

HOOVER TO PLEAD IN SPEECHES FOR PARTY PATRIOTISM

BOLTERS LEAD CANDIDATE TO CHANGE TACTICS

Desertion by Leaders of Both Old-Line Camps Given Attention.

TOPIC FOR NEW YORK

Madison Square Garden Talk to Urge Devotion to Principles.

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The bolting of old line party leaders in both political camps has become a prominent feature in the presidential campaign that Herbert Hoover intends to devote a liberal portion of his future speeches to party patriotism. The subject will be the text of the speech the Republican nominee is to deliver in Madison Square Garden, New York, the night of Oct. 13.

Tennessee Talk Ready
Importance of the bolters' activities has been called to Hoover's attention previously by his managers and advisers. Every speech he has made thus far in the campaign has mentioned the record of the Republican party and the necessity of continuing that record as a party principle. But his advisers do not believe he has gone far enough.

So in his New York speech under the auspices of the various men and women's Republican State organizations and the Union League Club he will devote himself more particularly to the task of developing party devotion. The last draft of Hoover's Elizabethan (Tenn.) speech is expected to be sent to the printers before night, thus clearing his desk of pending matters.

Plans Speech Today

His engagement list today included: Shingoro Takahashi, editor of the Osaka Mainichi and the Tokio Nichi Nichi; Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan; county chairman of the Republican Service League of New Jersey, headed by Franklin D'Olier, and a delegation from the national convention of the Knights of the Round Table.

The nominee also expects to deliver a short speech to the war veterans from New Jersey.

Curtis Closes Tour

ABOARD CURTIS CAMPAIGN TRAIN IN OKLAHOMA, Sept. 29.—Senator Charles Curtis will finish his Western campaign today with speeches in five Oklahoma cities despite the physical discomforts of a sore throat and a mangled finger. The Senator's right thumb was caught in the door of an automobile when he arrived in Lawton late Friday and he has not fully recovered from an attack of laryngitis last week.

Curtis is scheduled to speak today at Perry, Ponca City, Kaw City, Pawnee and Enid, where at Governor's Christian Temperance Union of Oklahoma is holding its convention.

After the Enid speech, he will go to Topeka, Kas., his home town, for a two-day rest and then proceed to Chicago.

The nominee addressed a capacity audience Friday night at Lawton fair ground pavilion. He talked principally of farm relief, promised effective farm legislation and defending the Republican party's record on agricultural legislation.

His campaign in Oklahoma, considered one of the doubtful border States, has been planned to capture, first, the Indian vote and, second, the disgruntled Democratic vote.

Beside farm relief, the Senator has stressed the immigration issue, attacking Governor Alfred E. Smith's proposal to reform the present system of computing immigration quotas.

An Undersea Ambulance

The hope of avoiding such undersea disasters as befell the S-4 and S-51 now lies in this 1936 model submarine, Defender. The only privately owned underwater boat in the United States, it has been remodeled by Simon Lake, engineer, with the cooperation of the Navy Department, into a rescue craft, embodying every known practicable salvage and rescue device. The Defender here is shown at Bridgeport, Conn. The most important feature is the trap door in front from which divers will be able to work. Navy experts soon are to test the device.

Proper Diet Found Sure Way to Prevent Colds

Little Sugar and Starch Proves Best Way to Illness.

By Science Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The old adage, "Feed a cold but starve a fever," needs amending. The kinds of food you eat are now considered important as well as the amount and may have a definite effect on the number of colds you have this winter. A diet that is low in sugar and starch proved successful in keeping one susceptible subject from having any colds at all as long as the diet was adhered to, according to a report, in the forthcoming issue of Science, by Frederick Hoelzel of the University of Chicago.

Hoelzel, who has been an extremely frequent sufferer from colds all his life, discovered in the course of experimental work that he had no colds at all when he fasted. Further experiments with various diets showed that while colds were numerous on vegetarian diets and on diets containing large amounts of sugar and starches, in a daily total of 2,500 calories, ordinary colds did not develop. At the same time the protein intake must be adequate.

It may be that the comparative freedom from colds in Arctic regions depends more on the Arctic diet, high in meat and low in sugar and starch, than on the cold weather or the absence of germs. This would be in line with Hoelzel's explanation, which also harmonizes the conflicting theories that colds are due to overeating and to exposure or changes in the weather.

QUIET SPORTS APPEAL MOST TO COOLIDGE

Love of Play Strong in President; No Time for Golf.

