WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Deadlocked and contented, the senate rolled on with the Kellogg anti-war treaty debate today, the reservationists threatening to filibuster and the treaty adherents daring them to do it.

The end of legitimate debate was in sight and everything appeared ready for a final vote of ratification soon, except that no provision has been made for consideration of the reservations.

A vote would mean defeat for the reservationists so they are talking about filibustering. They feel they have gained material strength since the debate started, four or five senators having joined their ranks. Further delay, they think, would give them added votes.

Want Long Delay

The most prominent treaty adherents virtually are content with the situation because they do not believe the treaty can be hurt by delay.

They are opposed to the naval cruiser building bill which is the next order of business and they would like to put consideration of it off as long as possible.

The proposed Hoover prohibition investigation was taken up by the judiciary committee where Senator Jones (Rep., Wash.) and Edge (Rep., N. J., vet) were to appear to draw a compromise resolution authorizing such an inquiry. They already have agreed that the compromise should be a joint resolution authorizing President-Elect Hoover to appoint nine members of an investigating committee which would have $50,000 in expenses.

The resolution is expected to be adopted, although Senator King (Dem., Utah) is trying to rally opposition to it.

Study Reappointment

The old subject of reappointment of state representation in the house in accordance with new shifts in population finally was brought before the body, with debate limited to three hours. The bill is expected to be passed and may be rushed through the senate before adjournment.

The house tariff investigation continued and numerous committees were at work clearing up minor matters.

U. S. BUSY BOOTBLACK

Provides 2,781,829 Pounds of Polish to Other Nations in Ten Months.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Uncle Sam is one of the world's busiest bootblacks. He helps shine the shoes of other nations.

This became evident when the department of commerce announced that 2,781,829 pounds of shoe polish valued at $766,326 was shipped by American firm to other countries during the first ten months of 1928.

The greater part of this went to provide glittering shoes and boots for Cubans, Canadians and South Americans. Europe, the report showed, makes most of her polish at home.

SHORT TALK BY A THOUGHTFUL MOTHER

An Indiana mother tells this: "We find nothing to compare with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and colds. My little lad had trouble with his bronchial tubes from his third year, but since we started giving him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound we have been able to control it. We know there is nothing to compare with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." The very name tells a story. Good also for croup (spasmodic) and troublesome night coughs. Ask for it. ARREST PASTOR; WED GIRL, 11

Accused of Giving False Age for Child Bride.

By United Press

HERRIN, Ill., Jan. 10.—Joseph Milton Benton, 54-year-old, blind Pentecostal preacher, was under arrest today charged with perjury in falsifying the age of his 11-year-old wife, formerly Selinda Glendenin.

Additional charges against him were promised by authorities pending examination of his girl bride. Neighbors say she soon will become a mother.

Benton was arrested at the request of Mrs. Hester Yull, Williamson county probation officer, and Mrs. Minnie Smith of the Illinois children's Home and Aid Society of Duquoin who investigated the strange marriage, through which Selinda has been led to believe she would become "sanctified."

Charges of perjury also have been filed against the parents of the child, who authorities say gave her age as 16 while the bride-to-be sat in an automobile outside the courthouse.

Authorities also were investigating unconfirmed reports that Benton has a wife living in Leachville, Ark.

U. S. TROOPS TO GET WATERPROOF BLANKETS

New Fabrics Invented by Quartermaster Corps Lieutenant.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The prayers of buck privates and others who have been compelled to sleep unsheltered during rainstorms have been answered by Lieutenant Harry Kirsner of the Philadelphia quartermaster depot.

Kirsner has invented a blanket material that resists water. The war department says that in tests water was suspended in some of the Kirsner blankets for six hours without penetrating the material.

Tests have shown the blanket to contain twice the warmth of the current army issue of the same weight and when rolled into a pack tightly does not become hard enough to chafe a doughboy's shoulders.

Troops probably will be supplied with the new blanket as current stocks of the old blanket are exhausted.

Couple Seek Marriage License, But Wild Geese Change Plans.

By United Press

GOLDENDALE, Ore., Jan. 10.—W. W. Gerling of Portland and Miss Martha Jackson of Goodnoe Hills, Wash., came here to get a marriage license, but when informed that the wheat fields of this section they applied for a hunting license.

"We'll go to ra hunt first, what say?" Gerling addressed his bride-to-be.

"Suits me," replied the young woman. "We can get married any day, but we can't go goose hunting any day."

