

FURNACE KING ENDS STORY OF LOVE AFFAIR

Completes His Testimony
After Five Days on Stand.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Five days after he walked jauntily to the witness stand to defend himself against Ann Livingston's $250,000 breach of promise suit, Franklin S. Harding, 62, brought to a close today his rambling story of his love affair with the pretty Oklahoma stenographer.

The aging oil burner magnate showed the effects of his long questioning when he stepped from the witness chair.

Questioned Closely
Benjamin H. Ehrlich, Mrs. Livingston's attorney, questioned Harding closely about a motorcycle accident in which Ann figured while she was here visiting the rich man she thought she was going to marry.

The defense has intimated Ann would not have been hit if she had not got up early to meet Charles Nax, St. Louis publicity man, whose name has figured prominently as one of her sweethearts.

Harding said he thought Ann was bluffing about her injuries when the motorcycle hit her, but admitted that later he called a doctor and nurse to attend her.

Asked what brought on the first quarrel with Ann which finally led to calling off the marriage, Harding said Josephine Brand, his housekeeper, had told him of Ann's conduct at a New Year's party in which she is accused of having toasted Nax.

Called Harding "Daddy"
"I told Miss Livingston," Harding said, "that she and Josephine shouldn't quarrel. Ann demanded that Josephine leave my house and I refused."

On redirect examination Harding said Miss Livingston had demanded a prenuptial gift of $25,000 or $50,000 before marrying him.

"I refused," Harding said. After Harding left the stand Peter Kohr, his chauffeur, testified that Miss Brand lived at the Harding home and that she called Harding "Daddy."

YOUTHS SEIZE MONEY, FIREWORKS FROM BOY

Materials for Fourth Celebration
"Vanish" on Circle.

Homeward bound, proudly displaying a double armload of fireworks, Carlton Johnson, 12, 2035 Ashland avenue, was halted by two Negro youths near Christ church, Monument Circle. They snatched the fireworks and two $1 bills from his pockets. Johnson gave chase, but the other boys eluded him.

As John Flurence, 685 East Pratt street, approached a house he was remodeling at 669 East Pratt street early today, he saw a man collecting his tools. He called police, and John Bateley, 22, Lafayette, Ind., was arrested on vagrancy charges.

Theft of clothing and a bag valued at $95 was reported to police today by Charles Shine, 357 Lansing avenue.

PAPER CAUSES INJURY

No more will M. J. Drach, 3210 Kenwood avenue, allow a newspaper to be left on the seat at his side while driving an automobile.

Driving in the 2700 block North Meridian street Tuesday afternoon, Drach's car struck Mrs. Ruth Lewis, 3134 College avenue, who was standing at the side of a car parked at the curb, when his newspaper blew into his face. Mrs. Lewis was bruised on the body.

SAYS STOMACH FINE; EATS ANYTHING NOW

Found How to End His Gas and Indigestion. Back-Ache Gone, Too.

Friends of Victor Blanchette, 2036 Erie St., Bradley, Ill., were recently surprised by his rapid recovery of health. In explaining the matter, Mr. Blanchette says:

"For a long time, I suffered intensely from stomach trouble, back-ache and constipation. Food would not digest, and the gas and bloating and pains were almost unbearable. I was nervous, tired and worn out all the time. Night brought very little sleep. My back ached severely, and often my joints were stiff. I was losing weight and badly discouraged, when I read about Viuna and started taking it. I was never more surprised in my life than I was by the quick improvement in my condition. Today my digestion is perfect, without gas or pains. My backache is gone, joints are all right again, and I am sleeping soundly and gaining weight. Viuna gave me back my health after many other medicines had failed."

There must be something different, something truly wonderful about a medicine which has promptly ended so many severe cases of back-ache, stomach trouble, kidney pains and rheumatism. Try one bottle of Viuna under positive guaranty. $1 at druggists or mailed postpaid by Iceland Medicine Co., Indianapolis, Ind.

Faces Two Charges in Sullivan Court.

SULLIVAN, Ind., July 3.—The trial of James M. Lang, former president of the defunct Citizens Trust Company bank here, on charges of embezzlement and larceny is in progress today in Sullivan circuit court.

A jury composed of five women and seven men was chosen Tuesday to hear the case.

The indictments, consisting of five counts, were returned against Lang in February, 1928, after he had mysteriously disappeared.

Lang, who disappeared before the institution was placed in the hands of a receiver, was induced to return and has been at liberty under bond since.

Abbott filed a claim against the company demanding possession of the bonds which he said were left with Lang.

Trial of the claim was held in Knox county sometime ago, evidence and arguments being heard Judge Calverly, who heard the case, intimated that he would decide the claim in September.