By ROBERT MOOREFIELD,
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—President Coolidge likes to play.

Despite his reputation as a diligent business executive, the President loses few available opportunities to inject diversions into his scheduled program.

He enters into his sports enthusiastically, even when his participation consists only of throwing out the first ball of the American League baseball season at Washington.

Less fatiguing sports have the stronger appeal to him. His life has been characterized by quietude, and he has carried over this quality into his play.

Enjoys Trapshooting
Fishing is the chief executive's favorite recreation. Several years ago he classed this sport as fit only for a child.

A change of heart transformed him into an ardent and exacting fisherman, and Walton's thorough-out the country praised the transformation as complete when the President graduated, recently from live bait to fly fishing.

Trapshooting found the President a devotee on his vacation along the Brule. That, incidentally, was his favorite outdoor amusement when a young man, in the early twenties.

At Cedar Island Lodge, the summer White House, a clay pigeon range was set up and the President practiced regularly, using a .12-gauge single-barrel shotgun. His gunnery improved to the point where he scored 24 out of 25 shots.

Fails as Canoeist

The President failed as a canoeist. In an attempt to navigate a canoe, he succeeded only in sending the craft into haphazard circles. He paddled furiously, but dangerously, and John La Roche, his Chippewa Indian guide, relieved him of his paddle.

In Washington the President finds pleasure in walking, which he does frequently before breakfast, but more often after he quits his desk in the late afternoon. Week-ends occasionally find him aboard the presidential yacht Mayflower, on a cruise down the Potomac.

Doesn't Play Cards

His only indoor recreation is reading. His library is composed mainly of historical and biographic literature, and his copy of the Bible is thumbed with usage. The Bible is the "classic of all classics," he once said. Mr. Coolidge has no penchant for card playing.

He once told Senator Capper of Kansas that his ability to shake hands with so many White House callers was due to the grip he had acquired when milking cows as a boy on his father's farm.

Asked once why he never played golf, the President smiled and said: "When I was younger I couldn't afford golf—and now I can't afford the time."

CANDIDATE SCORES LAX ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS

Murray Says Criminal Affidavit Left Three Years Untried.

Raymond F. Murray, Democratic candidate for prosecutor, cited the Thomas Touhey case Thursday night at a Fifth ward Democratic meeting at 339 Agnes St. at which he charged that criminal affidavits filed more than three years ago still remained untried in Criminal Court.

Touhey, Chicago gangster, still is serving a two-to-fourteen year prison sentence for the robbery of the L. S. Ayres store in 1924.

If other charges against him had been pushed, including one charging him with the robbery of the Kiefer-Stewart Company in April 1924, Touhey to escape a longer sentence might have disclosed the seven other gunmen in the Ayres, Murray declared.

He promised immediate trial of all criminal cases if elected.

Confers With Wisconsin Leaders to Win Support of La Follette Friends.

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 29.—Governor Alfred E. Smith will close his western tour here tonight by opening up the issue which is foremost in this State, and which many voters are making the outstanding one over all the country—modification of the Volstead act and the Eighteenth Amendment.

Milwaukee citizens received the Democratic candidate Friday night by turning out almost bodily. People here said it was the greatest gathering in the history of the city.

The crowd was the largest to receive him on his tour.

Many persons here told members of the Smith entourage when it arrived that Milwaukee wants its beer. That is the big issue in this former brewing center.

First Formal Discussion

The speech tonight will represent the first formal and detailed discussion of his modification program since Smith accepted the nomination. He touched on the issue, sketchily, at Omaha. Tonight we will treat it in detail.

Smith will hold a series of conferences with State political leaders today to win the large vote that has endorsed the policies of the La Follette, father and son, for many years.

The welcome here was not the only auspicious feature of the Democratic candidate's stay. He was given a suite, with rooms 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1932, which John M. Callahan, Democratic national committeeman, explained, he had selected as those were the first four years Smith would occupy the White House.

President in Politics

In connection with his statement upon what he considered the duties of a President in his St. Paul speech, Smith was asked by newspaper men what he thought of a President taking part in a political campaign, as President Coolidge is planning to do for Herbert Hoover.

"Well, that is politics as against governmental business," he replied. "That would be for his own conscience. But I think on government business he should talk to the people."

"Would you welcome an address by the President defending his administration so that you could have somebody to debate with," he was asked.

"Well, I do not think that is for me to say," he answered. "I am not concerned about that. I am talking about what I believe the duty of a President to be, and I claim I am right."
