United Press Staff Correspondent
POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—John McGraw's fighting New York Giants staked their pennant chances in the National League race on today's double-header with the Chicago Cubs.

With one defeat likely to ruin the Giants, McGraw named Carl Hubbell, rambunctious young Texas southpaw, to start the first game. Artie Nehf, former Giant left-hander, opposed him. The weather was warm. About 25,000 fans were in the stands when the first game started. The lineup:

GIANTS—Welsh, cf; Reese, lf; Lindstrom, 3b; Hogan, c; Jackson, ss; Terry, 1b; Cohen, 2b; Hubbell, p. Umpires—Klem, Moran and McCormick.
The Giants took the lead in the second, after both teams were out in order in the first and Hubbell had set the Cubs down in their half.

Giants Count First

The combination of a double by Lindstrom and a single by Hogan drove in a New York run, after which Nehf steadied and retired the side.

The Cubs forged ahead in their half of the third. Hartnett singled to center, Beck singled to left and Nehf walked, filling the bases. English rolled to Jackson, who stepped over the plate, forcing Nehf.

Hartnett scored on the forceout, and Beck came home when Terry let Jackson's throw on an attempted double play get away from him, the Cubs taking the lead, 2 to 1. Hack Wilson's long triple to left center and Stephenson's single over second gave the Cubs another run in the fourth.

Andy Cohen drove home a run for the Giants in the fifth. Jackson walked to start the inning. Terry fled to Stephenson, Cohen bounced a double off the left field wall, sending Jackson home.

Double Play Halts Cubs

After one was down in the sixth, Wilson got a single over Lindstrom's head, but a lightning double play stopped the Cubs. Stephenson hit a slow roller to center, Cohen rolled to Cohen, forcing Wilson, Cohen completing the play to Terry.

The Cubs halted what looked like a dangerous rally in the Giants' half of the sixth. Reese, first up, singled past English, and went to third on Mann's double to right.

Hogan hit a bouncer to Nehf and Reese was run down in a chase between third and home. Hartnett interfered with Reese, Palpably holding him and allowing Beck to touch him just as he started to dive for the plate. The Giants gathered around Umpire Klem to protest, but he ruled Reese out. Jackson forced Hogan, Maguire to English.

The Cubs went out in order in the seventh.

Giants Choked Off

The Giants again got the first man on in the seventh, but a double play halted them. Terry's liner to Maguire went for a single when the Cubs' second baseman dropped the ball after a leap.

Cohen fled to Cuyler, and Cummings, batting for Hubbell, hit into a double play, English to Maguire to Grimm.

COLD WINDS HALT LITTLE SERIES TILT

Indians Will Play Second Game With Rochester on Friday.

BY EDDIE ASH
Times Sports Editor

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Today's "little world series" game between Rochester and Indianapolis was postponed because of wet grounds and cold weather. The second game will be played Friday.

After barely nosing in with a victory Wednesday in the opening game of the "little world series," 3 to 2, eleven innings, Bruno Betzel's American Association champions decided the Rochester Red Wings were stronger than advance hope indicated.

Roy Spence or Bill Burwell is slated to hurl for the Indians Friday afternoon, and it is believed Manager Southworth of the International League boys will use Herman Bell, a seasoned right-hander.

Sweetonic Shines
The Wednesday fracas was a tight mound battle in which Steve Sweetonic gained fame by propelling the sphere in dazzling fashion when Red Wings were on the sacks. His opponent, Vic Keen, also hurled high-class ball, but his own error in the seventh inning permitted a run to score than proved the margin of the Indian victory in the final sum-up.

Sweetonic was brilliant. In the Rochester half of the seventh, runners were on third and second with none out when he delivered his best bit of twirling. He struck out Keen and caused Brown and Toporcer to foul to Spencer to retire the side without allowing the plate to be crossed. He was as cool as the terrible weather and his fast ball actually frightened some of the Red Wings hitters.

Spencer in Great Form
Roy Spence caught a beautiful game and his confident manner and chatter had an important part in swinging the contest to Indianapolis. Roy also got two hits, a walk and a sacrifice one.

Warstler was all over the field Wednesday and his defensive play was remarkable. He made two running catches that cut off hits and which took some of the heat out of the Red Wings. He reached out once for a one-handed stab that caused the home fans to gasp.

HUNT 'RANSOM FARM'

Ten Boys Believed Held by Chicago Mafia.

