

U. S. CITIZENS FLEE CHINESE BATTLE ZONE

Clash of Nationalists and Japanese Stirs Grave Concern.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Evacuation of all Americans remaining in the region about Tsinan, China, scene of a serious clash between Nationalist and Japanese troops, is being expedited, Secretary of State Kellogg said today.

The military situation in the neighborhood of Tsinan was described by Kellogg as "rather menacing."

He said the State Department did not know how many Americans still were in the section, but added that "we are getting them out as fast as we can."

Movement of 5,000 Japanese troops into the heart of the Chinese war arena to protect Japanese citizens is being watched "with peculiar interest" by American officials, a reliable quarter here declared today.

While the United States will continue neutral with respect both to the Chinese civil warfare and to the movement of Japanese soldiers, unless American lives or property are endangered, some fear was expressed over the consequences of clashes between the Japanese and Nationalist forces.

The Nationalists refused to comply with Tokyo's demand that service on the Japanese-controlled Tsinan-Tsingtao railway be uninterrupted.

Approximately 12,000 Japanese live along the railway, while a few coal mines and small factories in the section are Japanese-owned.

The Japanese may be expected to take stern measures to protect their people. Relation of such action would have to America's "open door" policy would be a matter of some concern to this Government, it was said.

Tokio Sends New Troops

TOKIO, May 4.—Japan moved fresh forces and munitions toward Tsinan, China, today, after reports were received here of a clash between Japanese expeditionary forces and troops of the Chinese Nationalist army.

Advices here said one Japanese soldier and one Japanese civilian had been killed in the fighting and one officer and thirty-three privates were wounded.

Chinese casualties were estimated at 800.

Japanese, Chinese Clash

SHANGHAI, May 4.—The battle between Japanese and Chinese troops at Tsinan ended at 6 a. m. today, according to Japanese wireless reports, when Gen. Chiang Kai Uehko recalled his Chinese troops.

Many foreign civilians were murdered, the report said, but details were lacking.

Several Americans still are in the Tsinan quarters, but the American embassy here has not yet been advised of their fate.

The reports here said that Japanese forces had repelled the Nationalist army during Thursday night and that somewhat of a calm had prevailed.

Later, however, the report said, the looting succeeded in entering the safety zone of the city. This was reserved for the foreigners who had remained in Tsinan.

The murders followed and there was a general looting of the safety zone.

DENY LENROOT WAS PAID BY POWER TRUST

Former Senator's Law Firm Was Engaged by Interests.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—A letter denying former Senator Irvin L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin, received $20,000 from utilities interests for fighting the Walsh utilities investigation resolution, was entered on the record today, in the Federal Trade Commission's utilities inquiry.

Payment of $20,000 to Lenroot was reported in testimony by Ira L. Grimshaw of the joint committee of National Utilities Association.

Grimshaw said Lenroot was engaged as counsel to oppose Walsh's resolution for a Senate power industries investigation.

In the letter, Elisha Hanson, Lenroot's law partner, said the joint committee engaged the firm of Lenroot, Hanson, Smith and Lovett, and did not deal with Lenroot individually.

The commission admitted into evidence a letter from Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy, who was shown in the joint committee's record to have received $7,500 for writing a book on Boulder Dam.

Childs explained that he had received this money as an attorney in payment for writing a brief.

BACK SALARIES PAID

3 Sanitary Board Members Win Court Fight.

Three city sanitary department executives today received a total of $3,500 in salary due since Jan. 1 as the result of the denial of a petition for an injunction by Circuit Judge Harry O. Chamberlin.

William M. Haste, a citizen, petitioned the injunction on the ground that State tax board had removed from the 1928 budget the salaries of Truly Nolen, collection superintendent; Floyd Baber, superintendent of garbage reduction, and Cecil Calvert, superintendent of sewage disposal.

The court held the city could employ the officials for their respective jobs. The sanitary board held a special meeting, approved vouchers and the men received their pay at once.

The suit grew out of the factional fight within the sanitary board before it was reorganized Jan. 1 when appointments of Mayor L. Ert Slack put three men on the board who are working in harmony.

Long Hair Proves More Popular With De Pauw Co-eds, College Check Shows

'Bobs' in Minority, 3 to 2, on Campus at Greencastle.

Short hair is fast becoming unpopular on the campus of De Pauw University. "It's too much trouble," the co-eds claim, and a great number of them are counting the days until they can once more "do up" their shorn locks.

Those who have clung to long tresses are smiling wisely for they are ready to meet the new trend in coiffure. Others, however, are clinging just as spiritedly to their bobs. "It's a matter of personality," they assert. "Some of us would look terrible with long hair, just as some of us now look terrible with short."

There are a great many go-betweens, those who are on the verge of letting their hair grow, but can still make their twelve-inch locks into the semblance of a bob. A rear view of these "hopefuls" displays a tiny knot of wispy hair with hair pins looking rather self-conscious.

A census of the leading sororities of the campus shows that the long outnumber the short about three to two. The mannish bob has preference over other kinds among the shorts, and those whose hair has been growing for a year usually wear it tucked behind their ears a la Greta Garbo. The favorite style among the long-haired co-eds is the simple Spanish coiffure with part and loose knot, but the flattering Psyche roll is seen frequently on the nape of the co-ed neck.

TAX CUT BILL FIGHT RENEWED

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Three movements to amend the $203,000,000 tax reduction bill approved by the administration, got under way today in the Senate.

The Democratic minority, led by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, prepared to fight for an 11½ per cent corporation tax. The bill now calls for a 12½ per cent levy, 1 per cent lower than the prevailing 13½.

Senator McMaster, Representative, South Dakota, proposed to introduce another amendment intended to give agriculture additional tariff protection. He enlisted the support of independent Republicans and a few Democrats.

Eastern Republicans championed a third amendment by Senator Bingham, Representative, Connecticut, for repeal of the estate tax. Simmons was admittedly pessimistic about the possibility of further reducing the corporation tax.

Leaders expect to dispose of the tax reduction measure early next week and resume the Boulder Dam debate.

Blindfolded.. in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Emily Post selects OLD GOLD

"Personally, I have never acquired a taste for tobacco. For most cigarettes seem to burn my tongue and sting my throat. The only time I ever smoke, therefore, is in courtesy to someone coming to my house, who would lay her accustomed cigarette aside unless I at least lit one, too.

"It seemed absurd, at first, that I should be chosen to attempt this blindfold test . . . except that never having become a smoker, my taste is extremely sensitive to the burning harshness of the average cigarette.

"But I was very much surprised to find that I had chosen OLD GOLD as being perceptibly smooth, stingless and pleasant to taste. In fact, I now quite easily understand why the OLD GOLD compartment in my general cigarette box must be so constantly refilled."
