

PASTOR TO CELEBRATE SERVICE

Rev. U. S. Clutton Will Observe Twentieth Anniversary.

The Rev. U. S. Clutton, pastor of the Tuxedo Park Baptist Church, will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of his coming to the church as pastor on Sunday, June 3. Services will be held at 9:30 to 11:15 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. (daylight saving time).

After graduating from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., and serving as pastor of the Culbertson Avenue Baptist Church, New Albany, Ind., a little over three years, the Rev. Clutton accepted the call of the Tuxedo Park Baptist Church of this city and began his work the first Sunday of June, 1908.

The church has had a steady growth, growing from slightly more than 100 members to a present membership of nearly 600. Six years ago 100 members were dismissed to form the Emerson Avenue Baptist Church which was an outgrowth of the Mission Sunday school, established by the Rev. Clutton.

The frame building, which was the church twenty years ago, has been replaced by a modern church and Sunday school plant.

The church and Sunday school, with an attendance averaging about 600, ranks well among the leading Baptist churches of the State.

In 1910 the first Boy Scout troop in the city was organized by the Rev. Clutton, who has served as scoutmaster since then. The first Daily Vacation Bible school was held in the Tuxedo Park Church in the summer of 1915.

In January 1921 the Week-Day Bible school, meeting on Thursday after school, was inaugurated and has become a permanent part of the program. Last spring a moving picture machine was installed and is used throughout the year for education, entertainment and in the evening service during the summer months as part of the worship.

The Rev. Clutton has been made president of the Indiana Baptist Assembly, the young people's training school at Franklin College, for five summers. He has served as the president of the Indiana Baptist convention for two years and for fifteen years has been on the boards of the denomination in the State.

On the Rev. Clutton's twentieth anniversary the church has voted to begin a new order of service for Sunday morning and try it out for months of June, July and August. Instead of having the Sunday school and morning worship, in which two distinct services were held, only one service will be had, which will consist of worship, the message by the pastor and the study of the Sunday school lesson. The service will begin at 9:30 a. m. and be dismissed at 11:45 a. m.

A varied program will be given at the Seventh Christian Church tomorrow evening. The greater part will be musical, by the E. W. Hoover Concert Orchestra. Christine Wagner Roush, director; Jean Duthie, pianist; Alice Diver, harpist; Margaret Rasbach, orchestra soloist, giving the following program:

Sunday School Lesson

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 3. The Fellowship of His Sufferings. Mark 14: 17-25, 32-36.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

THE title of our lesson is from an expression of the apostle Paul—a beautiful expression which emphasizes the privilege of every man and his proper attitude toward Jesus of Nazareth.

What is our attitude toward the sufferings of Christ? Is it simply the attitude of indifference and carelessness? "Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by?" Is it the attitude that Jesus has suffered for us, and, therefore, we may go free, that he has borne some penalty instead of us? Or is it the response of love and gratitude that makes us yearn to share with him in his burdens as well as in his joys and triumphs?

Yearning for Fellowship
The picture of the human Christ given here in the story of the Last Supper, and in the story of the agony in Gethsemane, in its revelation of the heart of God, and how the Christ himself yearns for fellowship.

We may think of Jesus as all sufficient, but we find him weak and lonely in the garden, praying earnestly to God the Father and finding strength through his prayers, his faith and loyalty in which for the time being the disciples had failed him.

It is instructive to consider the attitude of Jesus when faced with last great tragedy. Possibly there are times when we condemn ourselves because it seems so hard for us to follow the way of sacrifice, and we are ashamed that we should be so weak and so faithless.

But it is well at such a time to remember that Jesus himself prayed earnestly that the cup might pass. However, if he was normally human he was at the same time divinely great in his confession and prayer to God—"Nevertheless not as I will but as thou wilt."

Facing the Sacrifice
There are times when sorrow and sacrifice must be faced unless a man is to prove a traitor to himself, to God, and to his fellow men. There are times when, having done all that one can do to avoid loss and pain, the full sacrifice must be faced with courage and cheerfulness. These two attitudes may well go together; in fact they ought to go together, for pain and sacrifice are good only when they are a part of some divine purpose.

Is it the attitude of support and confidence of prayer. It was in communion with God his Father that he found strength to go forth and meet his fate. So it is that in the fellowship of Christ's suffering we find strength to bear our burdens and to face our trials.

