Payne gained the lead Sunday, replacing Arne Souminen, Detroit Finn, who dropped out with a strained tendon after leading the race for more than a week.

City Bowling Gossip

Before a crowd that packed the Pritchett alleys, Henry Schneideman, Kokomo, turned in a total of 713 to take the lead in the singles event of the Indiana Bowling Association's nineteenth annual tournament. Schneideman displayed the stuff of which champions are made when he rolled a 346 in the first game, a total of 106 in the fifth frame of his last game, and 222 in his last total to finish with 256, which coupled with the 224 of the previous day, made a possible 480. Argument among the rail-birds heated after this series, as the copers put up their pro and con reasons why this total would or would not be beaten during the life of this meet.

A Leslie of South Bend landed in second place in the singles event, he totalled 665 for his three games. This boy also finished well setting games of 246 and 232 after a start of 187. The first local boy to reach the select class in this event was W. Ramsey, who reached third place with a total of 612.

Henry Schneideman also reached first place in the all-events getting 246 in the team event, 665 in the doubles and 713 in the singles for a total of 1,624 over the nine-game route, an average of 206.8-9 pins per game.

North and South Unite in Stone Mountain Ceremonies.

By United Press
STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga., April 9.—Sixty-three years to the day after Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox, the South unveiled today an heroic equestrian figure of the Civil War leader, sculptured in the granite of Stone Mountain.

Thousands witnessed the unveiling. Among those thousands were representatives of famous old military organizations of the North and the South, descendants of Confederate and Union soldiers and persons prominent in State and national life.

Lukeman Is Sculptor
High on the side of the mountain—the largest mass of granite in the world—the massive figure of Lee astride his famous horse, Traveler, is but the first of a group of Confederate figures being carved there by Augustus Lukeman, sculptor.

Unveiling exercises were held in a rostrum at the base of the mountain. Hollins N. Randolph, president of the Stone Mountain Memorial Association, presided.

The signal for the unveiling was given by Robert E. Lee IV, the 5-year-old son of Dr. George Bolling Lee, New York.

Lee's Grandson to Attend
The boy is a great grandson of the Civil War general. Other members of the Lee family attended.

Marcus W. Beck of the Supreme Court of Georgia, son of a Confederate veteran, presented the statue to the Nation, and Mayor Walker of New York gave the speech of acceptance.

The last surviving member of General Lee's staff, the Rev. Giles B. Cook of Matthews Courthouse, Va., now honorary chaplain general of the United Confederate Veterans, gave the benediction.

Plan Other Sculptures
The figure of Lee, in profile, has been carved from a design and under supervision of Augustus Lukeman. The figure was the first to be unveiled—for two reasons, according to the Memorial Association—because Lee was the dominant Confederate leader, and because his figure is the outside one of the bas-relief.

The next figures to be sculptured will be those of Jefferson Davis and Stonewall Jackson. They may be completed by fall.

When completed the Confederate figures will form an equestrian group, headed by Lee, Davis and Jackson, moving along the mountain side. All will be in colossal size.

of Indianapolis. This team composed of vets, who knew what it was all about, acted like a crew of duffers and stopped at 2,590.

Roy Doolittle, a star of other years among local bowlers, was back in the line-up with the Haughville P. O. team and turned in a total of 517. Roy lost the use of his right arm during the war and now is supplied with a mechanical telling effect from the port side.

Weds, Wishes She Hadn't

Kathryn Ray, who as a Follies girl sometimes was hailed as the most beautiful woman in the world, surrendered a four-year-old secret the other day, just before she left for Paris. Kathryn, it seems, is legally Mrs. Harold H. Kaas, but desires very much to become just plain Kathryn Ray again. In other words, she wants a divorce. Friends believe she'll get it in Paris.

YOUTH NABBED IN GUN BATTLE

Captured After Breaking 'Into Lyn-Wa-Inn.

