

POLICE DEVISE MEMORY AID IN LIQUOR CASES

'Squealers' Must Swear Out Affidavits Attesting to 'Buys.'

An "aid to failing memories," devised by Police Sergeant Michael Morrissey to clinch liquor raid convictions, awaits its test in municipal courts.

Invariably, on liquor raids, police ask the hangers-on if they have bought liquor there. Strangely enough, they frequently answer "yes," but change their mind or forget all about it when called as witnesses against their defendant "host."

To remedy this deficiency, Sergeant Morrissey, on three occasions, escorted the "squealers" to police headquarters on vagrancy charges and had them make affidavit before the turnkeys, who are notaries public, attesting to their liquor buys before their memory failed them.

Three such affidavits are ready for introduction in municipal court cases when tried.

Phrenologists Win Writ

Five Indianapolis phrenologists were continuing head-feeing activities today under a temporary restraining order issued on their petition Wednesday by Superior Judge James M. Leathers.

The order restrains police from interfering with the business of phrenology until a court hearing is had Sept. 1.

Police Chief Claude M. Worley arrested Mary Demart, 18, and Sallie White, 19, employees of the plaintiffs, Wednesday afternoon before he was served with the court notice.

The plaintiffs are: Alex and Amelia Steve, Mark and Anna Lee and Joseph White.

They alleged that Worley and Sheriff George L. Winkler had been threatening to arrest them without reason.

Two Women Missing

Leaving a note in which she threatened never to return to her home, Miss Grace Evelyn Palmer, 22, Rural Route 18, Box 542, went away from her home Tuesday and has not returned. Her father, Frederick Palmer, today appealed to police to aid in search of her.

Frank Westner, 4343 Madison avenue, today reported his wife, Mrs. Mabel Westner, 26, missing from her home since Wednesday at 9 a. m.

Raid Farmhouse, Hold Two

Two men today faced charges of operating a blind tiger and keeping gaming devices after a raid by eight deputy sheriffs on a farmhouse on Rockville road, one-half mile east of the Pennsylvania railroad, late Wednesday night.

As the automobile filled with deputies entered the yard, they saw today, Pete Alexander, 32, Rural Route 1, Box 87, believing them to be guests, ushered them to a parking place and asked them to turn off their lights.

Inside the house they arrested Emanuel (Mike) Lorian, alias Lorenz, 36, of 617 1/2 East Washington street, on keeping a gaming device and blind tiger charges, and say they found 238 quarts of beer, 24 gallons of brewing beer and three slot machines.

Woman Is Stabbed

Police today are searching for James Jackson, Negro, 840 North California street, named by Miss Bessie Jackson, 30, Negro, 973 Indiana avenue, as the person who stabbed her three times in the breast and shoulder after a quarrel Wednesday night. She is in city hospital.

CEMETERY CASE HEARD

Judge Takes South Side Injunction Suit Under Adjudication.

Superior Judge Byron K. Elliott today took under advisement the case in which south side property owners are seeking a temporary injunction to prevent the Central Hebrew Corporation from opening a cemetery between Meridian and Pennsylvania streets, three blocks south of Southern avenue.

The property holders contend that presence of bodies in the vicinity would poison well water and endanger lives.

Fight for Equal Rights

It's only natural that two such equally comely girls should be demanding equal rights for women. And it was a pretty idea Mexico had when it sent the smiling Senoritas Aurilla (left) and Rosamaria Colomo all the way to Washington to see that the fair sex gets fair treatment in international politics. They're guests of the National Women's party at the capital.

Air Film to Be Shown

The public has been invited by Curtiss Flying Service of Indiana to witness showing of the four-reel army aircraft motion picture, "Wings of the Army," at 7:30 tonight on the second floor of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce building.

In addition to presentation of the film, Captain St. Clair Streett, of Wright field, Dayton, will give a talk on flight testing of army airplanes. The program will be in the charge of H. Weir Cook, Curtiss general manager.

The film is a screen history of aviation and has been shown in a limited number of cities in the east.

KITTEN TRAVELS PIPE, ATTIC TO BASEMENT

Frantic Owner Has Plumbing Torn Up to Rescue Pet.

HAZLETON, Pa., July 11.—Nicholas Giard's pet kitten leaped playfully at an imaginary mouse and disappeared into a drain pipe on the third floor of the Giard home. Giard called a plumber, who removed a section of pipe to reach the kitten. The kitten retreated. The plumber removed another section. Again the kitten retreated. Section by section the Giard plumbing was dismantled until the kitten was trapped by a bend in the basement.

