

SECOND SEARCH FOR DIRIGIBLE PROVES FUTILE

Norwegian Flier Returns From Long Trip Over Arctic Wastes.

ABOARD STEAMSHIP HOBBY, OFF SPITZBERGEN, June 7.—Lieut. Luetzow Holm's second airplane search for the crew of the lost polar dirigible Italia was fruitless.

The Norwegian flier returned to the Hobby today after flying over Kjaers Bay, Wood Bay and the interior of the island, as well as over the expanses of ice between Mossel Island and Spitzbergen.

Though visibility was excellent, Lieutenant Holm saw no sign of the lost explorer or their airship.

Lieutenant Holm expressed doubt that the Italia ever would be sighted on Mossel Island, which is small and scarcely eighteen feet above sea level. It was in the Mossel Island vicinity that the Italia last radioed to the world.

We took aboard today the Italian Alpine chausseurs whom the Clitta di Milano disembarked to search the island and who were missing for eight days with only seven days' food.

The chausseurs will be landed again on the Friesland Coast for another search.

The Hobby is heading for Mossel Bay, where Lieutenant Holm will take off for a third search flight. This time he will reconnoiter over Wieje Bay and western Friesland.

Packed ice has forced the rescue steamship Braganza to turn back at North Cape. She will make for the Henlopen strait and steam southward toward Kings Bay.

Reports Clew by Radio

NORTH WALES, Pa., June 7.—Albert L. Byler, radio amateur, said he picked up a message today which he believed was from Gen. Umberto Nobile, giving the position of the lost North Pole dirigible Italia.

The message, which was in English, read:

"Rush assistance. Position 84, 15, 10 north; 15, 20, 40 east. Very cold and worried." "Nobile."

The position given is about 300 miles north of Spitzbergen.

Orders for the movement of Indiana National Guardsmen from the home stations to the summer instruction camp at Camp Knox, Ky., from Aug. 5 to 19, have been issued by William H. Kershner, adjutant general.

Three Indianapolis units and two from Morris-town will make the trip by bus. The local units are: 113th Observation Squadron, photo section of the squadron and the 113th Medical Detachment. The Morris-town units are: 113th Veterinary Company and the 151st Service Company.

The remainder of the troops will go by train.

LODGE PARLEY OPENS

Twenty-Fourth Annual Grand Circle Meeting Held.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the Grand Circle of Indiana, women's auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Druids, opened this morning at Druids' Hall, 29 S. Delaware St. Mrs. Lillian Fraul, grand arch druidess, presided.

Delegates were entertained Wednesday evening at Maryland Hall, by members of the Marion County chapter of the auxiliary. Charles G. N. Gelder, grand secretary of the Druids, delivered an address.

A reception in honor of the seventy-five delegates followed.

'Cashes In'

Cave-man tactics won spiritually and lost financially in Municipal Judge Paul C. Welter's court in the case of Milton Taylor, 24, of 519 St. Paul St.

Taylor regained the regard of Miss Mary Staley, 21, whom he carried from her home, 2016 English Ave., May 28, but Judge Welter fined him $31 for lack of finesse in his methods.

Miss Staley stood with Taylor in his trial and walked out of the courtroom with him. Testimony showed Taylor struck Miss Staley's mother, Mrs. Martha Staley and her visitors, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Luck, 214 Beville Ave.

The mother called police, who overtook Taylor, his brother, John, 22, and the girl.

Candidate and Mother

Mrs. Emma Dailey of Ft. Wayne and her son, Frank C. Dailey. Mrs. Dailey was one of the happy throng who saw Dailey nominated for Governor at the Democratic State convention at Cadle Tabernacle Wednesday.

SHOALS VETO LIMIT IS NEAR

Last Day for Coolidge to Sign Power Measure.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Today is the last day for President Coolidge to veto or sign the Muscle Shoals bill for Government operation of the wartime nitrate plant in Alabama.

If he fails to act by midnight the bill will, in his judgment and that of the justice department, have a "pocket veto" status, while proponents of the measure declare it automatically will be a law.

Ten days (excluding Sundays) have elapsed since Congress sent the passed bill to the President. It has never been established by the United States Supreme Court whether a bill not acted on after the long session of Congress automatically dies or becomes law.

It is freely predicted a test will be made in this case.

There was little indication at the White House today that Mr. Coolidge would sign the measure.

URGES SCHOOL AID

Leslie Addresses Rotarians at Bloomington.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., June 7.—Plea for the State to give more support to educational institutions was sounded Wednesday by Harry G. Leslie, Republican candidate for Governor, in an address before the local Rotary Club. Roy P. Wisheart, State superintendent of public instruction, also spoke.

Leslie declared there is no conflict between the State universities "All are doing a different work and each is working in cooperation with the other," he said. "It is an imperative fact that these schools need more money with which to carry on their work and it is a shame that their tremendous services are not fully appreciated by the citizens of Indiana."

"It is unthinkable that the State should not want the highest class of teachers, engineers, agriculturists, doctors and dentists and these schools deserve better treatment from the State."

H. P. SHEETS TO SPEAK

Local Man on Today's Program of National Jewelers.

State wholesalers and manufacturers of jewelry, organized as the Jewelry Trade Association, continued a two-day conference at the Claypool today.

Addresses were to be made by E. St. Elmo Lewis of New York on "Organizing for Profit"; Herbert P. Sheets, Indianapolis, "What Organization Has Done for the Hardware Trade"; W. Calver Moore, "Observation of the Present Situation in the Jewelry Trade"; and Bartley J. Doyle, Philadelphia, "The Organization Plan."

