

CAL'S NEXT JOB WHITTLED, SAYS NEW BIOGRAPHY

Book Gives Picture of Chief Executive in His Younger Days.

By United Press
NEW YORK, May 18.—Cameron Rogers' book, "The Legend of Calvin Coolidge," published today by Doubleday, Doran & Co., predicts that President Coolidge "undoubtedly will not run again," and that instead of becoming a university president or an executive in a corporation, he will "return to Plymouth Notch, as he has promised to whittle."

The book also contains an earlier and different picture of the President. When he was a young lawyer, the book says, practicing at Northampton, Mass., an occasional desire for diversion would pop into his head.

Rogers then says, "Calvin would rise and quit his office and, with an alien warmth of anticipation in his heart, proceed to his garden. He would seat himself and order a seidel of Pilsener. Then he would eat two pretzels, drink the seidel, and meditate. When the seidel was gone he would pay the shot and return to his work. The hour of dissipation was at an end."

The story also says that the primary stages of the Coolidge courtship of Grace Goodhue was dull because of Cal's talk of his books and law. He finally approached her father.

"What are you doing here," he was asked.

"I'm here to marry Grace," was the answer.

"Does she know about it?" came the query.

"No, but she will," Coolidge responded.

'GENTS' DON'T SWEAR SAYS BUTLER HEAD

Gives Talk to Courtesy Class at Y. M. C. A.

Profanity or vulgarity have no place in the vocabulary of a gentleman, former President Thomas C. Howe of Butler University told the courtesy class at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night. The lecture was one of a series being given by various speakers under "Y" auspices. The speaker recommended study of the classics as one of the best ways to learn how to speak and write excellent English. He also recommended many modern authors and pointed out that splendid work is being done in many fields of creative writing today. He condemned modern novels, however, for too much emphasis on sex appeal.

START NEW APARTMENT

Construction Begun on Delaware Street Building.

Construction of Marleigh Apartments, 1434 N. Delaware St., has been started by the Marleigh Realty Company, of which F. Roland Buck and Paul C. Bigler are the chief owners.

The building, the first to invade the old, fashionable residential district, will contain 48 apartments and be ready for occupancy Nov. 1. Buck operates several apartment buildings in Indianapolis, including the Rotherwood and the Shelton. Bigler is the Indianapolis representative of the Alpha Portland Cement Company.

BUS CURB IS ENJOINED

Continuation of a temporary restraining order handed down by the Supreme Court against the restraining order issued by the Delaware Circuit Court against operation of jitney busses over Muncie streets, by Sumner B. Denny, has been ordered by the Supreme Court until all briefs are filed.

Denny and others are opposing Arthur W. Brady, receiver for the Union Traction Company, who argue that by virtue of the company's franchise independent busses have no right of competition over Muncie streets.

Tornado in Oklahoma

A tornado struck the village of Thackerville, Oklahoma, last night and blew down every house. It was just a year ago that Indianapolis was visited by a similar storm. It is certainly a wise precaution to carry Tornado Insurance. The Insurance Department of the City Trust Company writes it.

By Times Special

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 18.—Lighting equipment of the St. Joseph Valley Aviation club's new airport will be put in operation for the first time Friday night when Mayor Chester R. Montgomery will operate a switch, part of the dedication of the airport.

The dedication exercises will open Friday to continue through Saturday. Thousands of persons are expected to attend and South Bend and state highway police have been detailed to handle the crowds.

Visiting planes will make a tour, starting here, and including visits to Elkhart, Ind., and Niles, Mich. Eilers here for the dedication will be guests at theater parties Friday and Saturday nights.

Contests for aviators include a twenty-five mile race for all types of planes, and a "dead stick" landing competition, with a start at 1,000 feet up.

Beacon Works Well

By Times Special

BRAZIL, Ind., May 18.—Light from Terre Haute's aviation beacon is visible here, fifteen and a half miles distant, even on rainy nights. The beacon is located on the roof of the Terre Haute Trust Company building.

By Times Special

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 18.—Among fifty local persons who ran in the St. Louis, Ind., race owned by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) during a stop here, was Wallace, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jenkins. At the other extreme was Col. D. N. Foster, 87, city park commission president.

Lindy Stamps in Books

The new Lindbergh air mail stamps will be issued in books of six early in June, because of increased use of air mail service. Postmaster Robert H. Bryson announced today. The books will be sold at 61c each.

Pattison Is Passenger

John W. Pattison, Cincinnati, O., of the Central Life Insurance Company, was a passenger on the air mail plane, stopping at the Indianapolis airport Thursday on his way from Chicago to Cincinnati.

Black Reaches Cairo

By United Press
CAIRO, May 18.—Van Leas Black, air yachtsman and publisher of the Baltimore Sun, arrived today on his flight from Capetown, South Africa. Cairo is the junction point for Black's present flight. On his return here from Capetown he plans to turn eastward and go to Tokyo, afterward retracing his course to Cairo and London.

Black is a fare-paying lessee of his plane, which is piloted by two Dutch aviators.

Student Airman Killed

By United Press
BROADVIEW, Ill., May 18.—William Nachowitz, 25, student aviator, was killed and Ray Wilcox, 21, pilot, was injured critically when an airplane in which Nachowitz was taking a flying lesson went into a nose dive and fell 400 feet here.

Chicago Expands Air Mail

By United Press
CHICAGO, May 18.—Announcement of a new air mail department and a new air line from Chicago was made here today.