BY UNITED PRESS
CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Assistant State Attorney Samuel Hoffman and Charles J. Mueller today revealed evidence supporting a belief that the "Farm," where Billy Ranieri was held captive for thirteen days, is a prison for at least ten other boys held for ransom by a Mafia extortion ring. Hoffman and Mueller made public the statement of a paroled convict, which said that ten boys, whom Billy Ranieri described as "spending their vacations on the farm," in reality were being held for large ransom.

President's Son Will Be Subpoenaed for Quiz on Accident.

By United Press
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 27.—John Coolidge narrowly escaped injury today when the automobile of Governor John H. Trumbull, in which he was returning from an overnight visit with his mother at the Governor's Plainville home, was struck by another car.

Wilson Veno, 30, driver of the other machine, was taken to New Haven Hospital, where he was found to be in a serious condition from a slash across the neck. His mother, Mrs. May Veno, was treated for lacerations and bruises.

John Coolidge Unhurt

Neither John nor William Cunningham, the chauffeur, was injured, although the car was damaged.

John Coolidge and the chauffeur were questioned closely by police before they could leave the accident scene. John hurried home, changed his clothes, and for the first time was late to work at the railway office.

That is not all.

Deputy Governor James Corrigan announced this afternoon he would hold a preliminary investigation of the accident late today or tomorrow. He said he would subpoena John and the chauffeur, William Cunningham, as witnesses.

Mother Goes Home

Mrs. Coolidge made a secret trip from Northampton, Mass., where she was visiting her sick mother, to the home of Governor Trumbull at Plainville, last night.

There she was joined by John, who has "an understanding" with the Governor's daughter, Florence. The two spent the night there.

This morning Mrs. Coolidge returned to Northampton. John, who had seen her off at the station, then started for New Haven.

STRANGE BEAST TO BE HUNT OBJECT TONIGHT

Posse Formed to Search Section Near Bedford.

By United Press
BEDFORD, Ind., Sept. 27.—With a posse already organized, a search for the mysterious animal which has terrorized this section of Lawrence County for the past several weeks was to get under way tonight.

John Atchinson, farmer of near here, was the last person reported to have seen the animal. He says it is a mountain lion.

Several persons have reported seeing the animal, one of which said it tore the screen door from his home. A group of children said they were chased by a strange animal while on their way home from school.

Bill Radigan, former major league baseball player, may lead the chase, it was said.

PREDICTS HOOVER WIN

Socialist Rival Says "R's" Will Sway Thousands.

By United Press
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Norman E. Thomas, socialist candidate for President, believes after a speaking tour to the west coast that Herbert Hoover will be elected.

"The three R's—religion, race and rum—in the order named, will sway thousands of voters," he said. "I look to see the Republicans win, because of their superior organization, if nothing else."

Woman Fatally Burned

By Times Special
BICKNELL, Ind., Sept. 27.—Apparently the victim of flames after her clothing caught fire from a stove, Mrs. John Ashby, 69, was found dead on the floor of her farm home, three miles south of here.

$200,000 DEBT BURDENS BYRD ON POLAR TRIP

Help Needed to Finance His Great Scientific Voyage to Antarctic.

VAST AREA ICE LOCKED

Solution to Many Riddles of Nature Will Be Explorers' Goal.

Commander Richard Byrd, head of the famous expedition which bears his name, tells here the reasons for his flight. Nearly $200,000 is needed for this worthy undertaking. The Times offered Commander Byrd all the space he needed to present the facts about his expedition to the public, in the hope that he would not have to leave on his exceptionally hazardous and worthwhile expedition carrying a mortgage on the masthead of his flagship.

The last contingent of the expedition is about to shove off toward the Antarctic, reaching New Zealand early in November and then heading straight for the ice barrier, our base on the Bay of Wales.

Our expedition is made purely for the advancement of science, and the prestige of the United States. We are not going to make a spectacular airplane dash.

The unexplored area in the Antarctic is as large as Europe and Australia combined. It is in the sinister clutches of an ice age, which has killed the life and luxurious vegetation that once existed. It is the coldest and most forbidding region on the face of the earth.

Mysteries Face Explorers

What geological phenomenon caused the Antarctic Continent to be the most rugged, mountain-ridden land on the globe? What caused the vast plateau two miles high, of which the South Pole seems to be the center?

What is the extent of this plateau, and why is it so flat and so high? Is it true that the winds descend at this point to spread out and downward toward the ice-covered sea 800 miles away, to gain cyclonic velocity, which sometimes reaches 120 miles an hour in speed, and which blows in some of the areas with an average velocity for the year of fifty miles an hour?

These terrible hurricanes, which come up suddenly and sometimes last for days, are of such violence that the whole climate of the southern hemisphere is affected by them.

