

TALKING IT OVER

WITH JOE WILLIAMS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The United Press cables from Vienna of the interesting case of one Josef Uridil, Austrian football star, who is undergoing a treatment designed to restore his former greatness on the field of sport.

His "power" glands were opened and recharged and a daily check of his condition indicates a "satisfactory growth of new muscular energy."

Within a month or so, presumably, Mr. Uridil will be as good as ever, and if the owner changes his oil every 500 miles and is careful not to let his batteries run down he oughtn't to be back in the repair pits for years.

Mr. Uridil's adventure in the jocular realm of glands suggests many possibilities. This is, as far as your correspondent knows, the first time the athlete has gone in for glands in a serious way.

UP till now the experiment has been reserved more or less exclusively for aged financiers. But now that the science of surgery promises the athlete an added spark power in some instances, in others a recovery of lost genius, the way is opened for a new deal in a number of sports.

Also, there is something almost providential in the coincidence that brings the "power glands" to light the same year that some of sport's greatest performers are passing into obscurity because of the paralyzing touch of a merciless time.

IT IS GOOD INDEED TO KNOW THERE IS HOPE. FOR IF AUSTRIA CAN SALVAGE HER GREAT FOOTBALL STAR THROUGH THE MAGIC OF THE ETHER CONE AND THE GLISTENING BLADE, WHO IS THERE TO SAY THAT THE MAGNIFICENT WORKS OF DEMPSEY, TILDEN, COBB AND SPEAKERS MAY NOT BE REBUILT AND SET AFLOAT ONCE MORE ON THE COMPETITIVE SEAS?

MR. DEMPSEY could use a set of power glands. He showed that very clearly in the seventh round at Chicago. He stood on the threshold of a miracle. A few running steps and another swinging punch and he would have rewritten the harshest law in life, "They Never Come Back."

The carburetor was willing, but the gas tank was empty. There was yes, yes in his heart, but no, no in his ankles. At that precious moment, Mr. Dempsey, the monarch of maul, would have given his kingdom in Hollywood for a power gland.

MR. TILDEN RAN OUT OF POWER AT ABOUT THE SAME TIME. TILDEN HAD HELD THE AMERICAN TENNIS TITLE SO LONG THAT WHEN RENE LACOSTE CAME ALONG AND TOOK IT AWAY FROM HIM TWO YEARS AGO TILDEN WAS ANGRY TALK OF CALLING OUT THE MARINES. THE ARMY BACK FIELD AND THOSE TWO FELLOWS WHO VOTED FOR SMITH IN FLORIDA.

THIS championship had come to be looked on as the personal property of Mr. Tilden, along with his ears and his dinner. At the present moment Mr. Tilden is under somewhat of a cloud, having been suspended from amateur tennis, or that species of the sport which passes for amateur tennis, and I'm not sure whether he could use any power glands or not.

SHIL, I have heard it whispered the main reason Mr. Tilden was suspended was that he had lost his power and was no longer a great gate attraction, the sordid implication being that the tennis association was disposed to wink shyly at Mr. Tilden's frequent and flagrant infractions of the amateur code as long as his genius burned brightly enough to lure the customers.

BOY, CALL UP THE TENNIS ASSOCIATION AND SEE IF THEY'D BE INTERESTED IN A SET OF POWER GLANDS FOR MR. TILDEN. TELL 'EM I'VE GOT VIENNA ON THE WIRE.

Dempsey Evasive About Fighting

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 22.—Jack Dempsey didn't make a lot of money on his grapefruit this year, so you shouldn't be surprised if he goes back for one more fight, he said when asked about his future plans.

Dempsey arrived home Wednesday from an unsuccessful eastern stage venture, but would reveal nothing in particular about the probability of his return to the ring. Dempsey was willing to talk grapes to any extent, but dodged questions of whether he would again put on the gloves.

Greatest Week-End of 1928 Football 'Just Around the Corner'

Saturday Crammed With Traditional Rivalry Struggles; Indiana, Purdue Tangle for Thirty-First Time.

