

AMEND PRIMARY REPEAL BILL TO BAN PROXY USE

Foes of Measure Fail to Kill Draft, but Pass Curb on Voting.

"Hand-picked proxies" will have no voice in state political conventions if the primary modification bill, as amended in the Indiana senate today, becomes a law.

Senators friendly to the present primary law failed again in their effort to kill the Republican state organization measure which amounts almost to repeal, but succeeded in affixing amendments restricting the voting in state conventions to regularly elected delegates or alternates. The amended bill was advanced to third reading in the upper house.

Kill Move Fails

Senator William F. Hodges of Gary, Republican, who led the fight Friday to kill the bill, moved for indefinite postponement, but the motion lost when twenty-seven senators supported a motion of Senator Denver C. Harlan of Richmond, co-author of the bill and majority leader to table.

Then Senator Hodges moved to amend the bill to prohibit proxies in state conventions. Harlan protested that counties were entitled to representation in the convention, even though their elected delegates were unable to attend.

Senator Chester A. Perkins of South Bend, Democrat, suggested provision should be made for the election of alternates who might vote in the absence of delegates.

Alternates Provided

"That's precisely what I intend to propose after this amendment is adopted," Hodges replied. "I am reliably informed that a majority of the committees in the last Republican state convention was held by proxies."

Hodges' amendment carried on a roll call vote, 42 to 6, many who had opposed him voting affirmatively. Amendments then were adopted, providing for the election of alternates.

HOUSE FAVORS TOBACCO TAX

Bill to Second Reading in Spite of Objections.

Prediction that the Indiana tobacco jobber and retailer would be ruined by the tobacco tax was made by every speaker against the tax in the debate in the house of representatives today upon a minority report for indefinite postponement of the Trowbridge-Mallot-Freeman measure.

Opposition proved of no avail, the bill went on to second reading by a vote of 51 to 41.

"The majority report for passage also carried with it an amendment providing that $250,000 of the money raised during 1930 should be paid into the school relief fund and every year thereafter an annual payment of $500,000 should be made into the fund.

Opponents of the bill concentrated on the fact that with the adoption of a tax the tobacco users would purchase their tobacco products from out-state mail order houses and would so evade the tax.

"The law is fundamentally incorrect—the theory of taxation does not provide that the people should be burdened with nuisance taxes. The cost of government should be placed where it belongs—upon property," declared Representative John Scott, of Gary.

"The cry this session has been for increases gas taxes, license fees, taxes on amusements, upon tobacco and a score of other things of this sort. The burden of taxation should be placed upon property and intangibles," he added.

"The animal life trends toward the bestial," he said. "War gleams through it all.

"The life of a man who believes in God is filled with a longing for peace between individuals and between nations."

WARD TO QUIT OFFICE MARCH 1, PRACTICE LAW

Federal Attorney to Form Partnership; Cannot Agree on Successor.

Albert Ward, United States district attorney, today announced plans to enter the law partnership of Slaymaker, Turner, Merrill, Adams & Locke in the general practice of law upon the close of his term as district attorney, March 1.

Formal designation was forwarded Tuesday to the United States attorney-general's office, although he had informed the attorney-general sixty days ago that he wished to retire at the end of his term.

With no agreement reached between Senators James E. Watson and Arthur E. Robinson on recommendation of a successor to Ward, it was considered likely that a temporary appointment would be made by Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell.

Cavins May Take Charge.

Alexander G. Cavins, present assistant to Ward, served in a similar situation from resignation of Homer Elliott, former district attorney, Jan. 16, 1925, until Ward took office March 1, 1925.

With entrance of Ward, the law firm will practice under the name Slaymaker, Merrill, Ward & Locke, and will have offices at 751 Consolidated building.

Ward, before becoming district attorney, served more than four years as judge of the Miami circuit court at Peru, resigning to accept the federal post.

At tempted to Resign Before.

Ward attempted to resign as district attorney two years ago, to enter private law practice, but consented to remain in the district attorney's office at the request of officials.

It is believed Ward's formal resignation may hasten an agreement between Robinson and Watson on his successor. Watson is reported still to favor appointment of John K. Ruckelshaus, young Indianapolis attorney, while Robinson, who was reported to favor an appointee living outside Marion county, with preference for Circuit Judge Cleon Mount, Tipton, is understood to be more favorably inclined toward Ruckelshaus at this time.

"Prior to the use of cornstalks for paper, the stalks were merely waste material for the most part," he said.

SENATE KILLS POISON LIQUOR PENALTY BILL

Law School, Hotel Acts Are Also Tabled; Favor Mortgage Increase.

The Indiana senators today unanimously adopted a committee report for indefinite postponement of the Gray bill which would make sellers of poison liquor, causing death, guilty of manslaughter and punishable by from two to ten years' imprisonment.

A bill, also introduced by Senator Carl M. Gray, Petersburg, providing for an Indiana university law school education or its equivalent, for all judges, prosecutors and attorneys-general, met a similar fate.

Attempt to legalize the entrance of youths in pool rooms, by lowering the age limit from 21 to 18 years, was also indefinitely postponed on a committee report.

A bill making the altering of serial numbers on merchandise a felony was reported favorably. An attempt of Senator George W. Sims, Terre Haute, to make failure to pay a hotel bill a felony was also tabled on a committee report.

A house bill increasing mortgage exemption from $1,000 to $2,000 and a senate bill permitting public officials to examine into qualifications of all bidders on public work were given committee approval.

Divide Election Precincts

Among new bills introduced was one empowering county commissioners "and no others" to establish, change and divide election precincts. At present no definite method is provided by statute, the 1927 legislature having repealed the only law on the subject.

Another judges' salary boost bill, making the base pay $5,000 rather than $4,200 was introduced, a $6,000 one having been defeated.

Complete repeal of the teacher tenure statute is provided in a measure introduced by Senators Perkins, Brown, Cravens and Kline.

FIGHT BILL FOR UNIFORM SCALE IN COUNTY PAY

Anti-Saloon League Joins Opposition to Draft Pending in House.

Organized opposition, in which it appears the Anti-Saloon League joins, to be the uniform county salary bill manifested itself at the hearing Tuesday night in the house of representatives.

Representatives from six counties protested the uniform scale on the ground that it provides insufficient remuneration, while two speakers, Lewis C. Taylor, of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation, and Willis C. Nussbaum, of the Indiana Taxpayers Association objected on the grounds that it will increase taxes in counties which can not afford the increase.

Although no protest was made by Representative Frank E. Wright of Indianapolis, recognized as the spokesman of the Anti-Saloon League in the house, he indicated that he would seek to restore the $25 liquor prosecution fee when the bill was reported by committee.

County treasurers will benefit by $730,000 in fees annually under the uniform scale, according to Lawrence F. Orr, chief of the state board of accounts, under whose direction the uniform salary bill was drafted by order of the 1927 general assembly.

These salaries were established after much research and calculation and are based on fees collected during various years, Orr said.

The first patent for the manufacture of wall paper was taken out in 1692.

Completion of the second unit of the Indiana World war memorial is expected this summer when the block between North and Michigan streets will be leveled and the entire surface, excepting the center and tree positions on the sides, will be paved with macadam, memorial commissioners in session today said. In the center of this block will be a 100-foot obelisk of black granite.

Surrounding the obelisk will be an electric fountain. This plan will make the block similar to the Place de la Concorde in Paris.

To get a continuous gentle slope from the Memorial building to the end of the plaza, North street will be raised one foot and the width extended to sixty feet between Meridian and Pennsylvania streets.