Surely, it is of some benefit to science to investigate these phenomena, and that is why we are taking with us not only a weatherman, but also free balloons and kites, the upper reaches of the atmosphere.

Whole Aim Scientific
Our whole effort, from beginning to end, will be predominately scientific. We hope, nevertheless, to be the first to plant the American flag at the South Pole.

Unfortunately, we have a serious deficit behind us—$200,000 in round figures. That is much more than we expected and is entirely due to the impossibility of estimating in advance the cost of reconditioning our flagship, the ship of New York, and the Eleanor Bolling.

In both instances the figures far exceeded our original calculations. Because both of these ships are on their way, most people appear to believe that our financial requirements are fully met. Contributions have slackened perceptibly since their departure.

It is a mighty uncomfortable feeling to leave on the mission that lies ahead of us with the knowledge that a great many of our bills are not paid.

Our cash requirements will come to $750,000. Shackleton's expedition came to approximately $500,000, at a time when the value of a dollar was far greater than it now is.

Indicted

Michael J. Glenn, former Indianapolis traffic inspector, indicted by federal grand jury Wednesday for alleged complicity in the interstate automobile theft ring.

HERNDON GIVEN 2 TO 21 YEARS

Jury Returns Involuntary Manslaughter Verdict.

Wayne Herndon, on trial for two days for the murder of James Fouty, today was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter by a jury in Criminal Court.

Judge James A. Collins sentenced the 35-year-old slayer to twenty-one years in the Indiana State prison.

The case, in which the State had asked the death penalty, went to the jury at noon Wednesday. A sealed verdict was returned late Wednesday and was read in court this morning.

Herndon, whose home is at W. Morris St. and Eagle Creek, admitted the killing, but said he shot Fouty in self-defense. The shooting occurred at Herndon's home last June.

Testimony in the case showed that Herndon was beaten badly in a fight by Fouty two days before the shooting.

Herndon took the witness stand in his own defense Tuesday afternoon and asserted Fouty was breaking into his house and had threatened his life when he shot him.

Over the objections of Mrs. Herndon, T. Ernest Maholin, attorney for the slayer, is prepared to file a petition for a new trial. The petition is drawn up, but has not been filed.

Mrs. Herndon will talk with her husband this afternoon in a final effort to restrain him from asking a new trial, which could result in the death penalty for murder.

COPPER ROBBED AGAIN

Burglar Takes $6.50 From Sleeping Officer's Trousers.

Police Chief Claude M. Worley may be considering placing a placard on the homes of all his policemen bearing an inscription something like this:

"Don't rob; a policeman lives here."

Early today a burglar removed a screen from the kitchen window of the home of Patrolman Paul D. Pearsey, 1332 N. Warman Ave. While Patrolman Pearsey slumbered the burglar removed Pearsey's pocketbook from his trousers pocket. Pearsey found the purse in the rear yard later, but $6.50 it had contained had passed to a new owner.

FIFTEEN INDICTED IN AUTO THEFT RING INVESTIGATION BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Deputy U. S. Marshals Speed About City in Taxi Fleet, Rounding Up Suspects Named in New True Bill.

PROBERS ADJOURN AFTER REPORT

Four Indictments Returned, Other Three Charging Specific Violations of Dyer Act; Inquiry Will Be Resumed.

Fifteen persons were named in a general indictment, charging conspiracy in the interstate automobile theft ring, returned by the Federal grand jury today as it wound up the first phase of its investigation and was excused until further call.

Deputy United States marshals sped about the city in taxicabs to arrest the nine indicted persons not already under bond in the case.

Booze Show

A bootlegging ring played a ousting stand in Indianapolis Wednesday night.

The critics, and they were legion, "panned" the performance unmercifully to police. For the bootleggers, entrepreneurs in their field, were too realistic. Their art was too "arty."

Commandeering their stage, a vacant apartment in a building at 124½ Virginia Ave., by using a skeleton key, the "actors" began their performance by peddling liquor indiscriminately.

When police arrived a few props—thirteen punts of whisky—were found. The "actors," however, had bowed themselves out.

ASK NEW BUS ROUTE

Mayor Favors Meridian St. for Riverside Line.

Use of Meridian St. by Riverside business and busses serving Butler University at its new Fairview site was suggested by Mayor L. Ert Slack today.

Mayor Slack said he would recommend to the park board that they permit such use of Meridian St. as soon as widening of the thoroughfare is completed. Park boards of previous city administrations have refused to permit operation of busses on boulevards.

Use of Meridian St. would lessen the congestion on narrow Thirtieth St., between Meridian and Delaware St., and on Delaware St., which is used by several other lines.

