

PUPILS OF CITY TO CONSTRUCT MODEL HOMES

Realtors Announce Plans for Contest With Show in April.

Plans for a miniature model house contest, open to all grade and high school pupils of the county, in connection with the Realtors' home show at the state fairground April 3 to 14, were announced today by Robert Allison, chairman of a special committee of the Indianapolis Real Estate Board.

The winners will receive $180 in prizes. The models entered in the contest, expected to number several hundred, will be exhibited at a home show, and each entrant will be given a free ticket to the show by the real estate board.

Plans and materials for the house which will form the basis of the contest will be provided by the board for 10 cents. Materials will be available at the office of the board, 320 Lemcke building, next Tuesday.

Assures Good Faith
"This small charge," Allison said, "only partially covers the cost of the materials, but it will assure good faith on the part of the children entering the contest."

"We have been put to considerable expense and the charge is made to prevent any child from obtaining the materials and through carelessness or lack of interest, failing to complete his model."

Materials for the contest to be given out will consist of a sheet of instructions on which will be printed complete sketches. These, when cut out, may be pasted together to form a model house of cardboard, approximately six inches high.

May Use Any Design

The contestant may arrange the parts given in any design, draw in doors and windows, decorate the house to represent brick, stucco, frame, or any other type of construction, mount it on a baseboard representing a lot, and landscape the lot with miniature trees, bushes, grass and walks.

All entries must be delivered at the real estate board display space in the manufacturers' building at the state fair grounds March 30, between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m., at which time each entrant will be given a free ticket to the Realtors' home show.

The contest divided into two classes, one for grade school and one for high school pupils.

Prizes for each class are: First, $35; second, $25; third, $15; fourth, $10, and fifth, $5.

Must Give Name, Address

On the under side of the baseboard representing the lot, the contestant must place his full name and address, grade and school and home phone number.

A building line must be established not closer than eight inches from the front of the board.

The real estate board, at discretion of the judges, reserves the right to eliminate any entries and to keep any or all entries. Judges will be appointed by the board and names announced through the newspapers.

PASS LAW TO MAKE JOHN COOLIDGE MAJOR

Permits President's Son to Wear Uniform at Ball Tonight.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 9.—The first act of the twenty-fifth Connecticut general assembly on convening today was to suspend its rules and pass a bill whereby John Coolidge, son of the President, could be appointed a major.

The bill permits Governor John H. Trumbull to name John as a member of his staff. It was hurried through so that the Governor's future son-in-law could wear his gorgeous new full-dress, blue and gold uniform at the inaugural ball tonight.

John will attend the function with his fiancée, Miss Florence Trumbull. The gubernatorial staff, of which he becomes a part, will wear full dress uniforms at the ball for the first time since the war.

BUS MEN WILL MEET

Association to Hold Annual Sessions at the Lincoln Jan. 15.

Legislation, transportation problems, and election of officers will engross the attention of the Motor Carriers' Association of Indiana, embracing every bus operator in the state, at the annual meeting at the Lincoln, Jan. 15.

The bus operators are expected to take cognizance of the threat from northern Indiana that new regulations and safeguards about passenger transportation by bus will be sought. Death of three persons in recent bus accidents in the vicinity of South Bend precipitated the proposal.

H. E. Johns of La Porte is president of the association; A. G. Harman, Indianapolis, treasurer, and Charles L. Pope, secretary.

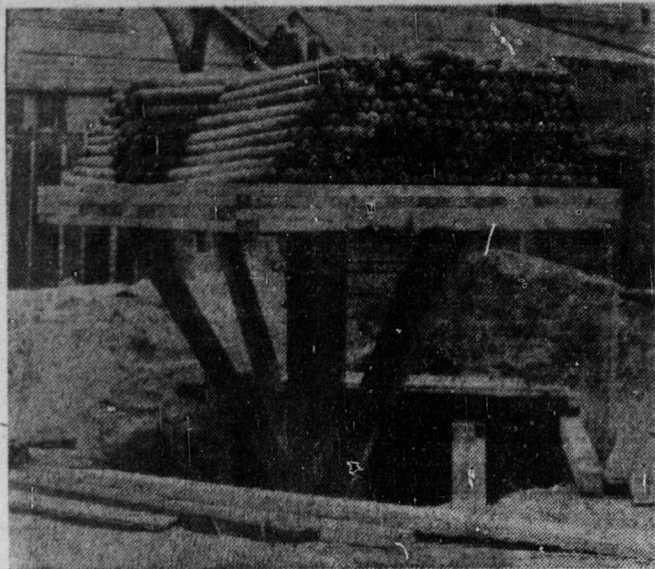

RAIN MEN TO PARLEY

Annual Convention Set for City Jan. 24 and 25.

