

SOCIETY DEATH MYSTERY HALTS VILLAGE TRADE

Final Attempt Is Planned to Solve Slaying of Girl and Ex-Fiance.

BY HARRY R. ZANDER
United Press Staff Correspondent
MOORESTOWN, N. J., June 12.—Business virtually halted today as the residents of this Quaker village prepared for the final attempt to solve the mystery of who shot Ruth M. Wilson, society girl, and Horace Roberts Jr., her former fiance.

From Philadelphia Thursday will come Dr. William S. Wadsworth, expert pathologist, who will bring to bear all his scientific skill in an attempt to determine whether police were correct in their assertion that Roberts killed the girl in her home and then took his own life sometime near midnight of June 1.

Every one who might conceivably know anything about the tragedy has been summoned to the inquest, and it appeared likely that all except one person would respect the fact that person was Mrs. John O. Wilson, the dead girl's mother, who is under medical treatment for nervous prostration.

Already Coroner Benjamin F. Farner has issued orders to disinter the bodies of Roberts and Miss Wilson so Wadsworth may attempt to solve a crime that has kept southern New Jersey aroused for a fortnight.

Dr. Wadsworth will try to learn whether it was possible for Roberts to fire three shots into his own head without being rendered unconscious by the first or second bullet, and thus be unable to fire the third.

If the pathologist finds that Roberts could not have fired a third shot, officials must take up the search for a murderer of the couple.

George N. Hillan, prosecutor, and Ellis Parker, chief of county detectives, already are on record as believing that the crime was a clear case of murder and suicide.

22 OIL GUSHERS BRING BOOM TO ILLINOIS TOWN

Engineers, Firemen, Day Laborers 'Come Into' Riches.

DUPO, Ill., June 12.—This little southern Illinois railroad town was on the boom today.

Twenty-two oil wells were gushing forth their streams of "black gold" and prospects of undreamed-of wealth.

The product of the twenty-second well, just "shot" here Monday, was appraised at approximately $1.05 a barrel. All the wells are down 500 feet. Some yielded 1,000 barrels a day.

Engineers, firemen, switchmen and section hands found themselves "coming into the money." They sold while the selling was good.

Others were "kicking themselves all over town" because they were cautious and failed to get in.

How long it would last caused much speculation. Some thought it would soon play out. Others figured it would be good for years. One promoter went so far as to say that the field ran under the Mississippi and through St. Louis.

"St. Louis," he declared, "is sitting on a whole pool of oil."