WATERSPOUT IN LAKE

Rare Occurrence Seen Following Storm on Erie.

By United Press
BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 27.—After a severe hailstorm accompanied by a terrific wind and lightning today, a waterspout was sighted on Lake Erie four miles west of Buffalo. Thousands of persons in office buildings in the downtown section of this city witnessed the rare occurrence.

FROST AGAIN TONIGHT

Ten-Degree Drop in Mercury Predicted.

Frost again tonight and colder was the prediction of J. H. Armstrong, weather man.

No points in the State reported frost today.

Friday morning's temperature probably will be about 10 degrees lower than today's 7 a. m. mark of 46, according to Armstrong. But it will be warmer again by Friday night, he said.

APPEAL FOR CLOTHING

Red Cross Asks Donations for Florida and Porto Rico.

An appeal for clothing for the storm sufferers in Florida and Porto Rico, entirely apart from the relief fund drive, has been issued by the Red Cross.

Persons who can and will make gifts of clothing are urged to communicate immediately with the local chapter of the Red Cross. A receiving station will be opened today at 50 N. Meridian St., and a corps of women workers will superintend the task of collecting the clothing gifts.

Women's and children's garments suitable for the tropics are needed. Contributions of $1,772 Wednesday night and Thursday morning swelled the Indianapolis Red Cross relief fund total to $8,555 at noon today.

The indictment charged that the following persons, already indicted in the case, were members of the conspiracy: Bertram Libowitz, William Laffey, Dr. Fred Binzer of Terre Haute; Edward Traugott, merchant; Harry Sussman, partner of Traugott, and Harry Sussman, cousin of Harry.

The general indictment was one of four returned today in the theft ring investigation.

Specific Violations Charged
The other three charge various members of the alleged conspiracy with specific instances of violation of the Dyer act against interstate traffic in stolen automobiles.

The grand jury also returned five other indictments, not related to the theft ring case.

It was announced that the jury probably will be recalled within a few weeks to investigate further misdeeds of the alleged ring, which Federal agents and State police still are investigating.

The jury indicted six persons in partial report Wednesday. Two previous partial returns had involved four others.

All those indicted will be arraigned before Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell, Friday.

The alleged ring is charged with a conspiracy whereby automobiles were stolen in other cities and sold either in or through Indianapolis, or stolen here and sold elsewhere.

State police have recovered twenty such cars.

Earl Sells Arrested

Arrest of Earl Sells, 2408 E. Thirtieth St., by Deputy United States Marshal Harry Wert on a liquor conspiracy warrant today was regarded as the start of the Federal uncovering of a new booze ring in Indianapolis.

Evidence against Sells was uncovered by agents working on the auto theft ring case, it is understood.

Sells was arrested at police headquarters as he appeared for hearing on a vagrancy charge. He was released on $5,000 bond.

Those indicted Wednesday were Frank R. Wolf, vice president of H. P. Wasson &amp; Co.; Michael J. Glenn, former Indianapolis traffic inspector, now of Montauk Point, L. I.; Traugott; W. Washington 66; merchant; Harry Sussman, Traugott's partner; Elmer Sussman, Harry's cousin, and Laffey, former soft drink parlor operator.

Wolf Posts $25,000 Bond

Wolf submitted to arrest at the United States marshal's office Thursday afternoon and was released on $25,000 bond signed by G. A. Elyomson and Louis Wolf. He refused comment on the case.

Previous indictments were against Bertram Libowitz, 37, of 39 N. Jefferson Ave., brother of Harold Libowitz, 22, who died of burns received in the explosion at the Traugott clothing store, 215-17 W. Washington St., Aug. 26; Fred V. Binzer, Terre Haute optician and cousin of Traugott; Ted Baldwin and Miss Lloyd Harrison.

Baldwin and Miss Harrison were captured in a stolen car in Chicago by a Chicago detective after an exciting chase several weeks ago.

Federal agents say Baldwin was one of the chiefs of the theft ring. State police say they have traced stolen cars through Baldwin all the way to Europe.

Remy Continues Inquiry

Prosecutor William H. Remy continued his personal inquiry into the general crime situation, growing out of the Chicago explosion, while the Marion County grand jury considered the blast. The jurors went to the store today to view the ruins.

George L. Pugh, investigator for the National Board of Fire Underwriters and Harry E. Gates, deputy State fire marshal, were important morning witnesses before the grand jury.

Pugh had investigated a number of important angles of the fire and is understood to have prepared the most complete report of all angles of the inquiry available.
