returns to Old Residence He Left Year Ago.

A YEAR'S absence from his old home in Indianapolis and the kindly ministrations of a new owner failed to erase the longing for his former surroundings from the brain of "Laddie," a beautiful collie dog.

Residents in the neighborhood of Maple Rd. and Kenwood Ave., entertaining "Laddie" royally today.

Laddie for years was the pet of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Getz and their two daughters at 3817 Kenwood Ave. A year ago Getz's work took him to an Ohio city and Mrs. Getz and the daughters took an apartment to remain in the city until the girls finished school here. It was necessary, however, with Laddie and he was sent by automobile to George Shilling in Shelbyville, Ind., thirty miles southeast.

Thursday afternoon a neighbor went to her door and found Laddie, exhausted, lying on the door mat. The dog often used to doze on neighbor's porches when he tired of his own. His feet were badly swollen.

A telephone call summoned his old owners. They attempted to take him to the apartment. But Laddie would not go. He had been lured out of the neighborhood once and he wouldn't be a second time. Instead he broke away and ran to Public School 43, Capitol Ave. and Fortieth St., where he used to wait for the Getz children twice a day.

Finally, the dog was brought back to the neighbor's house and induced to rest in a warm corner. There he lay until this morning when recuperated, he bounded out of doors to joyously investigate his old haunts in the neighborhood.

CLEANER MEN URGED TO CLEAN UP POLITICS

Politics would be cleaner if cleaner men engaged in it, Chief Deputy Prosecutor Judson L. Stark, candidate for the Republican nomination for the office, told the Knights of Columbus luncheon Friday at the Spink-Arms.

Outlining the work of the prosecutor's office, Stark said his business is "to hammer law violators into obedience. Some 15,000 have to be tried each year. They, with their friends, work day and night to paralyze law enforcement."

Corn Rally Fails in Face of Profit-Taking; Oats Also Down.

CHICAGO, March 30.—Weakness in Liverpool wheat and favorable reports on the American winter crop depressed sentiment in all grain pits of the Chicago Board of Trade today. Corn staged a sharp rally during the morning, but went down again under an avalanche of profit-taking orders.

Final figures: Wheat, 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 lower; corn, 1/4 to 1/2 higher, and oats, 1/2 to 1 to 1 1/2. Provisions rallied and closed higher.

Liverpool's failure to follow the bulges here Thursday sent wheat into an early decline, from which prices never recovered. Southwest winter wheat prospects continue splendid and central crop reports indicated that some of the damaged fields there can be saved, with the good moisture now available.

There was some buying by eastern and northwestern interests on the morning pit.

Corn followed wheat's early dip and failed to rally consistently, despite bullish news. Belt weather continued cold and wet, with prospects of a sharp decrease in country marketings. Shipping demand was better. Wheat's depressing influence was strong, however, and prompt selling met every bid.

Oats weakened with wheat and showed little independent strength. Indiana reported prospects of a record crop in that State.