After an unsuccessful hunt the couple returned and took out their marriage license.

Many Students Unable to 'Grasp' Lord's Prayer

By Science Service

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Jan. 10.—Tennessee college students preparing to be teachers are well acquainted with the words of the Lord's Prayer, but they understand only about two-thirds of this famous classic, while they repeat daily in their classrooms. This is shown by an educational experiment with 540 students, conducted by Lester R. Wheeler of the East Tennessee State Teachers' college, and reported to School and Society.

Ninety-six per cent of the future school teachers wrote the words of the Lord's Prayer from memory, without leaving out a word. When asked to explain the fifteen different thought units, the average student gave acceptable interpretation of only 65 per cent. Some units were found to be much easier to understand than others. Only 44 per cent could explain "Our Father," while "Thy kingdom come" proved to be the most difficult of all, and was answered by only 43 per cent. The easiest passages were "and forgive us our debts" and "lead us not into temptation."

The investigation indicates "that the school and church are failing in teaching the student the wider and more subtle meaning of this well-known passage," Wheeler reports. "If college students understand only two-thirds of the prayer, the ignorance of the average child probably will be more appalling than this study indicates."

GEN. BOOTH TO BE REQUESTED TO QUIT POST

Salvation Army's Council Will Ask Commander to Retire.

BY ARCH RODGERS

United Press Staff Correspondent

SUNBURY-ON-THAMES, England, Jan. 10.—The high council of the Salvation Army has decided to ask General Bramwell Booth, supreme commander, to retire, it was announced officially today.

Booth will retain the title of general, the announcement said. Outcome of the extraordinary meeting of the high council here was a victory for Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the army in the United States, who was leader of the movement to remove her brother from autocratic control of the army, because of his ill health.

Official announcement said the high council had decided that its president, vice-presidents and five members be delegated to visit General Booth at Southwood, Sussex, where he is ill, and suggest his retirement.

The resolution suggesting that General Booth retire was adopted unanimously by the high council, the official announcement said.

Booth Takes Action

By United Press

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Seeking to checkmate his sister's efforts to unseat him as head of the Salvation Army, General W. Bramwell Booth was reported today to have named a council of five to direct the army's affairs during his illness.

The Daily Mail said it understood he had undertaken to forestall the removal campaign of Commander Evangeline Booth by sending the high council a letter announcing the appointment.

Commissioner E. J. Higgins, the army's chief of staff, was appointed chairman of the committee, the Daily Mail said. The other members were Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the army in the United States and leader of the opposition movement; Catherine Booth, General Booth's daughter, and two prominent commissioners.

It also was understood that the general proposes to appoint a commission to learn whether any changes in administration are desired by the army, and if so how far reaching the changes should be.

Commander Booth seeks her brother's removal on the grounds that his poor health makes him unable to attend to his duties.

AGREE ON STATE POLICE BILL

Single Draft Displaces Three Original Measures.

A single bill to enlarge the state motorpolice force, under a nonpartisan board of control, was in prospect today, displacing three measures previously proposed for introduction in the general assembly.

Co-ordination of features of the three proposals was effected Wednesday at a meeting in the office of Otto G. Fifield, secretary of state, attended by Fifield, Senators John L. Niblack and Robert L. Moerhead of Indianapolis; A. G. Brown of Greencastle, Indiana Bankers' Association president and Eben Leish of Huntington, attorney for the Farmer's Guide.

Fifield favored enlargement of the state police force to provide at least one officer for each of Indiana's ninety-two counties. Bankers wanted a separate commission created to direct the police. Leish's bill would place the force under the adjutant general.

The co-ordinated measure would place control of the enlarged force under an advisory board; one Republican and one Democrat appointed by the Governor to serve without pay, and the secretary of state as ex-officio member.

The bill is intended to remove the department from politics and is expected to have the support of the three groups interested in the proposal.

C. C. Goodrich, sales manager of the Indianapolis Engraving Company, spoke on "The Engraver and the Advertiser" at the Advertising Club luncheon today at the Columbia Club.

GOOD ADVICE ON AVOIDING INFLUENZA GIVEN BY HEALTH OFFICIALS

Plenty of sleep, wholesome food, fresh air, regular exercise—these are strongly recommended by health officials in the many sections of the country where influenza is prevalent. It is most important now that every precaution be taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

If possible keep away from crowded places, and especially from persons who are sneezing, sniffing and coughing. Use plenty of water, inside and out. Wash regularly before eating. Keep your hands away from your face at all times. If you have a cold take the best care of it and consult your doctor.

