PLANE SPILLS;
PILOT INJUREDLieutenant Is Forced Down
on Farmer's Field.

Lieutenant Herbert S. Oberling, 22, of 961 East Southern avenue, today was nursing painful cuts and bruises as result of a forced airplane landing and crash in a field three miles southwest of Alexandria, Ind., Wednesday afternoon.

Oberling was flying an antiquated Standard scout biplane, with an obsolete Le Rhone rotary engine, owned by Gordon Lackey and T. Madden, from Indianapolis to Detroit, to deliver it to the Packard Airways, which had purchased it.

Near Alexandria, Oberling said, the engine stopped at 400 feet altitude, landing in a field on the A. C. Lemon farm, the plane nosed over on its back when wheels stuck in the ground.

Lemon and another farmer who saw the plane land aided Oberling in crawling free.

Oberling is a member of the One Hundred and Thirtieth observation squadron, Indiana National Guard.

Air Mail Record Periled

Air mail postage posted here in October almost reached the record of August, Postmaster Robert H. Bryson announced today.

During the month, the Embury-Riddle air mail planes carried a total of 797 pounds of air mail. The August record was 829 pounds.

Mail planes were prevented from flying three days in October because of bad weather and lack of a lighted airway for night flying. On those three days, sixty-nine pounds of air mail, enough to have brought the month's total to 826 pounds, was sent by train.

The October total is 138 pounds higher than the total for September.

Gives Five Reasons for

By United Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate in 1924, offered to a radio audience over the WEAF network Wednesday night, five reasons for voting for Governor Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 candidate.

First, he said, Governor Smith's record and training were superior to Herbert Hoover's; second, the Republican party is stagnant and indifferent toward current problems; third, Governor Smith's election would be the only effective method of protesting against "intolerable prohibition conditions;" fourth, a vote for Smith was a protest "against the vicious effort to divide the American people along religious lines;" and fifth, Governor Smith is genuine liberal and ready to fight for a liberal creed.