A new air mail division will be created, with John Enright placed in charge as assistant postmaster. The new air lines will be between Chicago and Bay City, Mich., starting about June 22.

It was explained that Chicago's air mail business is becoming so great as to necessitate a new division to care for the mail. The Chicago-Bay City line will be the eighth route from Chicago.

Pair Fly to Dayton

Capt. H. Weir Cook, aviation instructor of the 13th Observation Squadron, and Sgt. L. Johnson, today flew to Dayton, Ohio, from the Indianapolis airport, on business. The trip was started at 11:30 a. m., in a Curtiss O-11 plane.

Tells of European Flying

Progress of aviation in Europe was described by Dan W. Le Gore, Indianapolis realtor, Thursday, at the Indianapolis Real Estate Board luncheon.

Le Gore, who toured several European countries and Algeria last winter, described a trip from Paris to London in an eighteen passenger ship, making the usual twenty-four hour trip in two hours, at a cost

Want Island for Airport

MEMPHIS, May 18.—Engineers just have recommended that Mud Island, a large sand flat in the Mississippi, a mile from the Memphis business district, which the giant river has built in the last 100 years, be utilized for an airport. Two million dollars will be needed to improve the island.

Dr. A. M. Mendenhall, 3304 Broadway, today is an aviation enthusiast, following his round trip by air to Detroit, Thursday, where he attended a medical clinic.

Unable to spare the time for a train trip, Dr. Mendenhall arranged to go by plane, although he had never flown before. He and his daughter, Evelyn, 17, Shortridge high school, originally planned to fly to Detroit with Capt. George Haldeman, trans-Atlantic pilot, but missed Haldeman's Stinson, and chartered a Waco plane, piloted by Capt. Lawrence Arlez.

Two hours and a half were required for the trip to Detroit. Bad weather required about four hours to make the return flight, the plane arriving here about 7:20 p. m.

Talks on Flying Business

Second class of the series of non-technical lectures on aeronautics being conducted by Paul H. Moore, Chamber of Commerce aviation secretary, will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The series was opened Thursday night with an address by Moore on the business of flying. Next week he will discuss motors and review the first lecture for benefit of new class members. Classes will be held each Tuesday evening for six or eight weeks.

The course is given to provide an insight into the subject of aeronautics and is open to anyone interested.

Buy Bellanca Plane

NEW YORK, May 18.—Shirley J. Short, Cleveland pilot, has bought a Bellanca monoplane in which he will make a long distance flight.

Although the exact destination of his proposed flight was not divulged it was believed he might fly from some point on the west coast down to South America. It was also suggested he might attempt a flight to Honolulu or to some other trans-Pacific destination.

BREMEN FLIERS QUIT PLANE; TO ENTRAIN TODAY

Abandon Air Craft at Detroit; Leave for Boston.

By United Press
DETROIT, Mich., May 18.—The three Bremen fliers slept almost until noon today, recuperating from a strenuous fourteen-hour-day of activity Thursday, which did not end until well after midnight.

When they arose with no schedule of public receptions to worry about the three, Baron Von Huenefeld, Major Fitzmaurice and Captain Koehl, slipped away on a quiet sight seeing tour.

They went to see the huge Fordson automobile plant where 75,000 men were at work; the Ford airplane factory and the Packard airplane motor shop.

Because of motor trouble which developed in the engine of the sister ship of the Bremen in which they were conducting their tour of American cities, changed their plans for a second time.

It was announced that they would leave by train at 4:26 p. m. for Boston, instead of going Saturday morning by plane, as had been planned. The plane will be repaired here and catch up with them somewhere in the East.

Bremen Rescue Delayed

By United Press
MONTREAL, Quebec, May 18.—The two United States Army planes now at St. George's, N. F., en route to Greenland Island, to bring the stranded trans-Atlantic plane Bremen to the United States, were forced to postpone the last lap of their flight today because of inclement weather, word reaching Montreal said.

There was a possibility, the message said, of their not taking off for Greenland Island until tomorrow.

Bathing Beauties Swim! Elks Club Is Astounded

Extra! Bathing beauties go in bathing! If the Elks Club had a daily newspaper they would probably run such a "screamer" across the top of page one today. The photograph above tells the story.

The Elks had the beauties who participated in the Miss Indiana contest held here a few weeks ago as their luncheon guests Wednesday and among other comforts of the club the girls enjoyed a swim in the natatorium. The Elks were astounded to learn that all of the girls, who are strutting in bathing suits at the Circle this week, actually do swim.

PREPARE ROADS FOR RACE DAY

State Highways Ordered Repaired, Marked.

Orders to the maintenance forces of the State Highway Department to get all unpaved Indiana highways in the best possible condition for Memorial Day traffic, which means a severe three-day test, have been issued by A. H. Hinkle, maintenance superintendent.

All warning, information and guide signs are being inspected and properly painted, for both the purpose of lessening hazards and to make it easier for the thousands of strangers coming into the State for the 500-mile automobile race.

The instructions to the field forces said: "See that every dangerous place is marked properly with a warning sign if not already marked; ruts along pavement should be filled in and shoulders dugged; and gravel and stone roads should be dragged properly and no piles of loose material placed thereon."

Search for Missing Man Fails

By Times Special
DANVILLE, Ind., May 18.—Search for David Higgins, aged stock buyer who has been missing more than a week, so far has failed to develop a single clue. Relatives held high hopes that Higgins was the aged man given lodging by Terre Haute and Brazil police two nights this week, but learned description of the man did not tally with that of Higgins.