BY NORMAN E. ISAACS

Just around the corner is a Saturday of football which looms as the greatest week-end of the 1928 gridiron season—the day of traditional struggles, and battles to decide the championships of various conferences and portions of the nation.

Manual, Tech Go Through Final Drills

City Rivals Ready for Clash Friday at South Side Field.

Technical and Manual were to put the finishing touches on their preparatory work for their contest at Manual's new athletic field Friday at 2 p. m. Both squads are in good shape and the Green and White still remain a heavy favorite.

Manual coaches have devoted much time to defense this week and are hopeful their Red and White charges will be able to halt the driving Tech offense Friday.

Although the Techies have by far the best season record the southsiders are not downcast nor pessimistic and are confident the Arsenalites will have a tough time in the contest.

Big Four Meets Detroit Quintet

Bob Nipper's Big Four A. A. basketball squad will swing into home action Saturday night at the Beech Grove high school gym against the powerful Michigan Central team of Detroit, led by the noted Sid Sanvick.

The game will start at 8:15 and will be preceded by a game between The Indianapolis Times squad and Big Four Apprentices.

Purdue Is Ready for Big Contest

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 22.—The Purdue Boilermakers were ready today for the tapering-off process, in preparation for their annual clash here Saturday with Indiana. Seventeen members of the squad will play their last game for Purdue this week-end.

The varsity was sent against the freshmen Wednesday and the rhinies, using I. U. plays, were badly battered at the end of the drill. A huge pep session is to be held in the armory Friday evening.

Local Bowling Gossip

BY LEFTY LEE

The deadline for entries in the coming city tournament is Saturday, Nov. 24 at midnight. Norman Hamilton, in an appeal to the bowlers of the eighteen club commercial league to enter this year, told the boys that if Indianapolis ever event, it must first support this tournament. The fee is small, special booster prizes will take care of the lower average team. Send in your team entry today and help make this meet the biggest and best.

The Hare Chevrolet team rolled the best total in the Indiana Ladies League of 962, 971 and 1,015, a count of 2,948. These scores were good for a third-place win over the S-F Coffee. The Halgren

I. U. Mat Coach to Take on Mexican Indian

W. H. Thom, Indiana university wrestling coach, instead of Jack Reynolds, will meet Yaqui Joe, Mexican Indian, in the main go of Monday night's mat show at Tomlinson hall.

Reynolds wired Promoter McLemore he would be unable to make the date and McLemore got busy and secured Thom, who formerly played football and wrestled for Iowa university. He also coached the Wabash (Ind.) high school griders.

The Thom-Yaqui match will be to a finish, two falls in three. In a time limit but here some time ago the pair went to a draw. The Indian has yet to lose a bout in Indianapolis.

HAWKEYES WORK HARD

By United Press
IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 22.—The Iowa Hawkeyes went through strenuous scrimmage Wednesday, the last one on the home field this year. Friday they leave for Ann Arbor for the last game of the season with Michigan. Neither line plays nor the aerial attack functioned against the freshmen and Coach Ingwersen substituted many times.

N. D. AND CARNEGIE

By Times Special
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 22.—Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech meet in football next year on Nov. 23 at Pittsburgh, Knute Rockne announced Wednesday night.

WOLVERINES JUGGLED

By United Press
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 22.—The Michigan squad underwent a juggling Wednesday as Coach Tad Wieman endeavored to present a more formidable line against Iowa.

H. S. BASKETBALL

Greencastle, 39; Cloverdale, 21. Delphi, 50; Tipton, 32.

The climactic moment of the Indiana season will come when Indiana and Purdue, Hoosierdom's Big Ten representatives, tangle on the turf of Ross-Ade stadium, Lafayette, in the thirty-first meeting between the schools.

Purdue has the edge with sixteen victories to Indiana's ten triumphs. Four of the games wound up in ties. A little less in importance, perhaps, but none the less a traditional rivalry engagement, will be the battle between Wabash and De Pauw at Greencastle. All the color, all the thrills of Hoosier football will be crammed into those two games Saturday.

