

CHURCH BOARD OPPOSES DRY INCREASE BILL

Methodists Are Against Addition of $24,000,000
for Prohibition.

By Times Special
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals today arrayed itself in opposition to the proposed appropriation of $24,000,000 additional for prohibition enforcement, and to the Anti-Saloon League, which has fought hard for the extra funds.

The Harris amendment carrying the money is still deadlocked in conference between the house and senate.

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, director of the board, asserted that congress stands ready to appropriate $24,000,000 or more, "if and when it is needed for legitimate federal activities in support of the prohibition amendment."

He said it is a misrepresentation to portray defeat of the amendment as a dry defeat. Admitting the split in the dry ranks over it, he said the dry leaders must plead guilty to a want of team work.

"It would have been inevitable," he said, "that much of this money would have been wasted, or would have reverted to the treasury in either case the cause of prohibition suffering criticism."

"Both house and senate are on record as favoring an adequate appropriation. It is also clearly established that appropriations have not been adequate heretofore."

"President Hoover will take office with a mandate from the American people to establish satisfactory prohibition enforcement. The prohibition unit will need more funds for investigation, for the payment of salaries adequate to secure satisfactory officers, and for an educational program."

BOY, 5, KILLS SISTER, 2

Child Near North Vernon Accidentally Discharges Revolver.

By Times Special
NORTH VERNON, Ind., Feb. 13.—Playing with a revolver which he had found under his father's pillow, Harry Campbell, 5, killed his 2-year-old sister, Goldie Mae, near here.

Ernest Campbell, the father, said the home was visited by a burglar recently and since he had kept a loaded gun under his pillow at night. He said that he got up late and forgot to remove the revolver. The mother, who was in an adjoining room, did not know the children had obtained the gun until she heard the fatal shot.

The charge from the revolver, struck the little girl near the shoulder and passed through her body.

FEAR TWO DEAD IN SNOWSLIDE

Hunt Trappers' Bodies After Crushed Cabin Is Found.

By United Press
CREEDE, Colo., Feb. 13.—A party of ten men led by forest ranger Van Alkin braved the danger of recurring snowslides in the foothills of the Cochetopa mountains west of Creede today in an effort to find the bodies of James Wolfe, 50, and his son, James Jr., 17.

It is feared the two are buried under tons of snow that crashed down the mountains Monday, crumpling their cabin.

Furniture and cooking utensils from the cabin were found Tuesday in the canyon below the cabin. Powell also discovered an abandoned ore smelter and several cabins, believed to have been unoccupied, crushed like eggshells.

The Wolfe cabin and the other buildings were hurled from their foundations, turned over and ground into kindling by the huge avalanche as it thundered down the precipitous incline, scattering wreckage over a large area.

Wolfe and his son were trappers.
