

GARY GIRL IS MURDERED BY NEGRO AXMAN

Mutilated Body Is Found on Prairie; Suspect Is Held in Jail.

By United Press
GARY, Ind., March 20.—A six-foot, 200-pound Negro, in whose room was found a hatchet matted with blood and hair, was arrested today as a suspect in the murder of 20-year-old Josephine Adorizzi.

The suspect said his name was Zillis Mack.

Several women who recently have been frightened by a Negro brandishing a hatchet were called to identify Mack.

The body, disfigured by blows, was partly stripped of clothing and had been hidden in a culvert.

The girl had been struck three times on the head, and two teeth had been knocked out. Her purse, said to have contained a small amount of change, a wrist watch and her hat were missing.

Police believed that she had been killed on the sidewalk and dragged into a vacant lot, where she was assaulted and robbed.

Two school boys found the body while on play.

The girl's sweetheart was questioned, but immediately released when he said he had aided in the search for her.

Poor Autoists

"There are 850,000 automobiles in Indiana and only 40,000 persons paying income tax," George L. Foote, collector of internal revenue, said today commenting on income tax returns. According to these figures only 5 per cent of the automobile owners of Indiana have an income large enough to be taxed.

An increase of $350,000 is noted this year in income tax returns over last year, notwithstanding the corporation reduction of from 13½ to 12 per cent, and the credit increase from $2,000 to $3,000.

The better showing for 1928, Foote said, was attributable to better business conditions throughout the state.

MEXICAN PORT IN STEEL GRIP OF GENERAL, 24

Holds Mazatlan Against Rebels; Places Town Under Martial Law.

By Duane Hennessy
United Press Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES, March 20.—A 24-year-old federal general, comparatively new to military power, has held the important west coast seaport of Mazatlan, Sinaloa, under martial law for more than two weeks.

The commandant is General Jaime Carrillo, product of military schools.

He has seized city and federal funds, restricted the sale of food and gasoline, confiscated motor vehicles, cut off land communications and destroyed railroad facilities to impede a rebel march against the town, according to fifty refugees who came here on the steamship City of San Francisco.

American mining companies took the wheels off all their automobiles trucks at night to prevent seizure.

R. B. Davis of El Paso, a freight agent for the Missouri Pacific lines, said:

"When Carrillo came to Mazatlan from Culiacan, the capital of Sinaloa, he placed the town under martial law and seized all city and national funds," Davis said. "That started a run on the banks."

"Then Carrillo ordered no further sale of gasoline. We couldn't even go fishing."

"He put into effect a system whereby each person was allowed a certain quantity of food supplies each day and we could obtain them only with a ticket."

"Carrillo advised all Americans to leave, but the railroads north and south were out and those of us who wanted to leave had to wait for the City of San Francisco."

Federals in Pursuit
BY G. F. FINE
United Press Staff Correspondent
MEXICO CITY, March 20.—Three federal columns concentrated at Torreon today to continue the vigorous offensive against rebels in the state of Chihuahua.

Cavalry forces—4,500 strong—will lead the pursuit of insurgents in the north. General Lazaro Cardenas will command the advance column.

The President announced that the rebel general, J. Gonzales Escobar, had looted the Torreon banks of approximately $50,000.

Large quantities of merchandise also were taken by the fleeing rebels, according to a message from General Plutarco Elias Calles, who has established headquarters at Torreon.

"Escobar and others are guilty of large scale robberies," said President Calles. "They are just common criminals."

Colonel Jose Maria Tampla, chief of the presidential staff, estimated the rebels had stolen a total of 3,500,000 pesos at Monterey, Saltillo, Durango and Torreon. Private banks and the Bank of Mexico branches have been robbed, he said.

Explains Evacuation
BY JACQUES D'ARMAND
ESCALON, Chihuahua, Mexico, March 20.—Charging that the Fortes Gil government is founded on crime and tyranny, General J. G. Escobar, commander-in-chief of rebel forces in Mexico, today defended his regime and explained that he evacuated Torreon to the federalists to avoid loss of civilian life.

"Former President Plutarco Elias Calles deliberately and cowardly bombed the people of Torreon, making victims of men, women and children and violating rules of civilized warfare and rights of non-combatants," General Escobar said.