A Great Obstacle
Wisconsin, the sole undefeated eleven in the Big Ten, its record marred only by a tie with Purdue, faces its last obstacle in the quest for the Big Ten championship. The obstacle is a mighty big one—Minnesota—at the game which will be fought at Madison. Should Minnesota win, the conference race will fall into an uncomfortable muddle with several teams entitled to a share of the honors.

Still another big "traditional" encounter will be waged in the Illinois stadium at Urbana when the Illini mix it up with Ohio State. Then there's the Michigan-Iowa fracas at Ann Arbor, another big go, which is a certain stadium "filler."

Purple Battles Dartmouth
Northwestern will do its Saturday pastime against Dartmouth, one of the featured intersectional engagements of the day. Chicago, the only other Big Ten team, completed its season last week-end.

Eastward the fans are nearing the hazy stage. Harvard plays its traditional foe—Yale in the New Haven Bowl, in what normally would be the big attraction. But there are other frays attracting attention. Topping the list is the Carnegie Tech-N. Y. U. battle at Pittsburgh. For the Skibos the tilt is the final obstacle to overcome in order to lay claim to the mythical national gridiron crown.

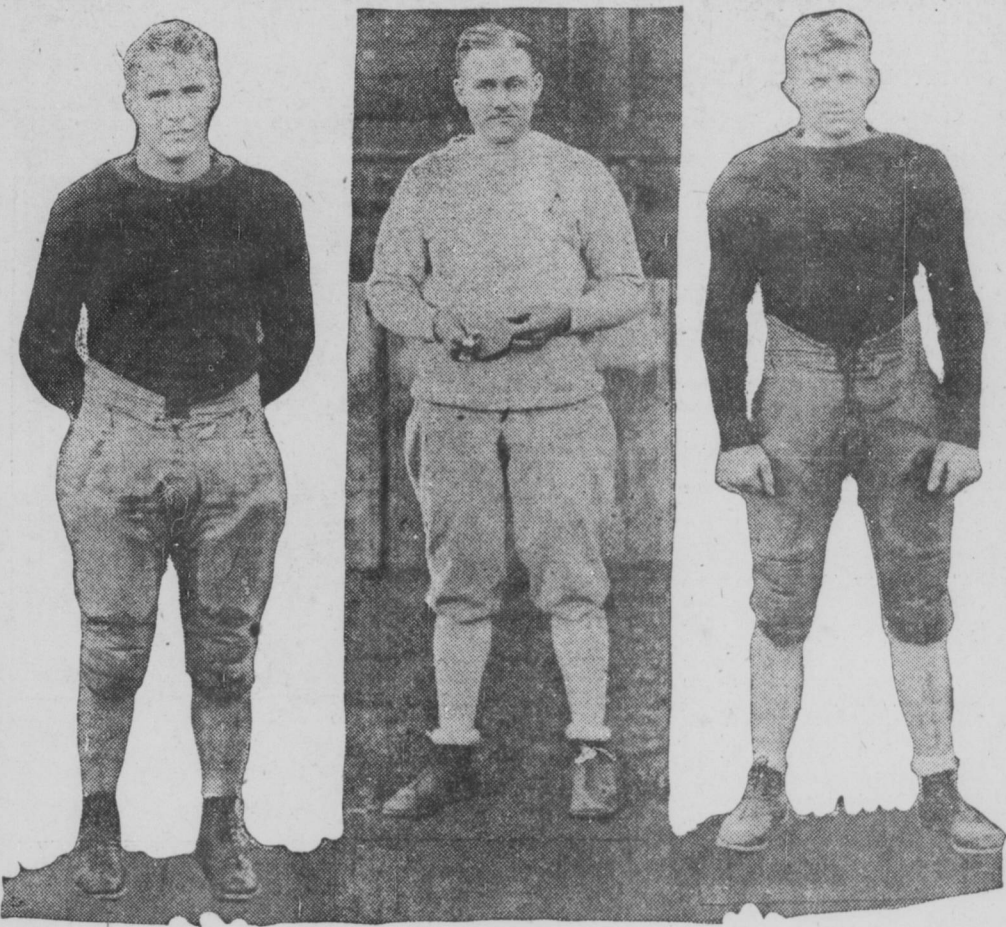

Nebraska Goes East to Wage an Intersectional tilt with the great Army eleven at West Point, and Princeton plays the Navy eleven.