HOOVER STUDIES PLAN TO AID IN MOVING WHEAT

Grain Congests Gulf Ports, Farm Board May Take Up Problem.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Following a second White House conference today on congestion of wheat at gulf ports, President Herbert Hoover took under consideration a project to launch the new federal farm board on the grain movement at its first meeting here next Monday.

There were indications that the emergency marketing powers of the board would be invoked at once to relieve the present wheat glut at the gulf ports.

Representative C. S. Briggs (Dem., Tex.) told Hoover there are not sufficient ships available at southern and southwestern ports to care for the flood of grain now pouring in from the grain belt.

This movement has been stimulated by recent emergency freight rate reductions calculated to clear middle western elevators of carry-over grain.

Predict Enormous Crop

"The enormous crop of wheat raised this year," said a memorandum left with the President by Briggs, "added to approximately 250,000,000 bushels of the carry-over crop, will probably aggregate not less than 1,100,000,000 bushels."

"Probably of this vast amount 530,000,000 bushels can be estimated conservatively as exportable surplus, or as surplus in excess of domestic requirements."

Briggs visited the executive offices followed White House announcement that President Hoover would devote his week-end in his Shenandoah National Park fishing preserve in preparation for the first meeting of the new farm board.

Meet Monday

Chairman Alexander Legge, vice-chairman J. C. Stone, and Carl Williams, a third member of the board will accompany the President to the week-end haven Thursday. They will return Sunday afternoon and the farm board will assemble at the White House for its first meeting Monday morning.

It was learned today that President Hoover has given the grain situation close attention for the last ten days. Wednesday he conferred with Chairman T. V. O'Connor of the shipping board and Senator Tom Connally of Texas, on the gulf ports glut.

Clara Bow Will Marry Musical Comedy Actor

Wedding to Take Place in 'About Five Weeks,' Couple Announces.

By United Press

HOLLYWOOD, July 11.—Clara Bow, whose much publicized "It" elevated her to screen stardom, has chosen Harry Richman, musical comedy star, to lead her from the ranks of the "flaming youth" of the films.

"The wedding will be in about five weeks," Miss Bow and Richman announced at the former's home here Wednesday night.

Richman, divorced in 1918 from Yvonne Stevenson, long has been prominent in New York night club life.

Rumor frequently linked Miss Bow with Gilbert Roland and Gary Cooper of the film colony and she once was reported engaged to Victor Fleming, the director. A Yale football player, declaring life was a void without Miss Bow, attempted what he said was suicide, but Clara denied she ever had encouraged the athlete.

News of the engagement came a week after Tui Lorraine, young Hollywood dancer and singer, instituted divorce action against Miss Bow's father, Robert Bow, charging cruelty.

DOG-ACTOR IN JAIL, OWNER LEAVES TOWN

'He's Not Worth $100,000; Keep Him,' Says Snowflake's Master.

Snowflake, reputed "$100,000" dog-actor, who Tuesday was envied by every commonplace mutt in Indianapolis, today yapped alone with the desolation that comes when fame's bubble bursts.

For he tasted the elixir of public interest, more tangibly soothed his chops with choice steaks, and yowled gleefully as two masters wrangled for possession of him, only to land ignominiously in a city prison cell "in solitary" and masquerade a tasteless prepared substitute for bones.

His value, which Irving Howard, member of a vaudeville troupe that owned the dog placed at $100,000 because he wanted to insure interest of police in a search for the vagabond, slumped Tuesday to $1,000, and then, today, Howard left for New York City and said:

"Keep the dog. Anybody that thinks he's worth $100,000 is a fool." Saturday Snowflake leaped from a baggage car and disappeared. Two days Howard searched for the pet, alleged to earn $3,000 weekly on the stage, and then verbally posted a $5,000 reward for his return.

Within a few hours S. W. Kimberlin, 4010 Rookwood avenue, turned up with Snowflake's collar and a demand for the $5,000. Howard at first denied having offered the reward, and then said:

"He can have the dog for $1,000." Kimberlin filed a suit in superior court to collect the reward, and got an attachment against the dog, which Sheriff George Winkler at once "arrested." There the affair stood today, until Howard said he planned to leave Indianapolis.

"I knew if I told police I'd just lost a dog, they'd make a record of it, and forget it," he told an Indianapolis Times reporter. "So I said he was worth $100,000."