The full work of Christ for us is never accomplished until we discover the meaning and richness of this fellowship. Moreover there is a fellowship with Christ in the pleasant places in the fields and under the stars on the mountain that never brings to us the full revelations of love and power that come when we dare to enter Gethsemane and follow with him the way to the cross.

These are lessons that one cannot afford to ignore or express for another. Even the most intense expression of them is apt to be conventional and formal, but the lives of men and women who have tested these things in experience speak to us with inspiration and with certainty.

The mystery of life is not found in ways of ease and complacency; strange as it may seem. There are deeper experiences through which men must pass. There are keen tests of the soul which they must undergo if they would find the power of God.

ing in the basement of the church. For the past year the Sunday school enjoyed a remarkable growth of 100 members.

The Rev. William I. Caughran, pastor of the First Congregational Church, will preach Sunday morning at 11 o'clock on "The Ascension of Our Lord."

The United Lutheran Churches adopted the daylight saving time yesterday at a special session of the Indianapolis United Lutheran Ministers Association called by the Rev. W. C. Donaldson. Quite a bit of discussion followed the proposal and yesterday afternoon it was finally decided that all the United Lutheran Churches of the city would adopt the fast time.

The churches making this advanced move are: The First English Lutheran Church, Gethsemane Lutheran Church, Bethany Lutheran Church, Mars Hill Lutheran Church, Pleasant View Lutheran Church, Bethany Lutheran Church, St. Marks Lutheran Church and Bethlehem Evangelical Lutheran Church.

This action is to take effect immediately and carries with it daylight saving time for all the mid-week meetings.

To satisfy the many requests received since last Sunday, the Holy Name Society of St. Philip's Church will give a repetition of "Lines and Other Shines" minstrel frolic in the auditorium next Sunday, June 3, at 8:15 p. m.

The end men are Charlie Lyons, Bill Shines, Bert Swain, Joe Swallow, Ed Kruger and Ina Neidhamer. The ballad singers and the male chorus number fifty voices.

The show is under the direction of Charlie Lyons, who is also the manager and end man, Bill Hornberger and Bill Shine.

The Rev. L. E. Smith, pastor of Broadway Evangelical Church, corner of Broadway and Fifty-Fifth St., will preach Sunday morning from the subject "The Secret of a Great Life." In the evening "Bringing Back the King."

At a business meeting of the Emerson Avenue Baptist Church, E. New York St. and Emerson Ave., it was decided to hold all services of the church, beginning with morning services, Sunday, June 2, on daylight saving time.

Children's day will be observed Sunday at 10, daylight saving time, in the Fairview Presbyterian Church, Miss Lucia A. R. Ketcham and Mrs. Harold D. ## New Stunts to Be Given at Park

Stuart Will Stage Many Thrilling Events at Riverside.

A high-wire performance by Reckless Stuart and a five-parachute balloon jump by Claude Shafer, "The Patent Leather Kid," will feature this week-end's free attractions at Riverside amusement park. Stuart will give his first performance at Riverside tonight. Seventy-five feet in midair, the aerial stunt man will stage an acrobatic performance on a slender wire stretched between the two balloon poles in the center of the resort, and will conclude by presenting a fireworks spectacle called "The Death Trap of Flame," during which he will stand on the wire in the center of a volcano of fire from an immense pyrotechnic set piece. Again, Sunday night, Stuart will present the feature, introducing several new features in the second presentation.

Claude Shafer, "The Patent Leather Kid," who is rapidly becoming a popular idol among the Riverside visitors, will attempt a five-parachute leap Sunday afternoon from the big Riverside balloon. Shafer, who is employed during the week as a skilled mechanic in a local automobile body factory, has had several narrow escapes from serious injury or death this summer at Riverside, only last Sunday experiencing the thrill of having him suspended a mile high by a single slender strand of hemp, and compelling him to ride to earth in one of the small parachutes.

The beautiful stretch of White River at Riverside is proving a popular place for lovers of water sports and is dotted with canoes since the advent of summer weather.

The free admission to Riverside, together with the free checking service and the complete restaurants which have been installed this season in the resort, are making it a favorite headquarters for the golf, sports and tennis and horse and jockey devotees who indulge in their recreations on Riverside way.
