INDIANS PLAY ROCHESTER IN LITTLE SERIES

Champion Tribe Team Journeys to East for Four Conflicts.

LEAVE EARLY TONIGHT

Return to Indianapolis for Closing Battles With Red Wings.

New champions of the American Association, the Indianapolis baseball club departs for Rochester, N. Y., at 6:25 this evening, where the "little world series" will get under way Wednesday, with the Indians meeting the Red Wings, pennant winners of the International League.

Still confident after their bitter fight in the long A. A. campaign Bruno Betzel's Tribesmen are eager to capture further laurels for Indianapolis and also to uphold the prestige of the Association in Class AA ball.

Series Arrangement

Four games will be staged in Rochester, Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, Friday being left open to take care of a possible postponement or tie.

Sunday evening the Indians and Red Wings will depart for Indianapolis to resume play, probably on Wednesday, Oct. 3.

The "little world series" is a nine-game affair, but which ends when one team takes five tilts. The players share in the first five games only. In last year's "little series" Toledo of the A. A. defeated Buffalo of the International.

Rochester won the International League pennant Sunday at Montreal by defeating the Royals twice on the last day of the season, 5 to 2 and 6 to 0. Billy Southworth, former New York Giant and St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, piloted the Red Wings to the first pennant Rochester has won in seventeen years.

Buffalo won its last game from Toronto, but Rochester finished a fraction more than 1-1000 of a point ahead of Buffalo because Rochester played four fewer games than the 1927 champions.

Rooters Leave Tuesday

The Indian player party to Rochester will be in charge of Owner Jim Perry, Manager Betzel and Secretary Clauer. Other club officials, headed by Norman Perry, vice president, will depart with a rooting brigade Tuesday evening. Indianapolis headquarters will be the Seneca Hotel.

The Indians will practice on the Rochester field Tuesday. Word from Rochester says the baseball boosters there are preparing for a gala series opening celebration.

Beat Toronto in 1917

The last time Indianapolis battled the International League was in 1917, when Jack Hendricks piloted the Hoosiers to the A. A. pennant. Toronto was the L. L. winner and the Indians defeated the Leafs in the "little series."

For this year's event umpires will be George Johnson of the American Association and Robert Clarke of the International.

STATE OFFERS DOUBLE-SIZED ARMORY HERE

Will Build Addition If City Provides Land; Plan Huge Auditorium.

Indiana is ready to double the capacity of the National Guard Armory and give Indianapolis an auditorium that will seat more than 10,000 if the city, or interested citizens, will provide the ground for such a project.

This stand of the State was announced today by Adj. Gen. William H. Kershner in discussing the proposed abandonment of certain Indiana National Guard units here because of lack of adequate housing.

The State Armory board, charged with building of Armories in the State, is going to work on the plan to double the size of the present Armory on Pennsylvania St. the first of the year, the general declared.

"We have not moved any units of the guard from Indianapolis because we hope that it will be unnecessary," he asserted. "By the end of the year we expect to be pretty well cleaned up on an armory building in the State and devote ourselves to the Indianapolis project."

"There is $300,000 available for an addition to the armory here. That would be a sufficient sum, should the grounds be obtained through the city or citizens. This is the way such projects have been brought about in other cities and towns and we feel that it would work out the same here."

Room for All Units

With the proposed addition, the Armory could take care of all units of the guard and the community will have a centrally located auditorium of large seating capacity, capable of housing national conventions and similar gatherings, Kershner pointed out.

"If our plans are successful this city will not lose any guard units," he continued. "There may be some change in the table of organization, distributing the units differently. In my opinion this city should have a battalion of infantry. There are no infantry units here now."

"With an Armory double the size of the present one, the place would be ideal for housing an infantry battalion. The troops could easily be given close-order drill indoors."

THEATER BLAZE TAKES 67 LIVES

Hundreds Thrown in Panic by Madrid Fire.

MADRID, Sept. 24.—The death list in the Novedades Theater fire and panic reached 67 this evening with the finding of two more bodies in the ruins and the death of eight more of the injured. About 234 others were injured.

The Spanish capital was stunned by the disaster. Approximately 1,000 persons were in the theater, the oldest and largest in Madrid, when a lantern used in the last act of a comedy set fire to a curtain.

The flimsy scenery blazed up and smoke and flames rolled out over the audience.

At the height of the frightful panic that followed the lights were short-circuited. Men, women and children were trampled and suffocated. The main stairway collapsed while hundreds of persons were fighting their way down.