Indiana grain dealers' twenty-eighth annual convention will be held Jan. 24 and 25 in the Board of Trade library. A banquet and a dance are on the program for the evening of Jan. 24 at the Elks Club, with the Indianapolis Board of Trade and the Indianapolis grain dealers as hosts.

Speakers will include John McCordie, lifelong friend of the late Charles B. Riley, former association secretary; Dr. R. H. Carr, Purdue university; F. A. Jones, Chicago, grain exporter; C. A. Waalen, federal grain supervisor here, and Charles Quinn, national grain dealers' secretary.

Test Soil for Building

Testing machine loaded with 17,000 pounds of steel.

A novel test of the "soil-bearing strength" of the site for the new $300,000 unit of the Sears-Roebuck Company building at the southeast corner of Vermont and Alabama streets is being made by Jeup & Moore, consulting engineers.

Testing the earth seventeen feet below the surface in the three-day experiment indicated the soil has a soil-bearing strength of 8,600 pounds a square foot.

The result will be used by Chicago architects in designing the foundation for the building. Pierre & Wright are associate architects. Soil tests are common practice in Chicago, but rarely have been made in Indianapolis, said Russell B. Moore, of Jeup & Moore.

SLAPS AT DARROW

Lawyer Assailed by Speaker as Peril to Youth.

Clarence Darrow was assailed as anti-Christ and a menace to American youth before the Indiana Association of District and County Fairs at the annual banquet of that organization at the Claypool Tuesday night.

The speaker was A. P. Sandles, Ottawa, O., one time candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor in that state and long identified with fairs there.

The banquet marked the close of the day's business session. Sandles' condemnation of Darrow was brought in when he urged young persons to remain on the farm, where, he said, the real aristocracy will reside.

Other speakers included Mayor L. E. Slack and Governor-Elect Harry G. Leslie.

J. H. Claussen, Crown Point, was re-elected president; C. H. Taylor, Boonville, and E. J. Barker, Thorn-town.

D--- FOR DEMOCRAT?

Sanatorium Trustee Protests Label in Directory.

Mrs. Alma McKinsey, Frankfort, president of the Indiana Women's Republican Club, has a capital "D" behind her name in the state directory, where she is listed as a member of the board of trustees of the state sanatorium, Rockville.

That indicates that Mrs. McKinsey was appointed to the board as a Democrat. There are four trustees and are supposed to be equally divided, according to political faith.

Mrs. McKinsey has denied the Democratic appellation and says she was appointed as a Republican.

Governor Ed Jackson declared there was some error and the matter could be rectified when her re-appointment comes up June 8.

Other Republican members of the board are: Dr. Denzil C. Barnhill and Fred B. Robinson, both of Indianapolis. The real Democratic member is Parke Beadle, Rockville.

WOMAN DRAWN TO GRAND JURY DUTY EXCUSED

First in County Let Off by Judge: Pleads 'Too Busy.'

The first woman ever drawn for grand jury service in Marion county was excused today by Criminal Judge James A. Collins because she was a woman.

Her name is Miss Ollie B. Owens, secretary of the literary department of the Indiana Baptist convention, 110 North Euclid avenue.

No Place for Women
"I suppose whoever drew my name thought it was attached to about 200 pounds of he-man," laughingly explained Miss Owens to the court. She pleaded that her duties were so intricate no one could fill her place and the court let her go with the remark:

"It has been my policy for fourteen years not to have women jurors until the county is able to provide proper places for women to stay in the courthouse, even though women have been granted full suffrage rights and in many instances 'play men.'"

Three Jurors Obtained
Only three jurors were obtained out of fifteen talesmen ordered to report. Deputy sheriffs were sent after two who did not appear—Clyde E. Osborne of 2011 North Delaware street, and Albert G. Hawkins, mechanic, R. R. O. Hawkins erroneously had been excused by a bailiff Tuesday.

Those accepted were Henry F. Hohl, gardener, R. R. O.; Elmore G. Shirley, farmer, Acton, and Reese A. Maxwell, partner in the Correct Sales Weight Company, 27 West Pleasant Run boulevard.

Hawkins was brought in and after explaining he would lose his job at the Ford assembly plant if he was absent, permanently was excused.

Judge Collins ordered ten more prospective jurors drawn this afternoon to report Friday.

BRIDE, 21, MISSING

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 9.—Mystery surrounded the disappearance of Mrs. Lydia Lester Caddell, 21, bride of three weeks, who has not been seen since she entered a taxicab yesterday.

Mrs. Caldwell, formerly of Norristown, Pa., entered the cab when the chauffeur handed her a note purporting to say her grandmother, just arrived from Pennsylvania, was ill at the Union station and needed assistance.

Caddell, a steel worker, intimidated another suitor, angered over the marriage, possibly had arranged for her abduction.
