

GERMANY MAY BALK ON DEBT
PACT APPROVAL

Demands for Rhineland
Evacuation, Saare Valley
Settlement Planned.

BY FREDERICK KUH
United Press Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, June 11.—Interest of chancelleries throughout Europe has been aroused by Dr. Gustav Stresemann's recent statement before the reichstag foreign committee that Germany will demand immediate evacuation of the Rhineland and a complete settlement of the Saare valley problem before accepting the Young reparations plan. Germany will welcome nonmilitary supervision over the districts by the League of Nations, according to well informed persons. Something of this sort probably will be necessary in view of the insistence by France and Belgium of complete military supervision and the insistence of Germany for no military supervision at all.

The Saar valley problem will be the more difficult of the two to solve. According to the Treaty of Versailles, the fate of the Saare district is to be decided by plebiscite in 1935.

Germany now contends that a plebiscite would produce a 95 per cent vote in favor of immediate return of the district to Germany.

According to the treaty, the coal mines in the Saare valley are ceded to France, but if the district is returned to Germany, Germany retains the right to repurchase them.

The Germans now claim that the Young plan includes in the annuities payments the money for the return of the Saare mines to Germany, since the Dawes plan referred to "inclusive payments," which Germany interprets as settling all the financial obligations arising from the war.

The French, of course, will oppose these German demands so that a compromise as to price probably will have to follow.

The United States geographical survey the value of those mines is approximately $235,000,000.

Pact Faces U. S. Fight

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Opposition in congress to American acceptance of the Young committee's reparations plan appeared today as individual senators examined the document.

The administration is prepared to put its full strength behind the Young plan.

Whether formal congressional action will be required to approve comparatively small reductions to be made in American reparations receipts has not been determined.

Preliminary estimates from the treasury reaching senators today indicated the American reduction would amount to between $45,000,000 and $55,000,000 to be lopped off the $196,000,000 arrears charged against Germany for upkeep of the American army of occupation.

There also probably will be some delay in payment of sums from which American citizens with war damage claims against Germany will be reimbursed.

The sums due the United States apparently were considered less important than the possibility that the report is another move in a long sustained international propaganda for cancellation of debts owed the United States.

CLUB HEARS HISTORIAN

Christopher B. Coleman, director of the Indiana state historical bureau, addressed the Irvington Republican Club at 5644 East Washington street Monday night. He pointed out the need of fireproof storage for important historical documents, which will be provided in the new state library. He also suggested putting the old state museum in rooms on the memorial plaza.

LEADER STORE WILL OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

The Leader store will celebrate its first anniversary with a store wide sale, starting Wednesday morning.

A year ago H. Unger purchased the Daniels store with idea of selling out the stock. From this sale the idea was conceived to purchase bankrupt stocks and manufacturer and jobber surplus stocks and offer them to the public at cut prices.

Unger has been in business in Indianapolis for a quarter century and also operates the Globe store on West Washington street. His son, Aaron Unger, and Harry Schwartz are connected with him at the Leader store.

The store retained the old Daniels store lease and has operated as the Leader store under the above management since inception.

Plans were completed in a session of the executive committee at the school Thursday at the call of the president, Frank F. Woolling. A nominating committee consisting of Alonzo Martin and Mrs. Mary J. Spiegel was appointed.

The awarding of seven scholarships at the Manual high school commencement last evening brought the total number of young people assisted by the John Holiday Jr. foundation to fifty-eight over a nine-year period.

GAS SUIT DATE SET

By agreement of attorneys before Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell today, the date for filing of stipulations in the suit of common stockholders of the Citizens Gas Company to prevent the city from taking over the company was moved from June 21 to Oct. 3.

Preliminary motions will be filed by Oct. 11 and final hearing held on Oct. 29 and 30.

RECEIVER HAS LIVE
EAGLE TO EXCHANGE

Once Was Property of Rabbit Farm; May Go to Lodge.

John T. Watkins, attorney, receiver for the National Highway Farms, Inc., near Greenfield, has a live eagle that he would like to exchange for money, if he can get it. If not, good will will do.

The farms were used for raising rabbits and a rabbit purchaser traded the eagle on some rabbits. When the firm went into receivership there were a few cents in the bank, some rabbits and the eagle.

