

HOOVER GOOD AS ELECTED IS G. O. P. OPINION

Belief Dictates Easy-Going Campaign With Few Speeches.

By PAUL R. MA'LOON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Herbert Hoover and his campaign skippers have decided in their conferences here that they can cruise into port election day ahead of the Democrats with only such sails as they already have set.

They base their confidence on the idea that nominally this is a Republican and dry country and they do not intend to do any extra maneuvering which they feel might jeopardize what they privately expect will be the inevitable result.

This is the psychology behind their decision to hold Hoover down to three or four speeches and behind their agreement to let each State organization conduct its own campaign free from interference or direction by the national campaign organization.

Nothing More to Say

They make no secret in private discussions of their belief that Hoover said all that is necessary in his acceptance speech. They claim to see nothing else for him to talk about.

They do not claim a tidal wave. Their private reports from the outlying districts indicate the popular vote may be close but, privately again, they claim to feel certain they have more than sufficient electoral votes if they can prevent squalls from arising between now and Nov. 6, the date of election.

Hoover is known to concur in this theory and intends to conduct the personal part of his campaign as if he had no opponent. He will run on his acceptance speech and such simplifications of it as he chooses to meet developing issues, but it is known he does not propose to answer anybody's charges about anything.

This strategy was so successful in the campaign conducted by President Coolidge from the White House in 1924 that Hoover leaders intend to copy it.

Discuss Cabinet

The confidence around Hoover headquarters has grown to such an extent that many of his friends are even talking about what kind of a Cabinet he will select. Some Hoover men, however, are warning against over-confidence. It is generally agreed William J. Donovan, now assistant attorney general, would be the likely choice for the attorney generalship; that Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University, may be offered a post of prominence, and that Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, has reason to expect an appointment in the official family.

The nominee is taking things easy in his new headquarters in the Moore mansion. Thursday he received only a few visitors and today the only scheduled caller was F. W. Prince, Boston railroad man.

Edmund Machold, New York State chairman, and W. H. Hill, head of the New York "Hoover-Curtis" Club, told Hoover Thursday they thought he surely would carry New York State. They said they did not know how his prohibition attitude would be presented by the New York State organization, but Machold said he considered "the prohibition question will be more acutely an issue in New York City than anywhere else."

NEW RABBI AND CANTOR WELCOMED AT TEMPLE

Greeted by Congregation at Reception Thursday.

Rabbi Milton Steinberg and Cantor Myro Glass of New York, were honored at the Temple Beth El-Zadeck Thursday.

Members of the congregation were present to welcome their new rabbi and cantor, who have started preparation for the observance of Rosh Hashonah, New Year services, Sept. 15 and 16.

Many communicants from out of the city are expected to attend the beautiful services.

Rabbi Steinberg is a graduate of the Jewish Theological Seminary and Columbia University, and Cantor Glass was for five years a student at the Vienna Conservatory of Music and engaged in concerts both in Europe and Palestine.

Find Lost Ring in Sand
NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Three thousand visitors at Rockaway Beach joined in a search for a $3,000 diamond ring that S. A. Lavon lost on the boardwalk. Jeremiah Daly, 16, and John McCarthy, 12, strained the sand and found the ring. They were rewarded.

Crash Victim

Important news pictures printed in The Times often were flown for NEA Service by "Merry" Merrill (above). New York aviator, who, with a companion, Edwin M. Ronne, disappeared during a flight from Buffalo to New York. Merrill frequently piloted planes, too, for NEA-Times photographers taking pictures from the air. The bodies of Merrill and Ronne were found near the wreckage of a plane belonging to Col. Lindbergh, in which they left Buffalo.

LAST CASTS ON BRULE FOR CAL

Trout Season Closes Today; Looks to Other Streams.

By United Press

CEDAR ISLAND LODGE, Wis., 31.—President Coolidge will make his last casts for Brule River trout today. The law will protect the trout from the presidential hook with the closing of the open season at midnight.

Hereafter the President must resort to private lakes on the Pierce estate for his fishing, unless he decides to try his luck outside the State. The lakes are well stocked with liver-fed trout, but the President prefers stream fishing because of its greater sporting flavor.

Mr. Coolidge has found considerable enjoyment in his excursions. Hardly a day passes, except Sunday, that does not find him at the sport. Whereas, last summer he aroused considerable comment by using worms for bait, he now has become an expert at dry fly casting. He employed it recently to land the largest catch of his vacation—a four and one-half pound rainbow trout.

