Upside Down? They Were

A typographical error, the upside down appearance of the two top photos? No—that's the way Lieutenants Maxwell Balfour (with helmet) and John H. McCormick were headed when they parted company with their airplane over Mitchel Field, Long Island. The plane's wings suddenly had folded up. The fliers' parachutes opened all right and both escaped unhurt. But the plane's fuselage dived through the roof of W. Averell Harriman's stable, as shown in the lower picture, and killed two fine polo ponies.

STRESSES NEED OF $600,000 TO ERECT BRIDGES

Engineer Says Millions Must Be Spent for City Sewers.

Need for city bridge improvements costing about $600,000 and a city-wide sewer survey has been pointed out to Mayor L. Ert Slack's cabinet by City Engineer A. H. Moore.

Moore pointed out the rapid growth of the city has made the present sewer system inadequate, requiring a number of improvements. He declared the sewers and drains are based on a survey of Rudolph Herring of New York, made in 1892.

"Herring estimated at that time that the city's population in 1920 would be 243,547. The actual population was 314,000," Moore said.

Planning for Future

The problem has become a serious one demanding that a survey should be started as soon as possible. Remedy of the situation will cost the city millions of dollars in bonds or taxation.

"Sewers and interceptors now being constructed by the engineering and sanitary departments are being designed for a population of more than 400,000 in 1930, more than 500,000 in 1940, 610,000 in 1950, and 730,000 in 1960."

The engineer said the department is working on plans to serve the Piques Run and Thirty-Eighth St. districts, northeast of the city, "which should have been served with sewers years ago."

Proposed Extensions

These extensions are proposed by Moore:

Extension of Piques Run interceptor, from Rural St. to Denny St. Piques Run interceptor relief sewer, from Washington St. and Liberty St. to North and Dorman Sts.

Ralston Ave. and Thirty-Fourth St. interceptor.

It is contemplated to make the improvements through the city sanitary district by issuance of $134,400 bonds.

Piques Run main interceptor sewer costing $635,000, Forty-Second and Forty-Sixth St. main sewers are under construction. English Ave. sewer is being delayed by litigation.

May Change Fall Creek

Moore recommended immediate replacement of the Indiana Ave. bridge over Fall Creek and changing of the course of the stream. Negotiations are under way with the Indianapolis Water Company to acquire needed land. It is contemplated that a $300,000 bond issue under the flood prevention act will be requested.

Opening of Langesdale Ave. at Twenty-Eighth St. to the northwest part of the city an outlet to the east is contemplated making necessary the replacement of the present inadequate bridge over Fall Creek, costing about $150,000. A new span over the canal at Twenty-First St. costing $400,000 is planned.

Other bridge projects:

Repair of Thirtieth and Central Ave. bridges, $15,000; new bridge at canal and Eleventh, $10,000; new Shelby St. bridge over Pleasant Run to cost $50,000; repair of W. New York St. bridge over White River.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of Army engineers, was on his way to the Mississippi valley today to begin work on the gigantic engineering project involved in the new flood control program.

Stopping first at Rock Island, Ill., he will proceed to St. Louis, to convene the first meeting of the board created under the flood control law.

This meeting, which probably will be held next Wednesday or Thursday, will be attended by Carleton W. Sturtevant, New York, recently named civilian member of the board by President Coolidge, and Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Jackson, who has succeeded Col. Charles L. Potter, retired, as chairman of the Mississippi River Commission.

Cases of Meningitis

ON INCREASE IN U. S.

Survey Shows Malaria More Prevalent in Cold Regions.

By Science Service

WASHINGTON, June 16.—More than twice as many cases of meningitis occurred in the United States this year as last year, reports the United States Public Health Service. During the period from March 4 to April 28 in 1926 only 438 cases were reported. For the same period of 1927 there were 477 cases and during 1928 there were 1,036 cases. The largest numbers were reported from the cities.

While there is no epidemic present and has been none, except in Africa, since the war, the League of Nations Epidemiological Report shows a definite increase in this disease during the last ten years over the period before the war.

Apparently the disease is more prevalent in cold than warm countries of Europe and North America, Canada showing a higher mortality rate than the United States, and Scotland, Denmark and Sweden having a higher rate than England, Germany and the Netherlands.

DIPLOMATS SEE HOOVER AS NEW WORLD LEADER

Change in Foreign Policy Is Forecast From Message to Convention.

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The nomination of Herbert Hoover by the Republican party at Kansas City is regarded in diplomatic circles here as the most significant event which has taken place in the United States since the World War.

Nominated as he was by the party, regarded as "isolationist" since 1914, foreign observers look upon the move as the first step in the direction of recapturing the leadership of the world. This leadership spontaneously fell to the United States the day the armistice was signed but was lost when Republicans and Democrats made a political football of the treaty of Versailles in 1920.

Alert to Situation

Not that anyone here is expecting Hoover to lead this country into the League of Nations or anything like that. But he is expected to evolve some practicable plan whereby the United States will be able to cooperate, in a leading capacity, with the rest of the nations for the betterment of all concerned.

That Hoover is keenly alive to the moral and material benefits to be reaped by the American people through world leadership and understanding, appears unmistakably in his message to the Kansas City convention. Said he:

"A new era and new forces have come into our economic life and our setting among the nations of the world. These forces demand of us constant study and effort if prosperity, peace and contentment shall be maintained."

Expected New Policy

That this should have been the Republican candidate's very first message to the delegates of the party which had just nominated him, is not lost upon observers here. As the pronouncement of a man who expects to become the next President of the United States it is accepted as a vital part of the nominee's pre-determined program and the foundation of a new national foreign policy in the event of his election next fall.

Foreign observers have never ceased to assert that not only the people of the United States, but the world, generally lost much when foreign policies became the political shuttlecock of the two major parties.