Watkins said he may try to sell the bird to the Eagles lodge, in state encampment at Ft. Wayne this week.

RAIL ELEVATION
GOES TO COURT

Suit Seeks to Stop Closing of Oriental Street.

Another delay in the track elevation program loomed today, after three Oriental street property owners filed an injunction suit in superior court one Monday.

The complaint seeks to stop the city and the Pennsylvania railroad from closing Oriental street. Under an amended order of the works board the street is to be closed from Southeastern avenue to East Washington street.

The original order dated Feb. 9, 1925, according to the complaint, provided that the street remain open and a subway be built.

The plaintiffs are: William H. Foley, 32 South Oriental street; Marion A. Neff, 13 North Arsenal avenue, and Richard H. Neff, 5923 Park avenue.

The city administration many months ago decided to close Oriental street after Henry Ford had threatened to move the Ford assembly plant near the street and the tracks from the city. If the street is left open Ford cannot construct a switch from the elevation down to his plant across Oriental street.

Petition for establishment of non-agency stations at Brown's Valley, Sand Creek, Judson and Hadley has been filed with the public service commission by the Pennsylvania railroad.

BRITAIN'S O. K.
ON MAC DONALD
TRIP TO U. S.

Public Pleased by Proposal of Premier in Move of Friendship.

BY WEBB MILLER

United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 11.—Approval of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's proposal to make a personal visit to the United States and confer with President Hoover on Anglo-American relations appeared practically unanimous in Great Britain today.

Newspapers and the public saw such a visit as the only sure way of cementing the greatly desired friendship between the two countries, and the Daily Herald, a laborite organ, went so far as to say it was "the most momentous step in history for British statesmanship."

Despite the lack of precedence for the prime minister's foreign visit, there was a general feeling of pleasure that MacDonald should have opened his labor administration in such a way.

Some sections of the press expected MacDonald's proposal to receive further strengthening when Charles G. Dawes arrives here this week to be the new American ambassador at London.

They believed Dawes bore a personal invitation from President Hoover to MacDonald to go to Washington for a conference.

The Daily News said the initiative for the meeting was from President Hoover and Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada.

SET STRIKERS'
KILLING TRIAL

60 to Be Arraigned Friday
in Slaying of Chief.

By United Press

GASTONIA, N. C., June 11.—In falls throughout this part of North Carolina, more than sixty textile strikers were informed today that they would be given preliminary hearings Friday on assault charges brought after last Friday's ambush in which Police Chief C. L. Aderholt was fatally wounded, and three other officers slightly.

Fred Erwin Beal, southern organizer of the National Textile Workers' Union, a Communist organization, was secured in another county jail for safekeeping, as were three other strikers held on assault with attempt to kill charges.

The tent city, where 1,700 strikers from the Lora plant of the Manville-Jencks Corporation have lived since evicted from company-owned houses, was broken up today on orders of city council.

Last Friday's shooting occurred there, when Aderholt and the other officers attempted to stop a mass meeting at which Beal was speaking.

GAINS OF CHAIN
STORES CITED
IN STATE PLEA

Threaten Extinction of Small Businesses If Unchecked, Says Official.

Extinction of the individual small store owner within a few years, if the chain store movement continues at its present rate, was forecast by Joseph Hutchenson, assistant attorney-general, today in arguments before Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell in the chain store licensing law injunction suit.

The suit was filed by Lafayette Jackson, owner of 225 Standard groceries.

"In 1926 chain stores did 30 per cent of the grocery business in the state, and they were increasing at the rate of 4 per cent a year," Hutchenson said.

Hutchenson held that the right to tax occupation is an inherent right of sovereignty and that the legislature has the right to classify industry so as to encourage some and discourage others.

If the state thought increase of chain stores, to the point of practically annihilating individual owners, should be curbed, it has the right to pass the necessary legislation, he argued.

Jackson will pay 1,800 times as much tax on his 225 groceries as will large department stores having a large sales volume. H. H. Hornbrook, defense attorney pointed out.

Because of a bridge connecting the new L. S. Ayres & Co. store with the old building, the store will pay only the $3 tax for a single store, he said, while Jackson's stores, under separate roofs, are highly taxed.

The hearing was expected to continue throughout the afternoon, with decision probable on the state's motion for dismissal within a week or two.
