

SEEK TO TRACE OIL BONDS BY NEW WITNESS

Link Ex-Custodian of Alien Property With Will Hays.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Thomas Miller, former alien property custodian, has been subpoenaed to appear before the Senate Teapot Dome committee, Senator Walsh of Kansas announced today.

Miller was subpoenaed several months ago in New York of conspiracy to defraud the Government while he held the alien property post.

There have been reports that Colonel Miller knew something about the Continental Trading Company bonds, Walsh said.

Committee members have addressed questions to witnesses in recent hearings seeking to learn if Miller aided Will Hays, former chairman of the Republican national committee, in disposing of the $160,000 of bonds which Harry Sinclair donated to the Republican committee.

Probe Salt Creek Contract
Several witnesses have been subpoenaed for the hearing Tuesday, but their names were not divulged because the subpoenas have not yet been served.

The Justice department and Senate Teapot Dome Committee are investigating the means by which the Midwest Refining Company acquired drilling rights in the Salt Creek field adjoining the Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserve in Wyoming, it was learned today.

The Justice department also is investigating the sale of Government royalty oil from the Salt Creek fields to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company under contract made by Albert B. Fall when he was secretary of interior.

Both matters are understood to have been discussed at a recent cabinet meeting.

Lease Renewed
But the Justice Department declines to confirm this or a report that President Coolidge requested the inquiry.

Sinclair obtained the contract in the Salt Creek's field six months after Fall had received from him $23,000 of Liberty bonds, according to testimony before the Teapot Dome committee. The Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company is wholly controlled by Sinclair and Standard Oil Company of Indiana, which also controls the Midwest.

Secretary of Interior Work
Recently renewed the Sinclair crude oil contract, explaining he had no voice in the matter under terms agreed to by Fall and Sinclair.

Defense Strategy of Sinclair
Said to go on trial here on Wednesday on a charge of conspiring to defraud the Government, was planned by his lawyers here today.

Plan Sinclair Defense
Martin W. Littleton, Sinclair's chief attorney, came from New York to confer with George P. Hoover, local lawyer.

Hoover indicated the line the defense would follow, would depend upon the conference with Littleton and the character of the defense deposition given by former Secretary of Interior Fall, ill in El Paso.

The trial of both Sinclair and Fall, indicted three years ago in connection with the Teapot Dome lease, was scheduled to start today, but Justice Jennings Bailey in District of Columbia Supreme Court three weeks ago granted an indefinite postponement to Fall because of his illness, and postponed the Sinclair trial until Wednesday.

CASH REQUIRES CREDIT
No Money So Judge Trusts Him Without Bond.

With cash, credit is not so important in the business world. With Virgil Cash, R. R. C. had no cash, credit was vital to prevent him from being several weeks in jail.