Examination of bodies indicated that some had shot themselves rather than be burned to death, while others fought their way with knives through the packed mass of humanity barring their way to the exits.

TRAUGOTT INDICTED AGAIN BY COUNTY GRAND JURORS; FOUR OTHERS ALSO HELD

Charge of Transporting Liquor Lodged Against Owner of Store, Wrecked in Explosion Last Month.

ST. LOUIS GANGSTER NAMED IN BILL

'Pickles' O'Roark, Donald Underwood and One Other Man Involved;

Bonds Set at $2,500.

Edward Traugott, whose W. Washington St. clothing store was wrecked by a mysterious fire and explosion Aug. 26, and who is under arrest charged with being a member of an interstate automobile theft ring, was indicted by the Marion County grand jury today on a charge of conspiracy to commit a felony.

The felony, according to the indictment, was transportation of intoxicating liquor in a motor vehicle.

Fred (Pickles) O'Roark, 307 Agnes St., ex-policeman; Homer Wright, alleged St. Louis booze ring leader; Donald Underwood, professional bondsman, 25 S. Alabama St., and one other, also were indicted with Traugott.

O'Roark testified before the grand jury in connection with the store explosion. Wright is held in county jail under $50,000 bond on a habitual criminal charge.

Name of the other indicted man will not be made public until he is arrested.

The indictment charged that the alleged transportation of liquor took place about Sept. 4.

Mrs. Josephine Fairhead, 713 S. Illinois St., formerly city hall telephone operator, was the only State witness named.

It is understood that the liquor transportation charged involved purchase of an automobile, which was discussed by those indicted at Mrs. Fairhead's home. Mrs. Fairhead has appeared before the jury. She is charged with conspiracy with Prosecutor William H. Remy.

Bond on the charge was set at $2,500 apiece by Criminal Judge James A. Collins.

The grand jury began a rapid review of all evidence in the $10,000 explosion which wrecked the Traugott clothing store, 215-217 W. Washington St., and the Elm-Roe sporting goods store, 211-213 W. Washington St., the night of Aug. 26.

Many Witnesses Called

Prosecutor William H. Remy marshaled more than a dozen witnesses to go before the jury today and an equal number Tuesday, to present the connected account of the explosion, what led up to it, and what followed, according to the theory upon which he will seek indictment of several persons.

The jury already has heard considerable evidence of the explosion, having indicted Harold Libowitz, 22, of 39 N. Jefferson Ave., a few days after the blast, on an arson charge. Libowitz, however, fled Sept. 12, in Methodist Hospital of burns suffered in the blowup.

Among other witnesses the prosecutor planned to call all officials who have worked on the case.

Federal Jury to Reconvene

The Federal grand jury will reconvene Tuesday to hear evidence about the interstate automobile theft ring. This has been linked with the explosion inquiry.

Twenty expensive automobiles stolen in other cities and disposed of through Indianapolis persons have been recovered by State police. Traugott, Sussman and Elmer Sussman, cousin of Harry, are under $25,000 bonds on charges of complicity in this ring.

Ernest Libowitz, brother of Harold, also is held as an alleged member of the ring, as are several others.

Raid on Poolroom

The general crime situation inquiry was given impetus by a raid Saturday night by three police squads upon a poolroom at 18 S. Capitol Ave. Several of those picked up from time to time by Federal agents and police in the theft ring and fire inquiries have been habitués of this place.

Seven men were slated on vagrancy charges and released on $100 bonds in the raid when the police found alcohol and liquor making apparatus in the poolroom.

Warrants charging operation of a blind trust were issued against Clarence Doughitt, Claude Poland, and Claude O'Roark, detectives searching for them. Doughitt was held as a witness in the explosion case for a brief time several days ago.

After the men taken in the raid were released on the small bonds Saturday night, police re-arrested men giving names as Thomas Reilly, 26, of 1406 Kelly St.; Martin Foley, 52, Broadway Hotel; and Mike McGlynn, 28, of 236 Eastern Ave. and slated them on vagrancy charges under high bonds.

Prosecutor Remy, who was understood to have directed this, refused to discuss it.

After searching for a week for a cache northwest of the city where the ring was believed to have altered stolen cars, State Policeman Charles Bridges declared he now believes the ring did such work in Chicago.

Bridges and Humes, State police chief, were checking cars being driven by two widely known Irvington citizens.

Receiving a telegram Saturday afternoon telling of the serious and possibly fatal injury of his brother in an automobile accident, Boone left New York City Saturday evening on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Fearing he would not reach the Missouri town in time to see his brother alive, he informed the conductor of his plight.
