

CAST BALLOTS BY MACHINE IN COUNTY VOTING

Paper Tickets to Be Used as a Last Resort, Aver Officials.

Voting in Marion county's 269 precincts will be by machine exclusively, unless recourse has to be taken to paper ballots in order to handle the crowds.

Here are the instructions for voting by machine or paper ballot, together with the qualifications for voting:

1. Upon entering the curtain-inclosure surrounding the machine, pull the large lever at the left and top of the machine to the right as far as it will go, thus closing the curtain.

2. At your left are the "party levers" over the names and symbols of the various parties. Selecting the lever of the party for a majority of whose candidates you wish to vote, pull the lever to the right until the bell rings. This throws down all the keys of the presidential electors and candidates of that party. If you wish to vote the ticket "straight," this ends the operation, save for opening the curtain again by means of the lever with which you closed it.

3. To "scratch," first pull the lever of the party for a majority of whose candidates you wish to vote (as above), thus throwing down all the keys for electors and candidates of the party. Then to "scratch" any candidate of that party, push up the key immediately above his or her name and pull down the corresponding key under the candidate for whom you wish to vote.

Voting by Ballot

The Australian, or paper, ballot will not be used in Marion county, except where machines are unable to record all the voters before the closing hour, 6 p. m.

If this occurs, the voter will be handed two blank ballots, one the state ballot presenting the names of presidential electors and candidates for United States Senator, Governor and all state offices, the other presenting the names of all candidates for Congress, legislature and county offices.

Voters desiring to vote the ticket "straight" simply mark a cross in the circle containing the party emblem at the top of the list on each of the two ballots.

To "scratch," the voter must not place the cross on the party emblem but mark a cross in the little square before each candidate's name for whom he desires to vote on each of the two ballots.

Qualifications to Vote

The Indiana registration law and the absent voter law were repealed by the 1927 legislature. Therefore, no registration is required for voting in the general election Tuesday and every voter must be present in person to vote.

Every citizen of the United States of the age of 21 years and upward is entitled to vote in the precinct where he or she may reside, provided he or she shall have resided in the state six months, the township sixty days and the precinct thirty days immediately preceding the election.

A person who will be 21 the day after election is entitled to vote.

SALES ABOLISH DENVER DAILIES

Scripps-Howard Buys and Sells; Stops Waste.

By United Press. DENVER, Colo., Nov. 5.—Sale of the Denver Evening News to F. G. Bonifis, publisher of the Denver Post, and purchase of the Denver Morning Post by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers was announced here today.

With their issues of today the Evening News and the Morning Post will cease publication, the announcement said.

The deal was made "in the interest of progress and welfare of the community and in response to the economic demands of the situation," said a statement by Roy W. Howard, chairman of the board of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

As a result of the agreement between Bonifis and Howard, the Rocky Mountain News, owned by Scripps-Howard, will be the only morning newspaper published in Denver, and the Denver Post, owned by Bonifis and his assistants, will be the only evening newspaper.

The News and the Post each will have Sunday morning editions.

"The move is designed to correct a situation which has proved itself wasteful, wasteful and prejudicial to both the publishers and the business interests of Denver," Howard's statement said.

JAIL SUICIDE VICTIM IS FORMER CONVICT

Auto Thief Who Took Own Life Identified as Robert Butvilas.

(Picture on Page One)

The youthful automobile thief who killed himself in city prison Thursday, after writing a farewell note to his mother, was identified today as Robert Butvilas, who had been living at a rooming house at 107 North New Jersey street.

Butvilas was paroled from the Illinois State Reformatory to Antonio Janikas, Roselawn, Ind., May 24, 1928, papers found in his room indicated. The papers failed to give his home address or state how long he had been in prison.

Detectives, checking his record to see if he might have gone under the name of Clyde Vanderhoff of Titusville, Pa., before his arrest in Illinois. The dead youth had been identified tentatively as Vanderhoff, a McCall magazine solicitor, who had stolen funds from the company.

C. P. Duffaway, McCall field manager, the Michigan hotel, identified the dead youth as the one to whom he issued the solicitor's card.

He had worked one day, DuPont said, giving the North New Jersey street address.

Books from the public library found in his room indicated Butvilas was interested in chemistry and aeronautics.

On a paper in his effects was written "suicides" in large letters, indicating he had been thinking of ending his life before his arrest.

U. S. AGENTS TO GUARD ELECTION FOR 8 STATES

Conditions in Indiana Seem to Give Most Cause for Precaution.