Missouri valley fans have the typical symptoms and that section is talking solely of the big rivalry clash between Kansas and Missouri at Columbia.

The big game on the Pacific coast will be the fray between Stanford and California at Berkeley.

WONT MEET IN 1929
Sevance and Texas A. and M., who have played football annually for a number of years, won't meet in 1929.

Bring 'Em on! Say Tiger Gridders

SHARPENING their grid claws to meet the invasion of their Wabash rivals Saturday, the De Pauw Tigers "fear no Cavemen" and are out to scratch up the white lines Saturday at the expense of the boy friends from up the Monon. The contest will be staged at Greencastle and will end the football season for both teams.

De Pauw-Wabash struggles attract state-wide interest every year and De Pauw officials promise accommodations for all who make the journey to Blackstock field. The big idea of the Tigers is to get even for last year's defeat at the hands of the Scarlet and thereby cause the Cavemen to return to Crawfordsville feeling blue—like indigo. De Pauw downed Muncie Normal last Saturday, 19 to 0, a feat which indicated the Tigers are at the peak. For Butler beat the same Muncies only 12 to 6. Coach Bish Hughes has seen his team improve with the advance of the season and only two tilts have been lost—to Army and Purdue.

De Pauw scored twice on the Army, much to the surprise of the critics. Scott and Firebaugh are two of the leading members of the Greencastle machine and they have been prominent all season.

Cruising In Sportland

WITH EDDIE ASH

STRAIGHT through, since 1890, with the exception of one year, 1906, Minnesota and Wisconsin have met on the gridiron, and when Gophers and Badgers battle Saturday it will be the thirty-eighth clash between the rival northern schools.

The rivals even didn't take time out during the Spanish-American war or the World war, and the reason they failed to get together in 1906 must have been very serious. During the long stretch Minnesota has won twenty times, Wisconsin twelve and five ties resulted.

And now here they are again grooming for another important engagement, with the Big Ten championship going to the Badgers if they win. Victory for Minnesota won't carry the title, for the "Minnies" have lost two games, 7 to 6 and 10 to 8.

DEFEATS OF THAT SORT GRATE HARD AND THE GOPHERS DOUBTLESS WILL ENDEAVOR TO CHEW UP THEIR NEIGHBOR STATE TEAM, DECISIVELY. IF POSSIBLE, WHEN THE WHISTLE BLOWS AT MADISON, IT'S GOING TO BE A SCRAP, BOYS.

HOSIER hearts, in most cases, are with Wisconsin, for it was Purdue that got a tie with the Badgers, 19 to 19. Furthermore, Glenn Thistlethwaite, Badger coach, is a product of Earlham, and Minnesota disposed of both Indiana and Purdue.

Minnesota is trying to appear in the role of an underdog as the frays approach, but few grid fans ever figure the Gophers in that light regardless of their record. The boys are too big to need sympathy.

AT KOKOMO RECENTLY DR. WALTER GIPE BOWLED 298, MISSING A PERFECT SCORE BY TWO POINTS. WHEN GIPE USED TO BOWL OVER GRID OPPONENTS FOR SHORTRIDGE AND WABASH HE SELDOM EVER MISSED EVEN THAT MUCH.

THE new boxing commission has ruled against the holding of "mixed" bouts in the city. Shades of "Chief" John Metoquah and "Chief" Jack Elkhardt!

