

BRIDGE GAMES BY RADIO WILL START TUESDAY

Experts to Play and Give
Fans Chance to Learn
Fine Points.

The fourth series of twenty weekly bridge and radio games will be inaugurated through station WFBM Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.

These games will feature Milton C. Work and Wilbur C. Whitehead, internationally known bridge experts and teachers, in association with widely known players from cities in the United States and Canada. The first game will feature, besides Work and Whitehead, Sidney S. Lenz and Wynne Ferguson, both of New York, also famous as bridge players.

Each game will be complete in itself and will illustrate one of two salient points in bidding and play. At the end of the games the personal comments of Work will be presented. This feature in itself is considered by bridge players—a rare treat, as Work's opinions are taken as standard authority.

In addition to the broadcast, a complete summary of the games will appear exclusively in The Indianapolis Times each Wednesday. To keep a complete record of the games, it is suggested that these summaries be clipped and a scrap book made.

Easy for Listeners

The games are arranged so that radio listeners may play the game bid by bid and play by play, taking the names of the experts. To get the maximum enjoyment Work suggests that the hands be played previous to the games; then compare the results with the play of the experts.

Contract bridge also will be featured. The hands will be played at auction, and then Work will explain how they should be played at contract.

If you are a beginner at bridge, Work will start you right, with short, easy pointers that will stick in your mind.

If you are an experienced player, Work will bring you up-to-date on the new practices in bidding and play. What was good bridge last year is old-fashioned today. Sharpen your game with Work!

Tedious Part Omitted

Previous years of broadcasting bridge by radio have taught Work how to present bridge to the radio audience in a new, brief, thrilling manner, with all the tedious part left out. Don't miss the first game.

Following are the hands that will be played in Game No. 1.

Work, South, dealer, holds:

Spades, 7, 6, 4, 3.

Dial Twisters

(All references are Central Standard Time)

With this week's release, all stations should be broadcasting on the new all locations assigned them by the federal radio commission. We have made all changes with the last information sent us, although many stations still are sending in their copy with the old wave lengths and still are following the old schedules. Others broadcasting on the same wave have sent in programs for the same times, while others have failed to send in any copy at all.

These are just some of the difficulties we have had to contend with in compiling our service this week, and we hope that if you discover any errors (which we have tried very hard to avoid), you will overlook them as we think most of the stations will have their troubles straightened out by next week, sufficiently to send in correct information.

A program featuring symphonic arrangements of popular numbers played by a concert orchestra under the direction of Frank Black; a male quartet and Lewis James, tenor, will be presented in this date.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise is scheduled for a thirty-minute talk over WNYC Monday night at 7:30. Rabbi Wise, one of the most beloved men in public life, speaks under auspices of the board of education on "The Making of a New World." Bernard Baslow, concert pianist, in a recital of Bach, Brahms, Borodine and Albeniz, at 8 o'clock, follows Rabbi Wise's talk.

Returning to the air after an absence of several weeks, the Captains will be heard through stations of the Columbia system at 9:30 o'clock Monday night, in the kind of a program that has made them justly famous. The orchestra will open its program with the popular "One Step to Heaven" and is to be heard in "Crossroads," "Blue Shadows," "Querida" and other popular tunes.

A program of songs of wide appeal will be sung by the Choristers, accompanied by violin, cello and piano, in their weekly broadcast over the NBC system, Monday night at 7 o'clock.

The difference between Mussolini and the Spanish military dictator, Primo de Rivera, will be explained by James G. McDonald in his talk entitled "A Spanish Dictator," in his lecture on "The World Today," through the NBC system Monday night at 6:30.