Appearance of Oscar R. Lühring, former Evansville (Ind.) politician, now assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division of the department of justice at Washington, in Indianapolis today was explained by a Washington dispatch to the effect that the government is keeping a close watch on the polls in eight states, of which Indiana is one.

Lühring, according to the Washington dispatch, came personally to supervise the watch for fraud.

Meanwhile, the Democratic state organization has a small army of detectives under command of Sherman Burns, son of William J. Burns, ready to watch points in the state where election corruption is expected.

Officials said they had been discouraging as much as possible the efforts of federal marshals to swear in more deputies during the election because of the additional expense and because of the belief that much of the pre-election talk of frauds has been exaggerated, according to the Washington dispatch.

Indiana Most Worried

The eight states from which suggestions of trouble have come are: New Jersey, Texas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Montana, Ohio and Alabama.

The federal laws prohibit interference with qualified voters and use of armed guards at the polls. If the department were to go into polling work on a large scale during the election, considerable expense would be involved, it is said, because none of the marshals have forces sufficiently large to watch all the polling places.

Asks More Deputies

In Texas the trouble is confined to Hidalgo county, where a local machine is said to be dominating the political situation.

Alabama trouble is confined to the southern district, James A. Stafford, marshal at Mobile, having wired for permission to increase his staff during the election. He was notified to consult with the United States attorney in his district.

Officials said fraud intimations all over the state. Marshals are being instructed to handle the situation without the assistance of the department and to consult with other federal officials in their districts.

Burns Scoffs at 'Gunmen's Death Threat'

Sherman Burns

Sherman Burns, head of the national detective agency, who is here to watch for vote fraud on behalf of the Democratic state committee, received a warning Sunday that four Chicago gunmen were in Indianapolis for the purpose of "getting him."

Some color was given the story by the fact that mysterious men kept a close watch of his rooms at the Claypool during the day.

Burns smiled at the warning and had a different interpretation of its purpose when one of his operatives followed the man who gave the warning direct from the hotel to the building where George V. Coffin directs the local Republican machine. Burns believes it was an effort to distract his attention from the job of watching for fraud.

Rumors that attempts would be made to vote "repeaters" in many wards reached Burns, whose army of men are on the job, mingling with those who were under more than suspicion during the spring primaries.

Burns, in conference with Russell Ryan, head of the legal department for the Democratic state committee, has completed plans to guard against fraud, not only in Marion county, but in other cities where the purity of the ballot in the past has been under suspicion.

MELLON PICKED TO KEEP JOB IF HOOVER WINS

Prophets Starts Choosing Cabinet Officers for Both Candidates.

BY LEO R. SACK.

United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—With conclusion of the campaign today unofficial prophets have begun picking members of the next cabinet.

All seem agreed that if Hoover is elected he will continue Andrew W. Mellon as secretary of the treasury. Ogden L. Mills, under-secretary of the treasury, also mentioned for the place, is said to desire that Mellon carry on if possible.

In the event of Governor Smith's election, Owen D. Young, head of General Electric, and co-author of the Dawes reparations plan, is mentioned as the Democratic secretary of the treasury.

John W. Davis, former ambassador to England, is discussed as Smith's secretary of state, as is also Norman Davis, who was under-secretary of state for Woodrow Wilson.

Borah Might Get Post

Hoover's secretary of state may be Senator William E. Borah and if he refuses the post it may be Dwight W. Morrow, who has achieved distinction as ambassador to Mexico. Borah's appointment has been discounted in some quarters because of his habit of pursuing a lone course, not bound by party policies.

If he becomes President, Smith is deemed likely to invite his campaign manager, John J. Raskob, former chairman of General Motors, to join his cabinet, probably as secretary of commerce.

New Likely to Stay

Hoover's election may mean the continuation of several other cabinet officers, including Postmaster-General Harry S. New and Secretary of Agriculture W. M. Jardine. Senator George W. Moses of New Hampshire may be invited to join the Hoover official family, and likewise Assistant Attorney-General William J. Donovan.

Smith, if elected, might invite former Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels to return to that office, and also give Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi an opportunity to become a cabinet officer if he chooses to leave the senate.

Rumors that attempts would be made to vote "repeaters" in many wards reached Burns, whose army of men are on the job, mingling with those who were under more than suspicion during the spring primaries.

Burns, in conference with Russell Ryan, head of the legal department for the Democratic state committee, has completed plans to guard against fraud, not only in Marion county, but in other cities where the purity of the ballot in the past has been under suspicion.

Gold told conflicting stories and was arrested on a vagrancy charge, detectives said.