FLIERS BURNED IN SPIN

Two Die When Plane Falls in Flames.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Keith Keeling, 30, pilot, and Clay Goodrich, 23, aviator mechanic and student pilot, were burned to death Wednesday night when a monoplane they occupied fell 800 feet in a tailspin over Arlington, Va., and burst into flames.

The men were taking a "pleasure jaunt" from Potomac flying field to test the plane, which recently came from a factory at Alexandria, Va.

Keeling, whose home was Kansas City, had been a licensed pilot ten years and also was regarded as an exceptionally safe driver.

START PADLOCK MOVE

Action Begun Against "Green Parrot" in U. S. Court.

Padlock proceedings were instituted in Federal Court Wednesday by District Attorney Albert Ward against the "Green Parrot" roadhouse near Kokomo, recently raided by prohibition agents under George L. Winkler, deputy dry administrator. C. E. Nutter, former prohibition agent, was named as proprietor.

DISAVOW PLAN FOR EXTENSIVE WIRE TAPPING

Dry Czar Says Practice Will Be Used Only in Conspiracy Cases.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Treasury officials today disavowed any intention of tapping telephone wires on a large scale to enforce the dry laws, even though such methods are legal under the Supreme Court decisions.

"There will be no general snooping on the wires," said Seymour L. Lowman, dry czar. "We will use it only in the case of tremendous conspiracies, as we have in the past. It will be resorted to only when we have direct evidence of such a conspiracy, and then only as a last resort. It will not be used for the purpose of obtaining tips regarding bootleggers or buyers."

Despite Lowman's restriction of the use of telephone snoopers, it is expected there will be a demand for legislation barring such enforcement activities. This is all the more probable because the Supreme Court, though finding wire tapping lawful, virtually invited Congress to amend the legal code to prevent it.

Will Introduce Bill

Representative John J. Boylan of New York, said he would introduce a measure to outlaw such practices. "Such underhand use of the law's protection," he said, "might easily lead to terrorist methods in the hands of an indiscreet official. This favors more of Moscow than the United States. One of the first duties of the new Congress should be to bar wire tapping of any kind."

"We will find whether, besides permitting the poisoning of alcohol and employment of criminals as dry agents, the professional prohibitionists will sanction this invasion of the home."

"The one consoling thing about the decision is it may convince millions that the dry laws are undermining the Constitution and the very foundations on which our country stands."

Many other members also took the same position, and there will probably be a barrage of bills directed against the decision next December.

Charge Illegal Conspiracy

The majority opinion of the court was that the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution gave protection only to material things, and that a telephone installed for protection of the voice outside the home did not enjoy privilege status. The five taking this view applied the amendment's terms literally.

Justice Brandeis, as the spokesman for four dissenters, argued against the Government resorting to an illegal conspiracy in an attempt to defeat another illegal conspiracy. Justice Holmes took this same view. Justice Butler pointed out that the telephone's present use places it in the same category as papers, person, property and other privileged matter.

BUILD NEW FORD HERE

Mayor, Realtors Greet First Product After Plant Is Reopened.

Mayor L. Ert Slack and Emerson W. Chaille and J. Frank Cantwell of the Indianapolis Real Estate Board, greeted the first new type Ford built in Indianapolis, at the Ford Motor Company assembly plant, 1315 E. Washington St., Wednesday.

The local Ford plant resumed operations Monday and ten cars were completed Wednesday. Two hundred men now are employed and the force will be increased to 800 according to Manager G. J. Steinmetz.

The Indianapolis Real Estate Board was arranging extensive ceremonies for the completion of the first car, not expected until next week.

TEACHER LAW SOUGHT

C. of C. to Boost Uniform State Retirement Act.

A State movement for a uniform school teachers' retirement law in Indiana is to be backed by the Chamber of Commerce education committee, it was decided Wednesday.

The committee will seek a law in coordination with the tenure act and the teachers' pension act. The committee recently conferred with Superintendent Charles F. Miller and school board members in regard to the Indianapolis retirement rule recently adopted, providing retirement of grade teachers 68 years old and high school teachers 70 years old.

DISCUSS LABOR DISPUTE

Mine Workers Officers Here for Conference.

Dennis H. Brislin, Rinaldo Cappellini and Enoch Williams, officers of District 1, United Mine Workers of America, were in session with national officers at headquarters here Wednesday, discussing recent disputes. John L. Lewis, national president, declared that nothing definite would be decided until late Wednesday or Thursday.

The group from the district, which is in the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre (Pa.) region, recently have been at war with part of the local membership over their attitude on contract labor. They came here unofficially, on their own initiative.

ACCUSED DENIES MURDER GUILT

John Burns on Stand at Lafayette.

By Times Special

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 7.—Unshaken in his story of the murder of Deputy Sheriffs Wallace McClure and John Grove, the 20-year-old youth accused as their slayer, John Burns, from the witness stand in Tippecanoe Circuit Court here, declared he was unarmed and had never had a revolver in his possession while in the county jail here.

Burns asserted he and Samuel Baxter, while being transferred to the State reformatory at Pendleton to serve terms for banditry, lay on the floor of an automobile while the two officers were slain and that he did not know who fired the fatal shots. This is the same story told by Burns during eleven hours of questioning following his arrest May 21, after he and Baxter disappeared Feb. 7. Baxter is still missing.
