

LOWMAN BACKS U. S. OFFICER IN DRY KILLINGS

Oklahoma Shooting Done by Civilian, Prohibition Chief Points Out.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Charges against W. W. Thomson, prohibition officer, accused as an accessory in the fatal shooting last week of James Harris and Oscar Lowery, Oklahoma farmers, will not be pressed, in the opinion of Seymour Lowman, assistant treasury secretary, it was learned today.

Pointing out the shooting was done by Jeff Harris, a civilian who accompanied Thomson on the raid, Lowman said he did not believe Thomson could be held responsible for the killing.

The raid on the Harris farm, Lowman said, was made at the request of local authorities who suspected the farmer of bootlegging.

A report on the incident is expected here later this week. The shooting was the fourth, in recent weeks in which federal customs or prohibition officials have been involved.

Lowman has absolved all treasury officers implicated in the various shootings.

KING'S HEALTH ALARMS BRITISH NATION AGAIN

His Majesty to Undergo X-Ray, but Doctors Discount Fears.

LONDON, July 9.—Despite reassurances from King George's physicians and medical experts of the nation that the state of his health gave no cause for alarm, the British people remained apprehensive today for his welfare.

News that the sinus in the king's right chest had not progressed satisfactorily and would be X-rayed was disconcerting to the British people, who had cheered him as a well man at Sunday's thanksgiving services.

The king's physicians, supported by medical experts on various London newspapers, pointed out that the X-rays were a thing to be expected, and that the postponement of the departure for Sandringham cottage was only temporary and not caused by any serious ailment.

OFFICIALS ROW ON DRY ARREST

Omaha Police, U. S. Agents at Odds on Rich Prisoner.

OMAHA, July 9.—A heated controversy between federal agents and Omaha police has developed over the arrest by government dry agents of Harry B. Zimman, former city commissioner and treasurer of one of the city's leading department stores.

"It seems to be the rule," asserted Alex Brungardt, city prosecutor, as he filed technical charges of illegal possession of liquor against Zimman, "that when the government has a flimsy case it is shoved off on to the city for trial in police court."

"It's a police court case," said General W. McD. Rowan, federal prohibition administrator. A bottle of alcohol was found in Zimman's possession.

He contended he merely was delivering it to a sick friend at the request of another friend.
