Worley Says Officers Will Concentrate on Poison Booze Sellers.

Twenty-seven alleged bootleggers face blind tiger charges today as the result of police liquor raids over the week-end.

Police Chief Claude M. Worley announced that he would seek the aid of Prosecutor Judson L. Stark and Albert Ward, United States district attorney, to padlock many of the places.

Worley declared the police drive on liquor sellers will continue with concentration on "speakeasies that sell poison liquor and stuff unfit for human consumption."

"There is a vast amount of difference between the man who sells poison stuff and the one who sells whiskey that is fit to drink. Not that I will be content to let the latter get away, but our main efforts will be directed against the worst element."

SECOND SISTER DIES, VICTIM OF GAS IN HOME

Final Chapter Is Written in Tragedy of Two Aged Women.

The second and final chapter in a tragedy that caused the death by asphyxiation of two sisters, one 87 and the other 81, was written at city hospital this morning when Miss Adelaide Ward died.

Miss Ward, unconscious, and the body of her sister, Miss Mary Ward, 81, were found in their gas filled home at 717 East Fifteenth street, Jan. 18.

They had turned on the gas in the kitchen stove, believing they had lighted it.

The two sisters were found by Mr. and Mrs. Harris Wetsell, 1321 North Meridian street, whose call prolonged the life of Miss Adelaide, who was revived at city hospital and apparently was on her way to recovery when a sudden relapse caused her death this morning.

The sisters, who had lived together in Indianapolis for more than thirty years, had only one surviving relative, a niece whose home is in Oklahoma City, Okla.

UNCOVER RUM IMPORTING RING

$60,000 in Liquor Seized in Warehouse Raids.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 28.—Operations of a liquor importing ring that believed to rival in scope the superior industrial alcohol chain broken up here four years ago, were engaging the attention of federal officials here today.

Investigation of the ring, in progress for months, broke into the open over the week-end when federal agents raided a suite of offices, arrested ten men and seized $60,000 worth of wines and liquors.

Three warehouses, one of them a government bonded storage place, housed the contraband booze, agents reported. All of it bore labels indicating it had been shipped across the Atlantic.

Nine of the ten men arrested are held awaiting arraignment. The tenth man, an alleged "higher-up" was released and was to appear at the offices of United States Attorney A. E. Bernstein today.

The initial breaks in the investigation indicated that it, like the superior industrial alcohol probe, would lead into many cities and involve public carriers, law enforcement officials, men of finance and day laborers.

The family previous to the divorce lived at Nora and both the husband and wife were members of prominent families in that section. Mrs. Dawson and the younger son now live at Broad Ripple. NEW YORK MAY ORGANIZE STATE DETECTIVE UNIT

48 Bureaus in U. S. Modeled on Scotland Yard Proposed.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 28.—A central detective force for every state in the Union, modeled on the famous Scotland Yard system and available for any crime that requires special training, has been suggested by the national crime commission's executive committee.

So important does Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt regard the suggestion that, as a member of the committee, he has asked Senator Caleb H. Baumes, chairman of the state crime commission, to investigate and report regarding its desirability.

If Baumes reports favorably, Roosevelt plans to lay before the legislature at its present session a bill which would provide New York state with a Scotland Yard of its own.

Baumes, one of the country's great experts on crime conditions, is the author of the widely known Baumes law that has become a terror to criminals.

Its main provision is a mandatory life sentence for habitual criminals—in the law defined as one who has been convicted three times previously for serious offenses.

In his letter to Baumes, Roosevelt summed up the question to be considered as follows: "Shall the state of New York establish a state bureau, composed of experts in the modern science of the detection of criminals, whose services shall be at the disposal of any sheriff, upon his request, and which largely shall consist of technically trained men available for immediate field work at any hour of the day or night? Should the expense or maintenance of this bureau, which must not be excessive, be borne entirely by the state?"

Roosevelt's letter was inspired by the report of a subcommittee of the national crime commission's executive committee. The subcommittee is headed by former Governor Lowden of Illinois. A report was made to the subcommittee by Professor Louis N. Robinson, its expert on penology. It called attention to the handicaps under which rural communities labor in handling the crime problem.

CLOSED BANK'S HEAD RECEIVES TERM IN PRISON

Jessup F. Bolinger, Shelby, Gets 2 to 14 Years.

SULLIVAN, Ind., Jan. 28.—Jessup F. Bolinger, president of the closed First National bank of Shelby, today faces a prison term of two to fourteen years as a result of pleading guilty to forgery.

Shortly after Edward D. Maple was found shot to death at Sullivan in the People's bank of which he was vice-president, Bolinger was discovered unconscious in the garage of his home, apparently the victim of gas from the exhaust of his automobile.

Sentence was passed upon Bolinger on a specific charge of forging the name of W. E. Gaskins, Shelby merchant, to a note for $2,500, but the bank president had confessed to total forgeries of $235,000 of which $80,000 was held by the People's bank.

Although Bolinger has absolved Maple of all blame in connection with the forgeries, he also admitted that two days before Maple's death he had conferred with him regarding bad paper held by the Sullivan bank.

Investigation into the death of Maple continues, but officials report little progress.

Angry at 'Good Night,' Hits Girl Angered when refused admission to the home of Miss May Nelson, 1121 North Illinois street, whom he had taken to a motion picture theater, Newt Green, address unknown, is alleged to have struck the girl and then hurled a brick through a window of the home. Police are searching for him.
