

GRAIN EXCHANGE PLANS TO BUILD 40-STORY HOME

Will Stand Where Chicago Once Barred Structure Third Smaller.

By R. FRANKLIN MERRITT
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, July 7.—On the same site where thirty-seven years ago a thirteen-story building was deemed "too great a contrast" to other buildings nearby, a forty-story building is to be erected here, to house the ever-increasing business of the Chicago Board of Trade.

In 1891 a four-story superstructure which towered over the nine-story Board of Trade building was torn down. It was feared it might fall and it offered too great a contrast to other buildings in youthful Chicago.

A searchlight gleamed from the top of the old building at the time and it was Chicago's boast that it could be seen for ten miles. The lights from the loop can be seen for many times ten miles today and the Board of Trade building is dwarfed by the skyscrapers which now surround it.

82 Members in 1848
From the organization of eighty-two men in 1848, when only small amounts of grain were grown each year the board has increased its membership to 1,600. Membership recently sold as high as $17,500.

More than 400,000,000 bushels of grain are received in this market annually. This is equal to twenty trainloads of fifty cars each day for every working day of the year. As much as 2,000,000 bushels has been received in one day.

The new Board of Trade building, on which construction will be started this year, will be located on the site of the present building which was erected in 1894. The exchange will move into temporary quarters on Oct. 1 and the new building will be completed in about a year and a half.

Use Indiana Limestone
The main portion of the building will be twenty-three stories, with a superstructure for the remainder of the distance. The exterior will be of Indiana limestone with a two-story polished granite base.

Brokerage houses, stores and shops will be on the first floor and the second will be devoted to investment, banking and brokerage houses.

SET GLENDENING RITES

Funeral for Suicide Victim to Be Held at Washington, Ind.

Funeral services for Miss Elizabeth Glendening, 58, of 115 S. Butler Ave., who drank poison in the garage at her home Friday, will be held at Washington, Ind., Sunday.

Miss Glendening had been employed in the catalog department of the Indianapolis Public Library for many years and had become dependent since her retirement a year ago, relatives said.

Surviving are her father, John J. Glendening; a sister, Miss Pearl Glendening; and two brothers, Dr. J. L. Glendening and George Glendening, all of Indianapolis.

Guns Rarely Flashed in Dry Raids, Says Winkler

'No-Rough-Stuff' Edict to Have Little Effect on State Forces.

The edict from Washington, "No more rough stuff" in prohibition enforcement, means no change in the behavior of Federal dry agents in Indiana, said George L. Winkler, deputy prohibition administrator, today.

"Since I took over this job a year and a half ago," Winkler said, commenting on the pronouncement from Dr. J. M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, "there has been no unnecessary 'rough stuff' countenanced."

Winkler's men are armed, but are

STRIKING MINE FAMILIES LIVE ON $5 A WEEK

Union Benefits Are Only Income for Hundreds in Pennsylvania.

By DEXTER M. KEEZER
PITTSBURGH, July 7.—Housed in rough shacks that are much more effective in absorbing summer heat than they were in repulsing winter cold, hundreds of union coal miners' families in this district are continuing the amazing demonstration of how a family of six can live on an income of $5 a week.

The income is computed from the strike benefits being paid to the families of miners who have been on strike more than fifteen months. The allowances are $2 a week for men, $1 for women and fifty cents for each child.

Thousands Leave Fields
Of the 45,000 union miners in this district when the strike started April 1, 1927, several thousand have gone to Detroit where they have found employment in the automobile industry.

Odd jobs to make a little money are much sought after, but jobs are far from plentiful in the mining districts.

Strikers say labor for the reopened mines is so plentiful that they cannot hope to cause a shortage of workers, but the type of labor is unskilled and unreliable, costing the operators more per ton of coal than skilled union labor.

Wives Are Unsauntered
Unless the system of strike benefits, dispersed through central commissaries at wholesale prices, breaks down, the wives of the miners say they are prepared to stick it out.

"This is pretty bad," one mother of eight said today, "but it is no worse than we would have as a regular thing if we gave up the union and went back and took just what they wanted to give us for wages."

APPLES IN DEATH ROLE

Accusing Boy of Theft Precedes Slaying at Aurora.

By Times Special
AURORA, Ind., July 7.—An accusation that a small son of Cecil Reynolds, slain by Raymond O'Neil, stole some apples from a tree started a chain of events which led to the fatal shooting of Reynolds by O'Neil.

The divorced wife of the slayer accused Reynolds' son. The father went to her home to remonstrate with her. She appeared armed with a club. Before any blows were struck, O'Neil, who was at the house attempting a reconciliation with his wife, appeared at a door and fired a shotgun at Reynolds.

Four years ago Mrs. Bosdick was known as the "flapper bandit" and served ninety days at the Indiana Woman's Prison for her activities in several filling station hold-ups.

SMITH DESIRES HELP OF REED

Nominee Invites Senator to Conference.

By Times Special
NEW YORK, July 7.—Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, Democratic nominee for President, desires aid of Senator James A. Reed, Missouri, his foe in the recent national convention, in his campaign for election.

A conference with the Senator to be held at Albany is suggested in a letter written by Governor Smith to Reed. The letter reads: "Now that the storm of battle is clearing away, I hope that I can prevail upon you to spend a night at Albany at the executive mansion and confer with me on the conduct and issues of the campaign in which we are all engaged together. Please let me know what your plans are for the near future so that we can, perhaps, get together soon."

PIRATES BOARD SHIP

British Lighter Crew's Money Taken by Chinese Outlaws.