There are plenty of "ifs" to the Big Ten Saturday, chief of which is the "if" that will occur if Wisconsin loses and the games between Illinois and Ohio State and Iowa and Michigan end in tie scores. And it that happens four teams will be claiming a title share.

REGARDLESS OF WHAT HAPPENS TO THE BADGERS SATURDAY, THEY WILL HAVE THE USUAL OBSTACLES NEXT FALL FOR ENGLISHED ON THE WISCONSIN 1929 CARD ARE NORTHWESTERN, NOTRE DAME, IOWA, PURDUE, CHICAGO AND MINNESOTA.

More Pep When Team Wins

By NEA Service
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 22.—Does a football team affect the studies of the school as a whole?

Knute Rockne thinks so. And, like everything else this noted football coach thinks and says, it is worth paying attention to. "A winning team helps the scholastic standing of the whole school," he observed here recently. "When the team is winning, the student body moves along in its studies with zip and pep, but when the team is losing, the students slump in their scholastic work."

Prominent Men to Attend Game

By United Press
WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 22.—The University of Nebraska will be cheered by several celebrities in its game with Army here Saturday.

Among those who will be here to cheer the Huskers will be Vice-President Dawes, Governor Adam McMillen of Nebraska, Governor George Dern of Utah, Governor Theodore Christiansen of Minnesota and Governor-Elect Arthur J. Weaver of Nebraska. Governor Dern formerly captained the Corn Husker eleven.

ALL PLAYERS IN TRIM

By United Press
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 22.—The chances seem excellent that the Illini will take the field Saturday against Ohio State with every man on the squad ready for action. All the regulars were in position Wednesday.

Tracy Cox and Allen to Meet on Legion Card

Tracy Cox, popular local boxer, will make his first appearance of the indoor season at the armory next Tuesday night, when he performs in the eight-round semi-windup against Bobby Allen of Chicago. "Coxie" is one lad who likes nothing better than to tangle with an opponent willing to "slug it out."

Since the legion matchmaker is convinced army fans want matches of the "murder" type, he is going to the limit to supply this kind of battles in the preliminaries Tuesday.

The feature event between Frankie Garcia and Babe Ruth should set a hot pace along this line. Garcia is training at the Arcade gym. Wednesday he took on three sparmates—Jackie Coogan, Sammy Price and Bobby Allen—in rapid succession.

Pacific Rivals Set for Action

By United Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—The football teams of Stanford and California were reported in perfect shape today, each combination being carefully guarded and kept in seclusion until the "big game" at Berkeley Saturday.

Approximately 90,000 persons will pay $400,000 for the privilege of watching the game, it was estimated today. A record crowd of 87,100 persons attended the "big" game last year.

OHIO LINEUP REVAMPED

Coach Wilce Shakes up Buckeye Squad for Illinois Tilt.

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22.—A revamped Ohio lineup probably will face Illinois Saturday. Barkins probably will be at center, Hieronymus at tackle, Fouch at quarter, Holman at left half and Kruskamp at full back. Coach Wilce said the Illinois style of play caused the shakeup.

WISCONSIN IN SHAPE

Badgers Primed for Important Clash With Minnesota Eleven.

By United Press
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 22.—Wisconsin, riding the crest of the Big Ten percentage column, is in shape for the Minnesota clash Saturday, the last of the season. Should the Badgers win they will be undisputed champions of the circuit.

Scarlet Team on 'Edge' for De Pauw Fray

Vaughan Has Scarlet Squad Ready for Saturday Grid Game.

By Times Special
CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 22.—The Wabash college football squad, instilled with the old Little Giant spirit was to be sent through a snappy limbering up drill on Ingalls field in preparation for the annual renewal of the old feud with De Pauw Saturday at Greencastle.

Head Coach Pete Vaughan has been working hard with his Scarlet outfit and the chant of "Wabash always fights!" has been resounding over the campus all week.

The squad is right on edge and primed for the battle with the Tigers. The starting lineups in Saturday's fray at the home of the Methodists probably will be as follows:
