Simplicity Marks Home Nuptial Rite

A HOME wedding, lovely in its simplicity was that this afternoon of Miss Martha Dandridge Oliver, daughter of Mrs. John Holliday Oliver, 1912 N. Meridian St., and Lieut. Joseph Blair Daugherty, which took place at the home of the bride's mother with Dr. Virgil E. Rorer, pastor of the Meridian Street M. E. Church officiating.

The home was arranged with flowers and ferns. Before the ceremony Mrs. Karl Nessler, harpist, played a bridal program.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Olive Phoebe Oliver, who wore a bouffant dress of orchid shading to lavender. The skirt was formed of tiers of tulle and she wore a picture hat to match her gown. She carried a Colonial bouquet.

James Livingston Thompson, cousin of the bride, was best man.

The bride wore white tulle fashioned with light bodice and skirt of tiers of tulle. Her veil was of rose point lace and she carried the ivory prayer book carried by her mother at the time of her wedding.

The book had showers of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley on ribbons falling from its pages.

Immediately following the ceremony, six classmates of Lieut. Daugherty formed an archway with sabres through which the bridal couple passed into the dining room, where Mrs. Daugherty used the lieutenant's sabre to cut the wedding cake.

The bride and groom were accompanied by a lace cover and lighted by white tapers in gold candelabra. Mrs. Oliver, mother of the bride, received in white georgette.

Lieut. and Mrs. Daugherty will be at home at the country home of the bride, north of the city until June 20, when they will leave for San Antonio, Texas, where Lieut. Daugherty will be stationed.