Paul Roberts, 17, of Los Angeles, is held in city prison today on a burglary charge. He was captured in the Lyn-Wa-Inn, Lynhurst Dr. and Washington St., early Sunday. When he raised a window a burglar alarm summoned Charles Hereth, proprietor, and Harold Huntley. Roberts called, "Hands up" as they entered the inn and Hereth opened fire with a 45-caliber automatic pistol. An iron rod in a gum vending machine deflected a bullet aimed at Roberts.

As Robert Schilling, druggist at 2764 Roosevelt Ave., was closing Saturday night he heard burglars in the Roy Hendricks restaurant next door. He summoned police, but the burglars fled before they arrived.

Clothing valued at $219 was taken from the home of J. O. Stilson, 4245 N. Meridian St., Saturday night. Capt. J. H. Ashcraft, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, reported to police that a microscope valued at $125 was stolen from the army post hospital.

Parts of a scale valued at $110 were taken from the garage of Nick Schreppe man, 1434 Broadway. An "Eastern" burglar let $47 worth of jewelry at the home of Judge W. O. Dunlavy, 1822 Park Ave., while he and his family were away.

MYSTERY SLAYING ENDS POKER PARTY

By United Press
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., April 9.—The murder of Orville Wires, 20, employee of the State highway commission, shot to death early Sunday during a poker party at his home here, mystified police today.

Wires was called to the front door of his house and shot down as he stood in the doorway. Police immediately arrested ten men, who had been in the party, but after questioning all were released.

Wires lived thirty minutes, but refused to name his assailant, although police believe he was aware of his identity.

At first suspicion was directed toward one man, who had left the party early as the result of heavy losses, authorities said. But police announced today that this man had proved his innocence, as had the other nine in the party.

Wires' family was unable to reveal any motive for the shooting and police frankly confessed today that they had few clues.

Years of Misery Relieved by New Konjola Medicine

Another Indianapolis Citizen Strongly Indorses the Advanced Compound.

Konjola has received more written indorsements from Indianapolis people than a whole newspaper could publish in one issue. This surprising new medicine is being introduced and explained by the Konjola Man in person at the Hook

Drug Store, Illinois and Washington Sts., this city, where over 200 people are calling daily. Many of the men and women are offering signed statements and photographs, describing the work of Konjola in actual cases.

An amazing statement was received just the other day from Mr. W. W. Richardson, well-known Indianapolis citizen, living at 635 Eddy St., telling of the relief he received through the use of Konjola.

"I know what Konjola will do, because it helped me when I had been bedfast for five and a half months," said Mr. Richardson. "I really would not take a thousand dollars for the wonderful health I now enjoy."

"In the first place, I was hurt by falling plaster, and I was told that my internal organs were injured. It seemed to me that my entire body was torn loose. I suffered agonies from aches and pains throughout my system. Sometimes the pains were so unbearable I did not care what happened to me. Finally, all this suffering settled in my lower right limb and it felt as if I were paralyzed. I was in bed five months when I was told an operation was the only thing that would help me. At the hospital I decided not to undergo the knife and signed my own release. An operation seemed to be the only thing that would help me, but I was hoping against hope that another way for relief would turn up.

"I had been home just a few days when some one brought a bottle of Konjola to the house and asked me to try it. I knew that it would do me no harm to take this medicine, and so I started on the treatment. Before I finished the second bottle I was able to get out of bed. I could almost feel the healing effect of this medicine every time I took a dose. There seemed to be new life in my body, and before the third bottle was empty I was out of the house. My internal organs were functioning properly and all the soreness was gone. Today I can truthfully say that I hardly realize I ever went through such awful torture. Hundreds of people came to see me while I was still in bed, suffering and unable to move. Every one of those persons will verify what I have said about the relief Konjola gave me.

"As I said before, I would not take a thousand dollars for what Konjola has done for me. I am making this statement hoping that I might be able to help others who are suffering. Words can never express my appreciation for the wonderful new health I have received. I only hope that this statement will be the means for others to find the road to new and glorious health."

The Konjola Man is at Hook Drug Store, Illinois and Washington Sts., Indianapolis, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Konjola is sold at all the Hook drug stores in Indianapolis and other good druggists throughout this section.—Advertisement.