Many people have made it a practice to use Vapex regularly, a drop on a folded handkerchief every morning. This is of great assistance in avoiding colds and kindred ailments. Breathe the Vapex vapor frequently during the day, especially while mingling with crowds. The odor is pleasant and refreshing. The strength of one application lasts for an entire day, even increases for several hours. Buy a bottle of Vapex from your druggist, in the little square bottle and the package with the green triangle.

LINK HOOVER AID IN SECRET PAPERS PROBE

Mystery Anfiles Revealed in Quiz of Documents Scandal.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—New mysteries were added to the international forged documents scandal today when the senate investigating committee made public secret evidence it recently had taken pertaining to show George Barr Baker, confidential adviser of President-Elect Hoover had been forced by the state department to surrender documents which had been stolen from the American embassy in Mexico.

It also revealed the committee was in possession of a document charging that Ivy Lee, public relations expert of New York and publicity counsel for John D. Rockefeller, had been paid an unstated amount of money by the Soviet government for some undescribed expenses.

200 Documents in All

The only identification of the Baker documents offered was when Senator Borah of Idaho pointed out that they "referred to supposed activities on the part of the American government which were unfriendly to Mexico." It also was brought out some of them were spurious and that there were about 200 of them.

Chairman Reed of the committee offered the documents in relation to Ivy Lee, purporting to be two typewritten memoranda giving the substance of a letter signed by the Soviet ambassador Pakowsky, addressed to A. M. Kemper of the Commercial Bank for North Europe in Paris. It read as follows:

"Please pay to Mr. Ivy Lee, or the person duly authorized by him, the amount indicated to cover all his expenses contemplated by the special account of Narkomindel N 362 M W. "At the same time notify officially Mr. Ivy Lee or his representatives, that there has been put at his disposition, a complementary credit provided for by his arrangement with Moscow."

Offered for Sale
These complementary credits and the increase in the normal amount of the periodical payments should also be put to the special account of Narkomindel N 361 M W, concerning Senator Borah."

Reed said he understood the papers had been offered for sale in Paris for approximately $50,000. "There is reason to believe that the typewriter on which they were written is one of those which was in the Soviet embassy at Paris, Reed said. It was his opinion they were forged merely for sale or for the purpose of blackmail."

NEGRO TO ENTER PLEA OF GUILTY IN SLAYING

An unusual procedure will take place in criminal court Saturday when Leroy Moss, Negro, 24, a juggler in a Negro theatrical company, will plead guilty to an indictment charging first degree murder for the fatal shooting of Joseph Saunders, Negro, 34, in a restaurant Sept. 2 at 339 Indiana avenue, Deputy Prosecutor Paul Rhoads announced today.

Moss was to have been tried by a jury last month but he indicated he would plead guilty. The state insisted on a plea of first degree murder but did not demand the death penalty.

Moss is said to have shot Saunders after the latter refused to pay him wages for his participation in a show.

BOY, 14, GOES ON TRIAL FOR WITCH DEATH

First of Trio Gets Life Sentence; Pick Jury in 40 Minutes.

By United Press

YORK, Pa., Jan. 10.—The old witch on her broomstick came riding into the court record at the start of the trial of John Curry today.

Curry, rosy-cheeked, slick-haired lad of 14, is the second defendant to be put to trial for the witchcraft murder of Nelson Rehmyer. "John Blymyer told me," testified Clayton Hess, the first witness, "that he was going to work on Rehmyer's mind, get him under his control and then he would get a lock of Rehmyer's hair and that would end all the trouble my parents were having and would break the spell."

After Rehmyer's murder Blymyer, witch doctor who Wednesday was convicted and ordered sentenced to life imprisonment, told him Hess said:

"It's all my fault. I hope they don't blame the other boys. I got the witch."

The jury for Curry's trial had been picked in forty minutes, said to be a record for murder cases.

"Pass me a Lucky-I pass up the sweets."

Johnny Farrell

Johnny Farrell, National Open Golf Champion, 1928

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.

At the same time toasting removes impurities. That's why 20,679 physicians are on record that Lucky Strike is less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why prominent athletes have testified that Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition. No wonder that this was discovered long ago by many men, who pride themselves on keeping trim and fit who love the "pep" that comes with health and vigor.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—