Lately Mr. Coolidge has introduced novelty into his routine by devoting many hours to night angling sessions on the Brule.

Today Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will make a water cruise around the Superior-Duluth harbor.

F. J. CARROLL DIES

Prominent Insurance Man to Be Buried Monday.

F. J. Carroll, 37, of 226 E. Forty-Fifth St., died suddenly at 2 a. m. today at his home. Funeral services will be held Monday at the St. Joan de Arc Church, and burial will be in Holy Cross cemetery.

Mr. Carroll has been in the insurance business for twenty years. He was the resident manager in Indianapolis for the Globe Indemnity Company at the time of his death. He was born in Brazil, Ind., and first was employed by an insurance company in Indianapolis. He later went to Kansas City, Mo., to Pittsburgh and six years ago to the Globe home office, Newark, N. J. He was transferred here three years ago.

Mr. Carroll was a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Columbia Club.

Surviving are: The widow; his mother, Mrs. James Carroll, and a sister, Mrs. Joseph Spaulding, Indianapolis; two brothers, Lawrence B. Carroll, Terre Haute, Ind., and John J. Carroll of New York City.

SYRACUSE FAIR VISIT GIVES AL HOPE OF STATE

Outlook Encouraging Smith Feels; Rests After Strenuous Day.

By THOMAS L. STOKES

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Governor Alfred E. Smith began today a rest over the week-end from his strenuous trips into New Jersey and to the State fair at Syracuse, preparatory to plunging next week into State business that has accumulated.

He returned to the executive mansion Thursday night from Syracuse a weary man, worn with the almost constant contact with crowds in the week he has been away, but he was satisfied with the results of his first appearances before the people since his acceptance of the nomination.

Political leaders gathered at Syracuse for the State committee meeting brought him encouraging reports of the situation in the State, and also told him that his cordial welcome by State Fair crowds gathered from surrounding strong Republican territory indicate he may make inroads there.

Smith carried Onondaga County, in which Syracuse is located, in 1922, but that part of the State usually is safely Republican. The reception of the Democratic candidate at Syracuse was not so boisterously enthusiastic as the almost continuous ovations he received on his New Jersey trip, but it was the most enthusiastic he ever had received there, according to local observers.

The started Thursday with a political speech to State Democratic leaders, rallying them to the coming campaign for both the State and national tickets. Then he dedicated the New York State Agricultural Museum, and topped off his day by watching the races.

He received an enthusiastic welcome from the crowd when he made a dramatic entrance by riding down the middle of the track in his car. He waved his hat to the stands and Mrs. Smith smiled.

He and his party occupied a box just at the finishing line, and the Governor acted as "Bookie" for members of his party, who were wagering on the races.

There was a "Governor's Sweepstakes" in honor of the distinguished guest.

The grandstand crowd joined in singing "The Sidewalks of New York." The Governor joined in as did Mrs. Smith and other members of the party.

ENGLAND ASKS ALBANIA WAIT

Greek, Slav O. K. on King Demanded.

By United Press

BELGRADE, Aug. 31.—Reports from Tirana today said that the British minister there had protested against proclaiming of Achmed Zogu as the King of Albania Saturday. It was understood the minister had demanded postponement of the proclamation pending approval by Greece and Jugoslavia.

Reports indicated, meanwhile, that demonstrations in favor of Achmed Zogu were increasing daily. Hundreds paraded and concluded their parades in front of the new king's home. It was reported Wednesday that Italian airplanes circled over Achmed Zogu's home and dropped pamphlets eulogizing him.

Allied With Italy

By United Press

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Although a new King will be crowned Saturday, when Achmed Zogu becomes the King of Albania, the best informed French political circles today believed the transference of Albania from a republic to a monarchy would make no difference in world politics.

It was pointed out that Achmed Zogu has accepted everything asked by Premier Mussolini, even a practical Italian protectorate, because Italy has the right by treaty to intervene in the interior affairs of Albania.

This situation naturally is a great aid to Zogu because Italy can send armed forces into Albania to uphold the throne if ever it is menaced.

SEA GIVES UP WHEEL

Airplane Part Is Washed Ashore at Iceland.

By United Press

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 31.—An airplane wheel has been discovered floating in the water near Skapartaras, Iceland, the Danish Government was advised today.

The wheel was marked: "Paladium cord, aero standard, 1100 plus 220." It was believed the wheel was from some trans-Atlantic airplane that had gone down at sea.
